Racial Categorization Of Multiracial Children In Schools:

Racial Categorization of Multiracial Children in Schools Jane A. Chiong, 1998-05-21 Multiracial students have unique needs that are not being met in schools because teachers and school personnel assume that those needs are the same as those of monoracial minority children Children of multiple races are in fact invisible in the schools On school and federal forms they are racially categorized based on one race only and such categorizations are not limited to documents Schools and teachers may unknowingly transmit monoracial identity messages to multiracial students which is problematic for some students who may want to identify with more than one race Our racial categorization process reflects the deficiencies of the concept of race in American culture and needs to be renegotiated The multiracial child is a microcosm of the American cultural identity Current racial categorization of multiracial children reflects a society that is still renegotiating its own racial and ethnic identities and these children bear the burdens of the difficulties As America continues to become increasingly populated by diverse peoples what it means to be American is in transition Americans are moving away from a fixed notion of the American cultural identity toward an expanded more inclusive resolution

Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity Linda C. Tillman, James Joseph Scheurich, 2013-08-21 The rapid growth of diversity within U S schooling and the heightened attention to the lack of equity in student achievement school completion and postsecondary attendance has made equity and diversity two of the principle issues in education educational leadership and educational leadership research The Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity is the first research based handbook that comprehensively addresses the broad diversity in U S schools by race ethnicity culture language gender disability sexual identity and class The Handbook both highly values the critically important strengths and assets that diversity brings to the United States and its schools yet at the same time candidly critiques the destructive deficit thinking biases and prejudices that undermine school success for many groups of students Well known chapter authors explore diversity and related inequities in schools and the achievement problems these issues present to school leaders Each chapter reviews theoretical and empirical evidence of these inequities and provides research based recommendations for practice and for future research Celebrating the broad diversity in U S schools the Handbook of Research on Educational Leadership for Equity and Diversity critiques the inequities connected to that diversity and provides evidence based practices to promote student success for all children

Sex and Race in the Black Atlantic Daniel McNeil, 2010-01-27 This is the first book to place the self fashioning of mixed race individuals in the context of a Black Atlantic Drawing on a wide range of sources and a diverse cast of characters from the diaries letters novels and plays of femme fatales in Congo and the United States to the advertisements dissertations oral histories and political speeches of Black Power activists in Canada and the United Kingdom it gives particular attention to the construction of mixed race femininity and masculinity during the twentieth century Its broad scope and historical approach provides readers with a timely rejoinder to academics artists journalists and politicians who only use the mixed race label to depict prophets or delinquents as new national icons for the twenty first century

Building Bridges: Cognitive Development in Typical and Atypical Development Vikram Jaswal, Nameera Akhtar, Jacob A. Burack, 2019-11-14 How can the study of typical development inform our understanding of atypical development How can the study of atypical development inform our understanding of typical development This book addresses these questions in the context of cognitive development a discipline that focuses on the changes and continuity that characterize the intellectual processes that support mental life The contributions range from a consideration of what autism teaches us about the development of attention to how the study of multiracial and gender nonconforming children enriches and challenges traditional approaches to understanding social perception This book demonstrates how two fields of study that too often operate independently can benefit from each other theoretically empirically and practically This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Cognition and Development

Are You Mixed? Sonia E. Janis, 2016-02-01 In Are You Mixed Sonia Janis explores the spaces in between race and place from the perspective of an educator who is multi racial As she reflects on her own experiences as a seventh grade student up to her eventual appointment as a school administrator she learns of the complexity of situating oneself in predetermined demographic categories She shares how she explores the intricacies of undefined spaces that teach her to embrace differences contradictions and complexities in schools neighborhoods and communities Exploring the in betweenness Anzaldúa He 2003 2010 of her life as a multi race person problematizes imbedded notions of race gender class and power The power of this memoir lies in its narrative possibilities to capture the contradictions and paradoxes of lives in between race and place to honor the subtleties fluidities and complexities of such experience and to cultivate understanding towards individual experience and the multicultural multiracial contexts that shape and are shaped by such experience He 2003 p xvii This memoir creates new ways to think about and write about in between experience and their relevance to multicultural and multiracial education Janis challenges educators teachers administrators and policy makers to view the educational experience of students with multiracial multicultural and multilingual backgrounds by shattering predetermined categories and stereotyped classifications and looking into unknown and fluid realms of the in betweenness of their lives This challenge helps create equitable and just opportunities and engender culturally responsive and inspiring curricular and learning environments to bring out the best potential in all diverse schools communities neighborhoods tribes and societies
