oriental languages etc Advances in computer processing of oriental languages can also be seen in multimedia computing and the World Wide Web Many of the results in those domains are presented in this book Image and Video-Based Artistic Stylistation Paul Rosin, John Collomosse, 2012-10-29 Non photorealistic rendering NPR is a combination of computer graphics and computer vision that produces renderings in various artistic expressive or stylized ways such as painting and drawing This book focuses on image and video based NPR where the input is a 2D photograph or a video rather than a 3D model 2D NPR techniques have application in areas as diverse as consumer and professional digital photography and visual effects for TV and film production The book covers the full range of the state of the art of NPR with every chapter authored by internationally renowned experts in the field covering both classical and contemporary techniques It will enable both graduate students in computer graphics computer vision or image processing and professional developers alike to quickly become familiar with contemporary techniques enabling them to apply 2D NPR algorithms in their own projects

American Photo ,1989-04 Orientalism and Representations of Music in the Nineteenth-Century British Popular Arts Claire Mabilat, 2017-07-05 Representations of music were employed to create a wider Orient on the pages stages and walls of nineteenth century Britain This book explores issues of orientalism otherness gender and sexuality that arise in artistic British representations of non European musicians during this time by utilizing recent theories of orientalism and the subsidiary particularly aesthetic and literary theories both on which these theories were based and on which they have been influential The author uses this theoretical framework of orientalism as a form of othering in order to analyse primary source materials and in conjunction with musicological literary and art theories thus explores ways in which ideas of the Other were transformed over time and between different genres and artists Part I The Musical Stage discusses elements of the libretti of popular musical stage works in this period and the occasionally contradictory ways in which racial Others was represented through text and music a particular focus is the depiction of Oriental women and ideas of sexuality Through examination of this collection of libretti the ways in which the writers of these works filter and romanticize the changing intellectual ideas of this era are explored Part II Works of Fiction is a close study of the works of Sir Henry Rider Haggard using other examples of popular fiction by his contemporary writers as contextualizing material with the primary concern being to investigate how music is utilized in popular fiction to represent Other non Europeans and in the creation of orientalized gender constructions Part III Visual Culture is an analysis of images of music and the Orient in examples of British high art illustration and photography investigating how the musical Other was visualized Self as Image in Asian Theory and Practice Roger T. Ames, 1998-04-30 This is the third in a series dealing with the concept of self and its importance in understanding Chinese Japanese and Indian cultures The authors examine the relationship between self and image and its significance in attaining a deeper knowledge of Chinese Japanese and Indian cultures The relationship between self and image is as complex as it is fascinating It takes on different meanings and significances in diverse cultures In this volume the focus of attention is largely on representational practices and symbolic media such as literature cinema art and dance By examining both classical and contemporary works associated with China India and Japan the authors seek on the one hand to demonstrate the intricate relationship between self and image and on the other to make use of that relationship to further our understanding of these cultures

Soft Computing for Image Processing Sankar K. Pal, Ashish Ghosh, Malay K. Kundu, 2013-03-19 Any task that involves decision making can benefit from soft computing techniques which allow premature decisions to be deferred The processing and analysis of images is no exception to this rule In the classical image analysis paradigm the first step is nearly always some sort of segmentation process in which the image is divided into hopefully meaningful parts It was pointed out nearly 30 years ago by Prewitt ¹ that the decisions involved in image segmentation could be postponed by regarding the image parts as fuzzy rather than crisp subsets of the image It was also realized very early that many basic properties of and operations on image subsets could be extended to fuzzy subsets for example the classic paper on fuzzy sets by Zadeh ² discussed the set algebra of fuzzy sets using sup for union and inf for intersection and extended the definition of convexity to fuzzy sets These and similar ideas allowed many of the methods of image analysis to be generalized to fuzzy image parts For a recent review on geometric description of fuzzy sets see e.g. ³ Fuzzy methods are also valuable in image processing and coding where learning processes can be important in choosing the parameters of filters quantizers etc

