Sectoral Systems of Innovation Franco Malerba, 2009

Sectoral Systems of Innovation and Production in Developing Countries Franco Malerba, Sunil Mani, 2009-01-01 Over the past decade there has been a dramatic increase in the quantity and quality of research focused on the processes through which technological capabilities are acquired by countries significantly behind the economic frontier and the institutions that effectively support the catching up process This book is a splendid contribution to this literature The concept of a sectoral innovation system is well suited for framing studies of these kinds of questions and serves well to unify the many interesting empirical studies in the book Some of those studies are success stories others of less successful cases Readers new to this body of research will find this book a great introduction All readers will learn a lot from it about what is required for and involved in economic development Richard R Nelson Columbia Earth Institute US and University of Manchester UK This book examines in detail the features and dynamics of sectoral systems of innovation and production in developing countries Processes of rapid growth are usually associated with specific sectors such as automobiles electronics or software as well as with the transformation of traditional sectors such as agriculture and food The book shows however that the variations across all these sectors in terms of structure and dynamics is so great that a full understanding of these differences is necessary if innovation is to be encouraged and growth sustained The expert contributors promote this understanding by drawing upon empirical evidence from a wide range of sectoral systems from traditional to high technology and across a number of countries They explore how these systems change and evolve highlighting policy lessons to be drawn from the analysis Case studies include the Brazilian aeronautical pulp and paper industries the Korean machine tool sector motorbike manufacture in Thailand and Vietnam pharmaceuticals and telecommunication equipment in India ICT in Taiwan the biofuels sector in Tanzania salmon farming in Chile and software in Uruguay Scholars and researchers in the fields of economics development economics in particular and innovation will find this book to be of great interest Policymakers and managers focussing on innovation and growth in developing countries will also warmly welcome the book

The Innovation Union in Europe Elias G. Carayannis, George

M. Korres, 2013-01-01 One of the most important economic events in recent decades has been the on going process of European integration This book provides a basic yet rigorous understanding of the current issues and problems of economic integration and innovation in Europe and argues that national or regional economic development depends mainly on technical change social and human capital and knowledge creation and diffusion This is clearly evident in the role of the Quadruple Innovation Helix of government university industry and civil society Uniquely the book examines the many aspects and consequences of the integration process that are obscure or as yet under researched The authors explore a wide range of topics methodologies and perspectives in order to provide a stimulating and wide ranging analyses The Innovation Union in Europe will be of interest to students economic theorists empirical and social scientists policy makers as well as the informed general reader Challenges of African Transformation Mammo Muchie, Angathevar Baskaran, 2013-01-29 A brief overview of the African economic picture reveals a paradox where the continent that has rich mineral resources nearly a billion people and a land mass which includes the sizes of China USA India Western Europe Argentina together larger than the sum of these regions is in an unacceptable state of being an object of aid debt and loans despite the vast resources both known and yet to be explored Africa should have been a productive and innovation centre and not a charity and aid centre of the world where donorship has replaced African national ownership of not just Africas resources but even worse Africas own agency autonomy and independence to shape policy and direction to undertake African integrated national development by establishing a science engineering and technology based knowledge innovative learning and competent economy The chapters in this volume address the application of the innovation approach to a variety of problems in Africa Together they highlight the critical importance of the innovation systems approach in each of the issues the authors preferred to select and analyse In the African context the application of innovation goes beyond firms to the informal activities at grassroots level The boundaries and the range of actors and activities for innovation application are varied and not limited This variation is represented in this volume by the diverse issues that the authors dealt with in their research by applying as common the use and application of innovation Tourism and Entrepreneurship Jovo Ateljevic, Stephen J. Page, 2017-12-04 Tourism and Entrepreneurship International Perspectives provides an innovative interdisciplinary approach This book takes as its central theme the role of entrepreneurship in the context of regional local and national tourism development By engaging with top academics in both tourism and entrepreneurship this book delivers a cohesive interdisciplinary examination of the most recent developments in both tourism and entrepreneurship Several key themes are explored and articulated through the following concepts and issues tourism innovation and entrepreneurship the role and nature of individual and collective entrepreneurship in different contexts the role of tourism in responding to development opportunities created by global forces and finally issues associated with tourism strategies and policies Divided into four parts the book reflects on the most relevant areas of tourism entrepreneurship Understanding the conceptual basis of tourism entrepreneurship Creative use of entrepreneurship and processes of social innovation Tourism entrepreneurship mediating the global local divide Sectoral strategies and policy issues of tourism entrepreneurship Tourism and Entrepreneurship International Perspective Explains the impact of tourism entrepreneurship on places and overall regional and destination development Examines the role of the public sector in facilitating the need for sustainable tourism development Examines the effects and implications of funding schemes and support programmes Takes the owner manager and entrepreneur as the starting point of analysis to explore specific issues Allows practitioners and policy makers to explore practical applications and best practice of theory through a diverse range of international case studies Contributed to by an international team of leading scholars in tourism and entrepreneurship This book is a unique combination of theory case studies and discussion highlighting the importance of entrepreneurial tourism activity for economic success It is essential reading for students and researchers in both tourism and entrepreneurship

