Perspectives on Agrarian Bengal Chittabrata Palit, 1982 Modern Approaches and Critical Perspectives in Indian Historiography Dr. R. Rajeshwari, Dr. T. Santhi, 2025-04-25

Modern Approaches and Critical Perspectives in Indian Historiography offers a thoughtful exploration of how India's past has been interpreted, questioned and reimagined over time. The book examines evolving methodologies, debates and theoretical frameworks that have shaped the study of Indian history. It engages with both traditional narratives and contemporary critiques, encouraging readers to reflect on history as a dynamic and contested field. Through detailed analysis and fresh perspectives, this work serves as an essential resource for scholars, students and anyone interested in understanding the complexities of historical writing in India. A significant contribution to the evolving discourse of historiography.

Linking Destinies Peter Boomgaard, Dick Kooiman, Henk Schulte Nordholt, 2008-01-01

Trade flows, cities and kinship relations can all be seen as elements of complex networks. In this collection of essays, all of which deal with Asia, we argue that there are good reasons to envisage them as various dimensions of the same networks. Nevertheless, it is fairly rare to find trade, cities and kinship relations as intimately linked as we have portrayed them in this volume, because they are usually classified within different sub-disciplines of history whose practitioners are all too often not inclined to talk to people outside their own field. The Australian-born historian Heather Sutherland, who recently retired from the VU university in Amsterdam, is an exception in this respect because most of her work gravitates towards an approach which aims to integrate this trinity of topics. This collection of essays, written by a number of her students and close colleagues, has taken its cue from her approach. It is not the case that all the contributions deal with all three topics, but they as a collective demonstrate how flows of trade, cities both as urban centres and nodes in wider networks and kinship relations hang together and how the study of one topic opens new vistas on the other two, revealing causal links that otherwise would have remained hidden. Thus the essays in this collective volume support the idea that trade, towns and kin, although often dealt with quite separately, can be viewed as various aspects of the same networks connecting people, places and commodities.

Calcutta Requiem: Gender And The Politics Of Poverty Ananya Roy, 2007-09 City Requiem, Calcutta Ananya Roy, 2003 Housing developments emerge amid the paddy fields on the fringes of Calcutta overflowing trains carry peasant women to informal urban labor markets in a daily commute against hunger land is settled and claimed in a complex choreography of squatting and evictions such Ananya Roy contends are the distinctive spaces of a communism for the new millennium where at a moment of liberalization the hegemony of poverty is quietly reproduced An ethnography of urban development in Calcutta Roy's book explores the dynamics of class and gender in the persistence of poverty City Requiem Calcutta emphasizes how gender itself is spatialized and how gender relations are negotiated within the geopolitics of modernity and through the everyday practices of territory Thus Roy shows how urban developmentalism in its populist guise reproduces the relations of masculinist patronage and in its entrepreneurial guise seeks to reclaim a bourgeois Calcutta gentlemanly in its nostalgias In doing so her work expands the field of poverty studies by showing how a politics of poverty is also a poverty of knowledge a construction and management of social and spatial categories The Economy of Modern India B. R. Tomlinson, 2013-04-25 A unique examination of the development of the modern Indian economy over the past 150 years Poetics of Village Politics Arild Engelsen Ruud, 2022-05-29 Originally published in 2003 this volume studies village politics and the changes brought about in rural society through political developments It focuses on the social political and cultural circumstances of communist mobilization in rural West Bengal It analyses the emergence of rural communism in the local context of changes in the position of women in caste practices in economic conditions and in new efforts to create development It investigates how this cultural change interacts with the mechanisms and tools of village politics and using anthropological methods and oral history as tools allows for a detailed and intimate ethnographic description of village politics and its changes Rethinking State Politics in India Ashutosh Kumar, 2012-03-12 Focusing on the twin issues of identity and development that are often signifiers of the unravelling politics in the federal polity the book make a concerted attempt to look at and beyond the states by exploring the specificities of the regions within these states It does so through a comparative study from the vantage point of democratic politics as it unfurls in recent India Emphasising that regions within the states are not merely politico administrative instituted constructs but are also imagined or constituted among others in historical geographic economic sociological or cultural terms it argues that any meaningful comparative study of the regions would naturally straddle the disciplinary boundaries of social sciences The book attempts to go beyond the states and look at the regions within them as a distinctive analytical category for an in depth study of the democratic politics of identity and development unfolding at the state level Political Economy and Protest in Colonial India Chittabrata Palit, Amit Bhattacharyya, Ranjan Chakrabarti, 1997 Contributed articles Law and the Economy in Colonial India Tirthankar Roy, Anand V. Swamy, 2016-09-20 By accessibly recounting and analyzing the unique experience of institutions in colonial India which were influenced heavily by both British Common Law and indigenous Indian practices and traditions Law and the Economy in Colonial India sheds new light on what exactly fosters the types of institutions that have been key to economic development throughout world history more generally The culmination and years of research the book goes through a range of examples including textiles opium tea indigo tenancy credit and land mortgage to show how economic laws in colonial India were shaped neither by imported European ideas about how colonies should be ruled nor indigenous institutions but by the practice of producing and trading The book is an essential addition to Indian history and to some of the most fundamental questions in economic history

Communism in India Bidyut

Chakrabarty,2014-09-23 In Communism in India Bidyut Chakrabarty an expert on contemporary Indian political economy and social movements presents a sweeping analysis of the changing nature of communist ideology over the past century in India The history and development of India s left movements are unique in that the country is home to two coexisting strands of modern communism The first of these is the parliamentary Communist Party of India which constituted the first democratically elected Marxist government in the country The parliamentary left subscribes to a social democratic philosophy turning to the traditional democratic institutions of governance in their quest to fulfill the Marxist Leninist goal of establishing a classless society The second oppositional strand is the revolutionary Maoist movement This branch rejects parliamentary democracy as a means to altering class relations as they see the government as an elite organization dedicated to the status quo and age old system of class exploitation Drawing on ethnographic field work conducted in Orissa Chhattisgarh and West Bengal Chakrabarty provides a contextual account of the rise consolidation and decline of these two types of left radicalism He looks at how it is that left ideology has coexisted with free market oriented economic policies as well as the contexts in which more militant strands have taken root particularly among the young in poorer districts
