Bosnia Timothy Donais,2005-06-21 A fresh examination of the political economy of the peacebuilding process in Bosnia Herzegovina in the aftermath of the country s 1992 95 war Little progress has been made in transforming the country s war shattered economy into a functioning market economy this new study explains the principal dynamics that have led to this and places Bosnia s economic transition process within the context of the country s broader post conflict peacebuilding process The central argument this book persuasively advances is that much of Bosnia s ongoing economic crisis and its current reform stalemate can be explained by exploring the interactions of an inappropriate international model of economic reform with the country s particular post conflict and post socialist political economy This book is essential for readers who wish to build an understanding of the region and assess its future prospects and hopes Bosnia David

Chandler,2000-03-20 The Dayton Accords brought the Bosnian war to an end in November 1995 establishing a detailed framework for the reconstitution of the Bosnian state and its consolidation through a process of democratisation In Bosnia David Chandler makes the first in depth critical analysis of the policies and impact of post Dayton democratisation Drawing on interviews with key officials within the OSCE in Bosnia and extensive original research exploring the impact of policies designed to further political pluralism develop multi ethnic administrations protect human rights and support civil society Chandler reveals that the process has done virtually nothing to develop democracy in this troubled country Political autonomy and accountability are now further away than at any time since the outbreak of the Bosnian war

Socioeconomic Justice Daniela Lai,2020-06-18 Does socioeconomic justice belong within transitional justice Daniela Lai provides the first systematic analysis of experiences of socioeconomic violence during war and how they give rise to strong but unheeded justice claims in the aftermath She redefines socioeconomic justice as the redress of violence rooted in the political economy of conflict and transitional justice as a social practice that belongs among grassroots activists as much as it does in courtrooms and truth commissions Furthermore she examines the role of international actors that rely on narrow legalistic approaches to transitional justice while also promoting economic reforms that hinder the emergence and pursuit of socioeconomic justice claims by conflict affected communities Drawing on a unique set of in depth interviews with Bosnian communities international officials and grassroots activists this book provides new theoretical and empirical insights on the link between justice and political economy on international interventions and on Bosnia s post war and post socialist transformation Bosnian Security After Dayton Michael A. Innes,2006-09-27 Featuring fresh contributions from leading scholars this new volume considers a varied range of post war post Dayton and post 9 11 problems and issues reminding readers that Dayton is not the only challenge to the safety stability and long term viability of the post war Bosnian state Drawing together all the latest research this book covers new ground in its discussion of post 9 11 security concerns and in its leading edge analyses of crime corruption and terror in a transitional state It takes Bosnia Herzegovina seriously as a subject of regional and international affairs and is a critically important contribution to scholarship showing how redefined global security concerns have heavily altered international and domestic security priorities in Bosnia Herzegovina with corresponding implications for post war justice and identity politics foreign intervention and state level institution building This is essential reading for scholars of the Balkans peacebuilding and reconstruction European politics and of security studies in general

Bosnian Post-Refugee Transnationalism Maja Halilovic-Pastuovic, 2020-05-27 This book develops a new concept of post refugee transnationalism to describe experiences of Bosnian refugees who settled in Ireland after fleeing the conflict in 1990s Bosnia and Herzegovina The book explores their ambivalent relationship with their host and home countries Ireland and Bosnia arguing that their current experiences are best described as post refugee transnationalism Post refugee transnationalism is characterised by Bosnians dividing their time between the two countries rather than permanently settling in either and by engaging in summer migrations and diasporic interconnections and affiliations The book proposes post refugee transnationalism as different to other instances of transnationalism by stressing its enforced origin provoked by the conflict and institutionalized by the Dayton Peace Agreement The book combines Foucault's biopolitics David Theo Goldberg's understanding of nation states as racial states and Giorgio Agamben's expansion on the idea of potentiality to develop the concept of post refugee transnationalism