Exploiting Linkages for Building Technological Capabilities Mai Fujita, 2014-01-10 One of the key ingredients of success in building internationally competitive industries lies in amassing a sizeable pool of competent suppliers of parts components and accessories This monograph examines how in developing countries suppliers of mechanical components at the low end of the technological trajectory build up key capabilities over time The focus is on Vietnam s motorcycle industry which was rapidly transformed from a small highly protected market to the world s fourth largest motorcycle producer This rare success resulted from intense competition between leading Japanese motorcycle manufacturers and local Vietnamese assemblers of imported Chinese components both attempting to gain supremacy in the emerging market In particular the book analyzes how local Vietnamese suppliers of motorcycle components exploited participation in contrasting types of value chains developed by the two groups of leading manufacturing firms referred to here as Japanese and or Vietnamese Chinese chains for accumulating strategic know how On the basis of historical evidence and recent empirical data collected through repeated rounds of in depth fieldwork the analysis finds first those suppliers learning trajectories evolved over time resulting in a divergence in learning performance extending across suppliers in later phases of industrial development In the later stage high performing suppliers amassed basic innovative expertise constituting the bedrock of this fast growing industry Second the analysis finds that the diverging performance can be explained by the combination of roles played by lead firms in inducing and facilitating supplier learning and those of suppliers in mobilizing their own sources of knowledge These conclusions not only provide dynamic insightful accounts of supplier learning in developing country contexts but also make key theoretical and methodological contributions to the research on value chain participation and supplier learning

Economics of the Pharmaceutical and Medical Device Industry Ramesh Bhardwaj, 2024-08-01 This book provides a comprehensive examination of the pharmaceutical and medical device industry including analysis of its current trade and innovation strategies Opening with a survey of the global pharmaceutical and medical device industry Bhardwaj outlines the growing trade and trade interdependence among countries in the global supply chain He adopts a trade competitiveness approach to analyze patterns of product specialization and examines the drug discovery process and its challenges in translating bioscientific knowledge into lifesaving products Bhardwaj argues that further economic integration collaborative R D and digital technologies may help accelerate productivity and address global challenges of escalating drug costs neglected tropical diseases NTDs and pandemic risks The book also considers how the industry may further green its supply chain and thus contribute to SDG Goals 3 Good Health and Wellbeing and 12 Responsible Consumption and Production before closing on a review of China and India major players who have the potential to become drivers of low cost medical products and innovations With its evidence based analysis this book will be of great interest to researchers in pharmaceutical studies supply chain management global health and health economics as well as

