Hugh R. Slotten,2003-04-30 From AM radio to color television broadcasting raised enormous practical and policy problems in the United States especially in relation to the federal government s role in licensing and regulation How did technological change corporate interest and political pressures bring about the world that station owners work within today and that tuned in consumers make profitable In Radio and Television Regulation Hugh R Slotten examines the choices that confronted federal agencies first the Department of Commerce then the Federal Radio Commission in 1927 and seven years later the Federal Communications Commission and shows the impact of their decisions on developing technologies Slotten analyzes the policy debates that emerged when the public implications of AM and FM radio and black and white and color television first became apparent His discussion of the early years of radio examines powerful personalities including navy secretary Josephus Daniels and commerce secretary Herbert Hoover who maneuvered for government control of the wireless He then considers fierce competition among companies such as Westinghouse GE and RCA which quickly grasped the commercial promise of radio and later of television and struggled for technological edge and market advantage Analyzing the complex interplay of the factors forming public policy for radio and television broadcasting and taking into account the ideological traditions that framed these controversies Slotten sheds light on the rise of the regulatory state In an epilogue he discusses his findings in terms of contemporary debates over high resolution TV Radio Broadcast ,1928 Advertisers' Guide to Marketing ,1959 U.S. Government Books ,1987 Executives' Guide to Marketing ,1958 Short Wave & Television ,1936 Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1996 Systems Approaches and Their Application Mats-Olov Olsson,Gunnar Sjöstedt,2004-09-20 This book describes the application of systems thinking across a broad field of cases representing research teaching decision support and construction All cases are presented by experts who have actually been involved in the activities they describe The broad selection of cases captures the great variation of systems thinking and how it is integrated into models and theories and solid knowledge pertaining to different substantive areas Popular Science ,1970-06 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share The future is going to be better and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better Radio & TV News ,1923 Some issues Aug 1943 Apr 1954 are called Radio electronic engineering ed called in 1943 Radionics ed which include a separately paged section Radio electronic engineering varies v 1 no 2 v 22 no 7 issued separately Aug 1954 May 1955 Serials in the British Library British Library. Bibliographic Services Division,1997 Heartland TV Victoria E. Johnson,2008 Winner of the 2009 Society for Cinema and Media Studies Katherine Singer Kovacs Book Award The Midwest of popular imagination is a Heartland characterized by traditional cultural values and mass market dispositions Whether cast positively as authentic pastoral populist hardworking and all

American or negatively as backward narrow minded unsophisticated conservative and out of touch the myth of the Heartland endures Heartland TV examines the centrality of this myth to television s promotion and development programming and marketing appeals and public debates over the medium s and its audience s cultural worth Victoria E Johnson investigates how the square image of the heartland has been ritually recuperated on prime time television from The Lawrence Welk Show in the 1950s to documentary specials in the 1960s to The Mary Tyler Moore Show in the 1970s to Ellen in the 1990s She also examines news specials on the Oklahoma City bombing to reveal how that city has been inscribed as the epitome of a timeless pastoral heartland and concludes with an analysis of network branding practices and appeals to an imagined red state audience Johnson argues that non white queer and urban culture is consistently erased from depictions of the Midwest in order to reinforce its reassuring image as white and straight Through analyses of policy industry discourse and case studies of specific shows Heartland TV exposes the cultural function of the Midwest as a site of national transference and disavowal with regard to race sexuality and citizenship ideals