The Improvised State Alex Jeffrey, 2012-07-30 The Improvised State provides a highly developed account of the nature and outcomes of Bosnian state practices since the Dayton Peace Agreement Jeffrey presents new and significant theories based on extensive fieldwork in Bosnia which advance understanding of state building Provides a major contribution to recent academic debates as to the nature of the state after violent conflict and offers invaluable insights into state building Introduces the idea of state improvisation where improvisation refers to a process of both performance and resourcefulness Uses the theoretical framework of Pierre Bourdieu to explore how powerful agencies have attempted to present a coherent vision of Bosnia and Herzegovina following the conflict 1992-5 Advances our understanding of the Bosnian state by focusing on the practices of statecraft fostered in the post Dayton era Research based on four periods of residential fieldwork in Bosnia which allowed a detailed analysis of political practices in the country

Internationalized State-Building after Violent Conflict Marc Weller, Stefan Wolff, 2013-10-18 Previously published as a special issue of Ethnopolitics this volume analyzes various dimensions of the internationalized state building process in Bosnia and Herzegovina since 1995 In December 1995 the Dayton Agreements ended the war in Bosnia and Herzegovina and established a fragile peace between the former conflict parties The settlement seemed morally wrong and politically impracticable but still necessary in order to end violence of a scale and intensity not seen in Europe since the end of the Second World War The leading contributors conclude that internationalized state building can only serve well in the stabilization of states emerging from conflict if it draws on a well balanced approach of consociational techniques moderated by integrative policies tempered by a wider regional outlook and sustained by resourceful and skilled international involvement The experience of Bosnia and Herzegovina may not have scored full marks in all of these categories but important lessons can be gleaned for other similar contemporary and future challenges that the international community no doubt will have to face This book will be of interest to students and scholars of international organizations civil wars and ethnic conflicts international law and peace studies Bosnia After Dayton Sumantra Bose,2002 Bose comparative politics London School of Economics and Political Science explores the political dimensions of the internally led reconstruction process in the Balkan country since the late 1995 Dayton Peace Agreement He argues that the post war experience of Bosnia Herzegovina is important and relevant for its own sake but also as a highly visible testing ground for post Cold War interventions in general and specifically the agendas of Europe transatlantic security organizations and development agencies Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Multinational Federalism in Bosnia and Herzegovina Soeren Keil,2016-04-15 In 1995 none of the political parties representing the peoples of Bosnia preferred a federal option Yet Bosnia became a federal state highly decentralised and with a complex institutional architecture This solution was imposed on them by international actors as a result of peace negotiations following the Yugoslav wars Political parties in post war Bosnia were not willing to identify with or accept the federation The international community intervened taking over key decisions and so Bosnia and Herzegovina became the first state to experience a new model of federalism namely imposed federalism and a new model of a federal state that of the internationally administered federation By combining comparative politics conflict analysis and international relations theory Soeren Keil offers a unique analysis of federalism in post Dayton Bosnia and Herzegovina By exploring this model of imposed federalism not only does this study greatly contribute to the literature on developments in Bosnia and Herzegovina it also re evaluates comparative federalism in theory and practice This study also offers important conclusions for similar cases both in the Western Balkans region and the wider world where international involvement and federalism as a method of conflict resolution in diverse societies becomes ever more prevalent and important Shifting Paradigms Hamza Preljević,Muhidin Mulalić,Emir Hadžikadunić,Mustafa Krupalija,2025-08-29 This book offers a comprehensive exploration and analysis of the multifaceted challenges and opportunities facing Bosnia and Herzegovina thirty years after the Dayton Peace Agreement DPA Through a series of thematic chapters the volume delves into the country s complex history socio political dynamics and aspirations for integration Themes such as the legacy of the Dayton Peace Agreement DPA transitional justice collective memory and cultural identity civil society activism nationalism economic development and geopolitical shifts are examined to provide a nuanced understanding of the country s past and present Moreover Shifting Paradigms confronts pressing contemporary issues head on offering fresh perspectives on the refugee crisis the threat of secession in Bosnia and Herzegovina the arms race in the Western Balkans the evolving roles of NATO and the European Union and the ongoing quest for regional integration In advocating for a paradigm shift towards democratization reconciliation regional cooperation and integration the book offers a compelling argument for essential alternatives to persistent cycles of conflict and stagnation Shifting Paradigms serves as a timely and indispensable resource for policymakers scholars practitioners and students alike providing both a critical analysis of the country s challenges and a roadmap for meaningful change Through its holistic approach and forward looking vision the book aims to inspire collective action and solidarity in pursuit of a brighter future for Bosnia and Herzegovina