The Age of the Parthians Vesta Sarkhosh Curtis, Sarah Stewart, 2010-03-24 The Parthians are a fascinating but little known ancient civilization In the mid third century BCE a bold and ambitious leader called Arshak challenged Hellenic rule and led his armies to victory The dynasty which he founded ruled over what became a mighty empire and restored the glory of Iran following the region's conquest by Alexander the Great This imperial eastern superpower which lasted for 400 years and stretched from the Hindu Kush to Mesopotamia withstand the might of Rome for centuries The Parthians were nomadic horse warriors who left few written records concentrating rather on a rich oral and storytelling tradition What knowledge we have of this remarkable people derives primarily from their coinage which mixed Hellenism with Persian influences In this book distinguished scholars examine from a variety of perspectives the origins of the Parthians their history religion and culture as well as perceptions of their empire through the lens of both imperial Rome and China

Narratives of Kingship in Eurasian Empires, 1300-1800 Richard van Leeuwen, 2017-08-28 In Narratives of Kingship in Eurasian Empires 1300-1800 Richard van Leeuwen analyses representations and constructions of the idea of kingship in fictional texts of various genres especially belonging to the intermediate layer between popular and official literature The analysis shows how ideologies of power are embedded in the literary and cultural imagination of societies their cultural values and conceptualizations of authority By referring to examples from various empires Chinese Indian Persian Arabic Turkish European the parallels between literary traditions are laid bare revealing remarkable common concerns The process of interaction and transmission are highlighted to illustrate how literature served as a repository for ideological and cultural values transforming power into authority in various imperial environments On the Way to the "(Un)Known"? Doris Gruber, Arno Strohmeier, 2022-09-06

This volume brings together twenty two authors from various countries who analyze travelogues on the Ottoman Empire between the fifteenth and nineteenth centuries The travelogues reflect the colorful diversity of the genre presenting the experiences of individuals and groups from China to Great Britain The spotlight falls on interdependencies of travel writing and historiography geographic spaces and specific practices such as pilgrimages the hajj and the harem Other points of emphasis include the importance of nationalism the place and time of printing representations of fashion and concepts of masculinity and femininity By displaying close comparative and distant readings the volume offers new insights into perceptions of otherness the circulation of knowledge intermedial relations gender roles and digital analysis Passages

Elizabeth Kovach, Jens Kugele, Ansgar Nünning, 2022-11-07 The study of literature and culture is marked by various distinct understandings of passages both as phenomena and critical concepts These include the anthropological notion of rites of passage the shopping arcades Passagen theorized by Walter Benjamin the Middle Passage of the Atlantic slave trade present day forms of migration and resettlement and understandings of translation and adaptation Whether structural semiotic spatial geographic temporal existential societal or institutional passages refer to processes of status change They enable entrances and exits arrivals and departures while they also foster moments of liminality and suspension They connect and thereby engender difference Passages is an exploration of passages as contexts and processes within which liminal experiences and encounters are situated It aims to foster a concept based interdisciplinary dialogue on how to approach and theorize such a term Based on the premise that concepts travel through times contexts and discursive settings a conceptual approach to passages provides the authors of this volume with the analytical tools to re focus their research questions and create a meaningful exchange across disciplinary national and linguistic boundaries Contributions from senior scholars and early career researchers whose work focuses on areas such as cultural memory performativity space media cultural translation ecocriticism gender and race utilize specific understandings of passages and liminality reflecting on their value and limits for their research Ideological Messaging and the Role of Political Literature Çakırtaş, Önder, 2017-03-20

Journey to the City Steve Tinney, Karen Sonik, 2019-06-07 The Penn Museum has a long and storied history of research and archaeological exploration in the ancient Middle East This book highlights this rich depth of knowledge while also serving as a companion volume to the Museum's signature Middle East Galleries opening in April 2018. This edited volume includes chapters and integrated short focused pieces from Museum curators and staff actively involved in the detailed planning of the new galleries. In addition to highlighting the most remarkable and interesting objects in the Museum's extraordinary Middle East collections, this volume illuminates the primary themes within these galleries, make settle connect organize and believe and provides a larger context within which to understand them. The ancient Middle East is home to the first urban settlements in human history dating to the fourth millennium BCE, therefore tracing this move toward city life figures prominently in the book. The topic of urbanization, how it came about and how these early steps still impact our daily lives is explored from regional and localized perspectives, bringing us from Mesopotamia, Ur, Uruk and Nippur to Islamic and Persianate cities, Rayy and Isfahan, and finally connecting back to life in modern Philadelphia. Through examination of topics such as landscape, resources, trade, religious belief and burial practices, daily life and nomads, this very important human journey is investigated both broadly and with specific case studies.