policymakers and professionals interested in the global issues facing the industry Promoting Balanced Competitiveness Strategies of Firms in Developing Countries Vivienne W L Wang, Elias G. Carayannis, 2011-11-06 Since the pioneering work of Joseph Schumpeter 1942 it has been assumed that innovations typically play a key role in firms competitiveness This assumption has been applied to firms in both developed and developing countries However the innovative capacities and business environments of firms in developing countries are fundamentally different from those in developed countries It stands to reason that innovation and competitiveness models based on developed countries may not apply to developing countries In this volume Vivienne Wang and Elias G Carayannis apply both theoretical approaches and empirical analysis to explore the dynamics of innovation in developing countries with a particular emphasis on R D in manufacturing firms In so doing they present an alternative to Michael Porter s Competitive Advantage Model a Competitive Position Model that focuses on incremental and adaptive innovations that are more appropriate than radical innovations for developing countries Their research addresses such questions as Do innovations advance the competitive positions of manufacturing firms in developing countries Does the pace of innovation matter in particular in socio economic and socio political contexts To what degree can national innovation systems and policies influence development To what extent do a firm s innovation commitments correlate with the protection of intellectual property rights What roles do foreign direct investment and relationships with clusters and networks play The resulting analysis not only challenges traditional theoretical approaches to innovation but provides suggestions for improving business practice and policymaking Architects of Growth? Francis E Hutchinson, 2013-12-05 Once acting as local representatives of the national government and content to let their larger counterparts do the heavy lifting state and provincial governments are increasingly expected to be stewards of their economies and deliver sustained growth rates for their citizens Spurred on by increasing competition not least from neighbouring territories sub national governments are increasingly formulating their own plans for economic development taking out loans investing in specialist facilities and establishing marketing offices abroad Despite this increasingly challenging environment there is little research on what sub national governments can or should do to catalyze the development of their economies Focussing on the electronics sector this book draws together ten cases of promising states or provinces largely but not exclusively from Asia These dynamic regions have managed to outcompete the primary economic and political centres of power in their countries and are negotiating their own entry into one of the most challenging and demanding sectors In exploring the issues of agency autonomy and state business relations at the sub national level this book aims to shed light on a vital but overlooked topic The Oxford Handbook of Open Innovation Henry Chesbrough, Agnieszka Radziwon, Wim Vanhaverbeke, Joel West, 2024-01-31 This Handbook seeks to be the definitive reference for the large and growing field of Open Innovation A comprehensive collection of short and authoritative chapters the volume summarizes the most vital research published in Open Innovation It is an essential reference for seasoned scholars a welcome introduction for junior scholars and a kick start package for undergraduate and MBA students Four editors 75 reviewers and 136 contributors collaboratively developed 57 chapter handbook chapters These present the current state of the art featuring academic theory and managerial practice as well as the outlook for how open innovation should be further developed The empirical conceptual and practical insights of the handbook highlight the importance of strengthening practice inspired research and purposeful knowledge exchanges between individuals organizations and ecosystems Innovative Firms in Emerging Market Countries Edmund Amann,John Cantwell,2012-07-05 Based on evidence from Asia and Latin America this book explores the role of innovative firms in emerging markets and their contributor to growth development and knowledge transfer Tourism and Crisis Gustav Visser,Sanette Ferreira,2013-02-15 The new millennium has been characterised by several crises ranging from dramatic acts of terror to natural disasters as well as the most significant economic recession since the late 1920s However despite such challenges the global tourism system has in the main retained its past vitality although in some cases in a different form The book investigates different kinds of crisis and unpacks understandings of crisis in relation to various components in the contemporary tourism system The aim of this book therefore is to critically analyse the relationship between tourism and crises The volume focuses on the roles and potential of tourism for development and relations between tourism environment and broad global process of change at different levels of analysis highlighting different types of crisis In particular it questions the general conviction that tourism led development is a sustainable and necessarily solid platform from which to develop local national and regional economies from a range of perspectives Written by leading academics in the field this book offers valuable insight into tourism s relationship with socio cultural environment economic and political crisis as well as the challenges facing future tourism development The Connectivity of Innovation in the Construction Industry Malena Ingemansson Havenvid,Åse Linné,Lena E. Bygballe,Chris Harty,2019-04-01 The construction industry is currently experiencing accelerating developments concerning societal demands along with project complexity internationalization and digitalization In an attempt to grasp the consequences of these demands on productivity and innovation this edited book addresses how innovation is likely to take place with a more long term perspective on the construction sector While existing literature focuses on organizational discontinuity and fragmentation as the main reasons for the apparent lack of innovation in the industry this book highlights the connectivity of construction actors resources and activities as fundamental for understanding how innovation takes place Through 15 empirically grounded chapters the book shows how innovation is part of construction processes on various levels including project firm and industry and that these innovation processes are characterized by organizational and technological connectivity over time Written by European business management scholars the chapters cover empirical cases and examples from both a multi organizational and a multi international perspective in terms of covering the viewpoints of different industry actors and the contexts of several different European countries including Sweden Norway the UK Italy France

