Persons, 2018-04-24 Contradictory forces are at play at the close of the twentieth century There is a growing closeness of peoples fueled by old and new technologies of modern aviation digital based communications new patterns of trade and commerce and growing affluence of significant portions of the world's population Television permits individuals around the world to learn about the cultures and lifestyles of peoples of physically distant lands These developments give real meaning to the notion of a global village Peoples of the world are growing closer in new and increasingly important ways Nonetheless there are disturbing signs of a growing awareness of ethnic differences in all parts of the world the United States included and a concomitant rise in ethnic based conflicts many of them extraordinarily violent in nature Fear resentment intolerance and mistreatment of the other abound in world news accounts Not only does this phenomenon pose an interesting juxtaposition to the concept of the emergent global village but its emergence in the post cold war era internationally and the post civil rights era in the United States raises significant and compelling questions Why are such conflicts occurring now How do analysts explain these developments The essays in Race and Ethnicity in Comparative Perspective lucidly explore some of the complexities of the persistence and re emergence of race and ethnicity as major lines of divisiveness around the world Contributors analyze manifestations of race based movements for political empowerment in Europe and Latin America as well as racial intolerance in these same settings Attention is also given to the conceptual complexities of multidimensional and shared cultural roots of the overlapping phenomena of ethnicity nationalism identity and ideology The book greatly informs discussions of race and ethnicity in the international context and provides an interesting perspective against which to view America's changing problem of race Race and Ethnicity in Comparative Perspective is a timely thought provoking volume that will be of immense value to ethnic studies specialists African American studies scholars political scientists historians and sociologists Race and Ethnicity: The Key Concepts Amy Ansell, 2013-02-15 Situating the study of race and ethnicity within its historical and intellectual context this much needed guide exposes students to the broad diversity of scholarship within the field It provides a clear and succinct explanation of more than 70 key terms their conceptual evolution over time and the differing ways in which the concepts are deployed or remain pertinent in current debates Concepts covered include apartheid colonialism constructivism critical race theory

Race, Nation, and Refuge Doug Coulson, 2017-01-01 Explores the role of rhetoric and the racial classification of Asian American immigrants in the early twentieth century From 1870 to 1940 racial eligibility for naturalization in the United States was limited to free white persons and aliens of African nativity and persons of African descent and many interpreted these restrictions to reflect a policy of Asian exclusion based on the conclusion that Asians were neither white nor African Because the distinction between white and Asian was considerably unstable however those charged with the interpretation and implementation of the naturalization act faced difficult racial classification questions Through archival research and a close reading of the arguments contained in the documents of the US Bureau of Naturalization especially those documents that discussed challenges to racial eligibility for naturalization Doug Coulson demonstrates that the strategy of foregrounding shared external threats to the nation as a means of transcending perceived racial divisions was often more important to racial classification than legal doctrine He argues that this was due to the rapid shifts in the nation's enmities and alliances during the early twentieth century and the close relationship between race nation and sovereignty

Who Do We Think We Are? Philip Yale Nicholson, 1999 In this timely and well argued book author Philip Nicholson offers a provocative explanation of the force and place of race in modern history showing that race and nation have a linked history Using the deliberately ironic metaphor of the double helix the author shows the close historical connection of race and nation as each interrelates with the other in shaping and carrying social and institutional practices over many centuries Five themes recur throughout the work modernity is built on the twin pillars of race and nation national instability rivalry and imperial conquest outside of dynastic religious or feudal disputes evoke differential i e racial human social categories loyalties and mythologies racial vilification emerges out of material and cultural expropriation racial degradation is typically the inverse projection of dominant national normative values beliefs or ideals and race and nation share in the twists and turns of modern history and are inseparably linked and interdependent

Race, Ethnicity, And Nationality In The United States Paul Wong, 2021-09-02 This book is intended for use in advanced undergraduate and graduate level courses on race and ethnicity and on diversity in America It was first conceived as a collective project of the Research and Resident Scholar Program in Comparative Race Relations at Washington State University which was established in 1994 with support from the Rockefeller Foundation A number of the participating authors are established scholars in racial ethnic studies and several have published award winning bestsellers Others are relative newcomers to the field who were invited to join the project because they were doing important work on less well covered topics such as relations between African Americans and Chicano Latino Americans
