Rage Of The Serbs:

Rage of the Serbs Marjorie Radulović,1998 Why the Nations Rage Christopher Catherwood,2002 This thoughtful book explores much of the background to the strife the globe faces today In particular Christopher Catherwood shows how religion and national pride which are supposed to be positive forces can become perverted ideologies that arouse hatred slaughter and war When Atheism Becomes Religion Chris Hedges,2009-03-10 The bestselling author of The New Fascists speaks out against religious and secular fundamentalism as he explores the New Atheists those who attack religion to advance their causes The Civil War in Bosnia and Herzegovina (1992-95) Viktor Bezruchenko,2022 The war in Bosnia and Herzegovina 1992 1995 was the bloodiest and most savage conflict in post WWII Europe While numerous books and articles on the subject exist this book fills an important void by comprehensively addressing the intricacies of the conflict s political historic military and diplomatic factors The brutal civil war triggered by the demise of Yugoslavia Based on documents and eyewitness accounts the book covers the ideologies hidden agendas military operations covert actions and diplomacy that resulted in the Dayton Peace Accords of 1995 It also includes the geography population and tumultuous history of Bosnia and Herzegovina The author convincingly dispels myths related to the war including pre planned Serbian aggression the siege of Sarajevo the massacres of civilians in the UN safe areas of Srebrenica and epa and Slobodan Milošević s role Radovan Karadžić Robert J. Donia,2014-09-29 This book traces Radovan Karadžić s personal transformation from an unremarkable family man to the powerful leader of the Bosnian Serb nationalists Based on previously unused documents and trial transcripts this book argues that postcommunist democracy was a primary enabler of mass atrocities because it provided the means to mobilize large numbers of Bosnian Serbs for the campaign to eliminate non Serbs from conquered land State-building in Kosovo. A plural policing perspective Jelle Janssens,2015-02-05 This book challenges the conventional wisdom of international policing in transitional societies which seeks to strengthen the state police It builds on a growing body of literature on the pluralization of policing in Western democracies and transitional states which contends that the state police is merely one security provider in a complex policing landscape Through a case study of Kosovo this book proposes possible forms of plural policing and the relationship between state builders and non state policing agents such as private security companies gangs and Kanun based policing systems The book provides insights in the field of plural policing in transitional societies and overall policing strategies used by the international community in Kosovo International Handbook of Multigenerational Legacies of Trauma Yael Danieli,2013-03-09 In this extraordinary new text an international array of scholars explore the enduring legacy of such social shocks as war genocide slavery tyranny crime and disease Among the cases addressed are instances of genocide in Turkey Cambodia and Russia the plight of the families of Holocaust survivors atomic bomb survivors in Japan and even the children of Nazis the long term effects associated with the Vietnam War and the war in Yugoslavia and the psychology arising from the legacy of slavery in America Metaphors of ANGER across Languages: Universality and Variation Zoltan Kövecses, Réka Benczes, Veronika Szelid, 2024-11-04 Anger is one of the basic emotions of human emotional experience informing and guiding many of our choices and actions Although it has received considerable scholarly attention in a number of disciplines including linguistics a basic question has still remained unresolved why do variations in the folk model of anger exist across languages if it is indeed a basic emotion rooted in largely universal bodily experience By drawing on a wide selection of comparable linguistic data from dozens of languages including a number of less researched languages this volume provides the most comprehensive account of what is universal and what is variable in the folk model of anger and why It also investigates the role that metonymies might play in the emergence of anger related metaphors and in what ways context influences or shapes anger metaphors and thereby the resulting folk model of anger No such volume exists in the cognitive linguistic literature on anger or on emotions for that matter The book is thus an essential contribution to the study of anger and will serve as basic reading for any researcher interested in how the conceptualization of anger is constructed via the interplay of bodily experience language and the larger cultural context

Noam, 2011-06-28 In recent years billions of dollars and euros yen and other currencies have been spent by wireless services providers to acquire the radio frequency spectrum needed to offer so called Third Generation 3G mobile services These services include high speed data mobile Internet access and entertainment such as games music and video programs Indeed as voice communications are substituted by data communications software rather than terminals or networks has become the driver of the wireless industry Meanwhile services are becoming increasingly specialized Why has the road to multimedia cellular been so difficult These benefits of the mobile Internet have come with the costs of a massive transition that has coincided with the bust of stock markets and the technology segments worldwide controversial and costly license auctions in several lead markets dated or mistaken regulatory policies the clash between the early hype and the pioneering realities of the mobile Internet But these are generalities that barely scratch the surface The devil is in the details And it is these details that Competition for the Mobile Internet addresses

Serbian Dreambook Marko Živković,2011-04-29 The central role that the regime of Slobodan Milošević played in the bloody dissolution of Yugoslavia is well known but Marko Živković explores another side of this time period the stories people in Serbia were telling themselves and others about themselves Živković traces the recurring themes scripts and narratives that permeated public discourse in Milošević's Serbia as Serbs described themselves as Gypsies or Jews violent highlanders or peaceful lowlanders and invoked their own mythologized defeat at the Battle of Kosovo The author investigates national narratives the use of tradition for political purposes and local idioms paying special attention to the often bizarre and outlandish tropes people employed to make sense of their social reality He suggests that the enchantments of political life under Milošević may be fruitfully seen as a dreambook of Serbian national imaginary A Phenomenology of Love and Hate

Peter Hadreas,2016-03-23 Using phenomenology to uncover the implicit logic in personal love sexual love and hatred Peter Hadreas provides new insights into the uniqueness of the beloved and offers fresh explanations for some of the worst outbreaks of violence and hatred in modern times Topics discussed include the value and subjectivity of personal love nudity and the temporality of sexual love the connection between personal sexual love and the incest taboo the development of group focused hatred from individual focused hatred and prejudicial discrimination The work encompasses analysis of philosophers and writers from ancient times through to the present day and examines such episodes as the Oklahoma City Federal Building bombing and the Columbine High School massacre Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Russia, Serbia James

Brown Scott,1916 National Deconstruction David Campbell, How did Bosnia once a polity of intersecting and overlapping identities come to be understood as an intractable ethnic problem David Campbell pursues this question and its implications for the politics of community democracy justice and multiculturalism through readings of media and academic representations of the conflict in Bosnia National Deconstruction is a rethinking of the meaning of ethnic nationalist violence and a critique of the impoverished discourse of identity politics that crippled the international response to the Bosnian crisis. Rather than assuming the preexistence of an entity called Bosnia, Campbell considers the complex array of historical, statistical, cartographic and other practices through which the definitions of Bosnia have come to be. These practices traverse a continuum of political spaces from the bodies of individuals and the corporate body of the former Yugoslavia to the international bodies of the world community. Among the book's many original disclosures arrived at through a critical reading of international diplomacy is the shared identity politics of the peacemakers and paramilitaries. Equally significant is Campbell's conclusion that the international response to the Bosnian war was hamstrung by the poverty of Western thought on the politics of heterogeneous communities. Indeed, he contends that Europe and the United States intervened in Bosnia not to save the ideal of multiculturalism abroad but rather to shore up the nationalist imaginary so as to contain the ideal of multiculturalism at home. By bringing to the fore the concern with ethics, politics and responsibility contained in more traditional accounts of the Bosnian war, this book is a major statement on the inherently ethical and political assumptions of deconstructive thought and the reworkings of the politics of community it enables.