Hungary and Poland By illustrating how connectivity is part of innovation processes in the creation of single product innovations of various innovations within and across projects as well as a fundamental aspect of the processes in which innovations cross nations the book provides a new angle on how to understand construction innovation and where the industry might or needs to be heading next This book is essential reading for anyone interested in construction management project management engineering management innovation studies business and management studies Schumpeterian Analysis of Economic Catch-up Keun Lee,2013-10-31 A fresh analysis of the secrets of Asian economic success and how other countries can escape the middle income trap The New ICT Ecosystem Martin Fransman,2010-03-25 The ICT sector is crucial as a driver of economic and social growth Not only is it an important industry in its own right but it also provides the communication and infrastructure without which modern economies could not function How does this sector work Why is it stronger in some countries than in others What should companies governments and regulators be doing to enhance its contribution In The New ICT Ecosystem Martin Fransman answers these and other questions by developing the idea of the ICT sector as an evolving ecosystem He shows that some components of the ICT ecosystem particularly the innovation process work better in some countries and regions than in others For example the Internet content and applications layer of the ecosystem tends to work better in the US than in Europe or Asia The analysis in this book enables policy makers and regulators to understand why some parts of the ICT ecosystem are underperforming and what can be done to enhance their performance The previous edition of The New ICT Ecosystem won the 2008 10 Joseph Schumpeter Prize Fertile Links? Connections Between Tourism Activities, Socioeconomic Contexts and Local Development Antonio Raschi,Elisabete Figueiredo,2013 In many European regions rural areas are facing major challenges in economic and social terms consequence of transformations in the role and meaning of agriculture The loss of the productive character strongly contributed to the emergence of new roles and functions particularly related to leisure and tourism The book aims to discuss questions directly related to the connections between rural tourism and local socioeconomic contexts presenting diverse theoretical and methodological perspectives and different case studies from various European regions The book addresses the relationships among rural tourism and the complex interactions conflicts and innovative processes developing in rural territories as consequence of the implementation of tourism activities The book responds to some relevant and not yet comprehensively researched aspects within this topic especially in what extent tourism in its various forms and processes might give an important contribution to rural development Small Country Innovation Systems Charles Edquist,Leif Hommen,2009-01-01 What are the challenges that small countries face concerning innovation and what are the effects of globalization on their innovation systems In this very interesting rich and timely book Edquist and Hommen compare ten different small national innovation systems from the Asia Pacific and Northern Europe that are rather advanced in their development The answers that the authors give are convincing and relate not only to the unique characteristics of each national system that shapes innovative activity but also to some commonalities that exist across these countries Franco Malerba Bocconi University Italy This major book presents case studies of ten small country national systems of innovation NSIs in Europe and Asia namely Denmark Finland Hong Kong Ireland the Netherlands Norway Singapore South Korea Sweden and Taiwan These cases have been carefully selected as examples of success within the context of globalization and as new economies where competition is increasingly based on innovation To facilitate comparative analysis the ten studies follow a common structure informed by an activities based approach to describing and analysing NSIs which addresses the critical issues of globalization and the consequences of innovation for economic performance The final chapter compares fast growth and slow growth countries concentrating on issues of innovation policy The results illustrate the usefulness of an activities based approach to studying NSIs point to distinctive national roles within an increasingly differentiated international division of labour and address the key themes of selectivity and coordination in innovation policy This valuable book presents one of the most significant comprehensive and comparative country studies of NSIs in the last decade It will have great import and should be widely read by every serious student and scholar of innovation studies The Oxford Handbook of Dutch Politics ,2024-10-06 The Oxford Handbook of Dutch Politics provides a comprehensive longitudinal overview of the state of the art of academic research on the Dutch political system its origins and historical development its key institutions main fault lines pivotal processes and key public policy dynamics In each of the chapters researchers take stock of what if anything has changed over time how scholars have conceptualized and studied these dynamics and what key factors can account for the developmental patterns found to be at play Notwithstanding its considerable degree of constitutional and institutional stability Dutch politics has seen considerable step changes and occasional upheavals across the last half century Influenced by long term demographic socio economic and cultural shifts the old social cleavages have waned New social identities and dividing lines such as ethnicity education place and gender have influenced Dutch citizens political attitudes and behaviours including their voting patterns The media landscape and the information environment have been altered by new technologies that politicians and citizens alike have to navigate This has produced changes in such pivotal components as the party system coalition formation and management process and executive legislative relations and many others Moreover public policy paradigms and the political coalitions that sustained them have ascended and lost traction in most of the eleven policy domains discussed in the Handbook In all this volume provides unique and indispensable insights into stability and change in a political system that once gained notoriety as an archetype of a consensual or consociational democracy

Mode 3 Knowledge Production in Quadruple Helix Innovation Systems Elias G. Carayannis,David F.J. Campbell,2011-12-02 Developed and developing economies alike face increased resource scarcity and competitive rivalry In this context science and technology appear as an essential source of competitive and sustainable advantage at national and regional levels However the key determinant of their efficacy is the quality and quantity of entrepreneurship enabled innovation that unlocks and captures the benefits of the science enterprise in the form of private public or hybrid goods Linking basic and applied research with the market via technology transfer and commercialization mechanisms including government university industry partnerships and capital investments constitutes the essential trigger mechanism and driving force of sustainable competitive advantage and prosperity In this volume the authors define the terms and principles of knowledge creation diffusion and use and establish a theoretical framework for their study In particular they focus on the Quadruple Helix model through which government academia industry and civil society are seen as key actors promoting a democratic approach to innovation through which strategy development and decision making are exposed to feedback from key stakeholders resulting in socially accountable policies and practices

The Rise to Market Leadership Franco Malerba, Sunil Mani, Pamela Adams, 2017-04-28 In recent years many new international market leaders from the BRICS countries have emerged in several manufacturing and service industries This important study answers a number of crucial questions including how did these companies rise up to become important players in their respective industries What is the contribution of systemic and country specific factors What is the role of internal firm factors in enabling these companies to become market leaders The book presents evidence from companies in the automotive pharmaceutical and ICT industries of China India and Brazil
