Seismological Research Requirements For A Comprehensive Test Ban Monitoring System:

Seismological Research Requirements for a Comprehensive Test-Ban Monitoring System National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Geosciences, Environment and Resources, Panel on Seismological Research Requirements for a Comprehensive Test-Ban Monitoring System, 1995-12-13 Negotiators from more than 35 countries are attempting to formulate a nuclear test ban treaty and delineate a system for monitoring compliance. This book covers 1 the desirable characteristics and capabilities of seismic monitoring stations 2 recommendations on the flow paths and handling of the data which are to be unclassified and 3 the types and extent of research that will be needed in the next decade. The primary focus of the book is to explore how basic seismological research and test ban monitoring can be mutually beneficial.

Research Required to Support Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Monitoring National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Commission on Geosciences, Environment and Resources, Panel on Basic Research Requirements in Support of Comprehensive Test Ban Monitoring, 1997-08-01 On September 24 1996 President Clinton signed the Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty at the United Nations Headquarters. Over the next five months 141 nations including the four other nuclear weapon states Russia China France and the United Kingdom added their signatures to this total ban on nuclear explosions. To help achieve verification of compliance with its provisions the treaty specifies an extensive International Monitoring System of seismic hydroacoustic infrasonic and radionuclide sensors. This volume identifies specific research activities that will be needed if the United States is to effectively monitor compliance with the treaty provisions.
