A History of the Mediterranean Air War, 1940-1945 Christopher Shores, Giovanni Massimello, Russell Guest, 2012-06-19 This first volume in the seminal series on World War II aerial combat pilots and tactics that reads like an encyclopedia on the subject Portland Book Review In the early days of World War II both Allied and Axis powers extended the theater of war to North Africa where hard fought battles were conducted in the harsh desert But before anyone could claim victory on the ground they had to hold dominion in the air Here historian Christopher Shores has combined his books Fighters over the Desert and Fighters over Tunisia into one volume as well as adding updated information about the deadly fighter aircraft reconnaissance aircraft and maritime units active in the Mediterranean Full of in depth research and featuring essential maps this is an intimate introspection by these men of their experiences and the respect that they shared not only for each other but also their adversaries The Military Reviewer

Bomber Squadrons of the R.A.F. and Their Aircraft Philip J. R. Moyes, 1964 Illustrated record of British Royal Air Force squadrons formed since the First World War including those formed from Allied and Dominions personnel Vickers Wellington Units of Bomber Command Michael Napier, 2020-07-23 The Vickers Wellington was one of very few aircraft types to have been in production and frontline service throughout World War II and more than 10 000 Wellingtons were built in the period They took part in the first RAF bombing mission of the conflict when on 4 September 1939 14 examples from Nos 9 and 149 Sqns undertook a daring daylight attack on the Kiel Canal However after suffering high losses on follow up raids Wellingtons were withdrawn from daytime missions and began to operate at night from May 1940 They subsequently took part in raids against the Italian port city of Genoa in July 1940 and against Berlin the following month followed by key missions in the Battle of the Barges in September and October as the RAF targeted the Germany s invasion fleet being assembled in French Channel ports When RAF s strike force expanded the next year following the introduction of the improved Wellington II the 21 squadrons equipped with the Vickers aircraft which included Polish Canadian and Australian manned units formed the backbone of the Bomber Command night bombing force Over the next two years Wellingtons participated in all the major operations by Bomber Command including the daylight raid against German battleships in Brest harbour in July 1942 and the first three Thousand Bomber raids in the summer of 1942 This illustrated study explores the design development and deployment of the Vickers Wellington type charting its role in World War II from its earliest missions to its use in training after its withdrawal from frontline bomber missions in 1943 The text is supported by stunning full colour artwork The Wellington Bomber Martin W. Bowman, 2020-01-31 The Wellington Bomber was omnipresent during the Second World War employed in a variety of contexts in the fight against the Axis powers The pilots who flew this aircraft did so with an immense amount of pride and there is perhaps no one better placed to tell the story of this incredible aircraft than these men Martin Bowman has drawn together a selection of first hand pilot testimonies in an effort to record authentically the experience of flying the much mythologised Wellington during one of the most challenging eras of aviation history The book is supplemented by two plate sections of stirring black and white images

The History of Air Intercept Radar & the British Nightfighter 1935-1959 Ian White, 2007-05-30 This detailed history of Air Intercept radar traces the development of this vital military technology with the Royal Air Force during WWII In the years after World War I the United Kingdom was desperate to develop some form of protection from an enemy air strike As early as 1923 the British Army had devised sound mirrors that could detect aircraft up to twelve miles away This technical history traces the development of military radar technology from this early experimental phase to the creation of the first air to air radar systems and their uses in battle Historian Ian White sets this fascinating narrative within the larger political military economic and technological context of the era Through World War II Air Intercept radar was a vital asset in protecting RAF bomber forces as well as the country itself But developing the technology required the tireless work of physicists and engineers in the Air Ministry Research Establishment particularly members of the Establishment's Airborne Group working under Dr Edward Bowen Their Airborne Interception radars such as the AI Mk IV were used in Blenheim night fighters during the winter Blitz and by Mosquito during the Baedeker Raids This in depth history covers the introduction of centimetric technology at the Telecommunications Research Establishment the creation of centimetric AI and their installation in the Beaufighter and later marks of the Mosquito It describes the creation of the Radiation Laboratory at MIT and concludes with a section on further developments during the Cold War

Aviation Landmarks - Norfolk and Suffolk Peter B. Gunn, 2017-11-24 Norfolk and Suffolk are bursting with aviation heritage having played key roles in military aviation through the two world wars and beyond The obvious notable landmarks include airfields past and present traces of former radar stations decoy airfields and other sites that were once highly secretive However there are less conspicuous ones too from churches memorials and museums to local pubs streets and even village signs This new edition of Aviation Landmarks Norfolk and Suffolk offers a fully updated account of aviation heritage and history right up to the present day With over 500 entries it covers nearly seventy airfields as well as many lesser known landmarks such as former radar stations country houses local heritage collections street signs and more Complete with illustrations OS grid references and an index of places this reference guide to the two counties both in the air and on the ground will captivate both interested locals and aviation enthusiasts alike
