More Irish Short Stories John B. Keane, 1990      Fourfront Micheál Ó Conghaile, Pádraic Breathnach, Dara Ó Conaola, Alan Titley, 1998 Despite the richness of the short story in Irish literature there remains a relative absence of stories translated from the Irish This collection of stories aims to help fill this gap Micheal O Conghaile is one of Ireland's foremost contemporary Irish language prose writers His stories are filled with dissidents and rebels protagonists who find themselves suddenly revealed as errata in someone else's master narrative Padraic Breathnach is probably the most prolific short story writer in Irish with over 150 The four included here show isolated individuals struggling against inherited authority structures and they may tell us more than any sociologist about the destiny of community He is glorious and unmatched in his depiction of decay the decay of social cultural and moral fabrics of landscape and mind gone to seed Dara O Conaola's stories share a real generic affinity with that other favored form of Gaelic tradition the lyric poem His stories are full of wonder and imagination Lastly Alan Titley is probably best known as a novelist Politically his stories probably represent a more radical subversive side while his language reveals a linguistic virtuosity that verges on the carnivalesque      Paddy No More William Vorm, 1978      The Best Novels of the Nineties Linda Parent Leshner, 2015-11-17 This reader's guide provides uniquely organized and up to date information on the most important and enjoyable contemporary English language novels Offering critically substantiated reading recommendations careful cross referencing and extensive indexing this book is appropriate for both the weekend reader looking for the best new mystery and the full time graduate student hoping to survey the latest in magical realism More than 1 000 titles are included each entry citing major reviews and giving a brief description for each book      The Field John B.
