Mason, 2001 The Moravian Church became widely known and respected for its missions to the heathen achieving a high reputation among the pious and with government This study looks at its connections with evangelical networks and its indirect role in the great debate on the slave trade as well as the operations of Moravian missionaries in the field The Moravians decision in 1764 to expand and publicise their foreign missions largely to the British colonies coincided with the development of relations between their British leaders and evangelicals from various denominations among whom were those who went on to found in the last decade of the century the major societies which were the cornerstone of the modern missionary movement These men were profoundly influenced by the Moravian Church's apparent progress unique among Protestants in making real Christians among the heathen overseas and this led to the adoption of Moravian missionary methods by the new societies Dr Mason draws on a wide range of primary documents to demonstrate the influences of the Moravian Church on the missionary awakening in England and its contribution to the movement

Community of the Cross Craig D. Atwood, 2010-11-01 Bethlehem Pennsylvania was a unique colonial town It was the first permanent outpost of the Moravians in North America and served as the headquarters for their extensive missionary efforts It was also one of the most successful communal societies in American history Bethlehem was founded as a congregation of the cross where all aspects of personal and social life were subordinated to the religious ideal of the community In Community of the Cross Craig D Atwood offers a convincing portrait of Bethlehem and its religion Visitors to Bethlehem such as Benjamin Franklin remarked on the orderly and peaceful nature of life in the community its impressive architecture and its high culture However many non Moravians were embarrassed or even offended by the social and devotional life of the Moravians The adoration of the crucified Jesus especially his wounds was the focus of intense devotion for adults and children alike Moravians worshiped the Holy Spirit as Mother and they made the mystical marriage to Christ central to their marital intimacy Everything even family life was to be a form of worship Atwood reveals the deep connection between life in Bethlehem and the religious symbolism of controversial German theologian Nicholas von Zinzendorf whose provocative and erotic adoration of the wounds of Jesus was an essential part of private and communal life Using the theories of Ren Girard Mary Douglas and Victor Turner Atwood shows that it was the Moravians liturgy and devotion that united the community and inspired both its unique social structure and its missionary efforts Moravian Daily Texts 2026
