Planning Middle Eastern Cities An Urban Kaleidoscope:

Planning Middle Eastern Cities Yasser Elsheshtawy,2004-08-02 Middle Eastern cities cannot be lumped together as a single group Rather they make up the urban kaleidoscope of the title as the diversity of the six cities included here shows They range from cities rich in tradition Cairo Tunis and Baghdad to neglected cities Algiers and Sana a to newly emerging oil rich Gulf cities Dubai The authors are all young Arab scholars and architects local to the cities they describe providing an authentic voice with an understanding no outsider could achieve These contributors move away from an exclusively Islamic reading of Arab cities which they regard as outdated and counterproductive Instead they explore issues of identity and globalization in the context of the struggles and solutions offered by each city from the late nineteenth century to the present day Their focus is on how the built environment has changed over time and under different influences

Planning Middle Eastern Cities ,2004 Planning Middle Eastern Cities Yasser Elsheshtawy,2004-08-02 How did colonial influences change the urban form of the Arab capitals The author here poses and answers many questions on globalisation and the Middle East

Urban Challenges in the Globalizing Middle-East Simona Azzali,Silvia Mazzetto,Attilio Petruccioli,2021-04-20 This publication aims to investigate the nature of social life in public and urban spaces in the cities of the Middle East considering the value of environmental approaches It aims to develop a better understanding of the patterns of social interactions and activities in public places which have been influenced by cultural heritage values Sustainable and livable open spaces can help in improving living conditions in cities Public spaces are relevant as they satisfy many human needs In public spaces people interact and meet people with different cultures and social backgrounds can communicate and learn from each other in social and spontaneous ways However decision makers tend to forget the value of public spaces especially in the absence of a national regulatory framework in emerging globalized cities The book provides a multi disciplinary approach in reading the characteristics and values of public spaces in the emerging cities of the Middle East

Contemporary Urban Landscapes of the Middle East Mohammad Gharipour,2016-03-17 The Middle East is well known for its historic gardens that have developed over more than two millenniums The role of urban landscape projects in Middle Eastern cities has grown in prominence with a gradual shift in emphasis from gardens for the private sphere to an increasingly public function The contemporary landscape projects either designed as public plazas or public parks have played a significant role in transferring the modern Middle Eastern cities to a new era and also in transforming to a newly shaped social culture in which the public has a voice This book considers what ties these projects to their historical context and what regional and local elements and concepts have been used in their design

Urban Violence in the Middle East Ulrike Freitag,Nelida Fuccaro,Claudia Ghrawi,Nora Lafi,2015-03-01 Covering a period from the late eighteenth century to today this volume explores the phenomenon of urban violence in order to unveil general developments and historical specificities in a variety of Middle Eastern contexts By situating incidents in particular processes and conflicts the case studies seek to counter notions of a violent Middle East in order to foster a new understanding of violence beyond that of a meaningless and destructive social and political act Contributions explore processes sparked by the transition from empires Ottoman and Qajar but also European to the formation of nation states and the resulting changes in cityscapes throughout the region

Middle Eastern Societies in the 20th Century Jerzy Zdanowski,2014-10-16 This book provides a comprehensive overview of the last 100 years in the Middle East from the perspective of social history It is apt to date the beginning of the modern Middle East to the industrialization era while it extends its reach into the present Taking its lead from modernization theory this book illustrates past expectations of the present and helps to understand everyday occurrences rather than sensational events It adopts a multi disciplinary perspective and concentrates on the relationship between history and social theory From a historical perspective the categories of social anthropology and social theory are referred to as social mobility urbanization migration cultural change gender identities and the young generation The book addresses the primary issues of importance for the region namely natural and human resources demography and its dynamics family life patriarchy and the emancipation of women class structure and social mobility ethnic and religious minorities migration and its impact on culture and politics refugees problems in historical and contemporary contexts urbanization in the Middle Eastern context the challenges of development and finally the social and political consequences of the Arab Spring

Temporary Cities Yasser Elsheshtawy,2019-03-28 Are Arab Gulf cities the likes of Dubai Abu Dhabi or Doha on their way to extinction Is their fate obsolescence Or are they the model for our urban future Can a city whose very existence is predicated on an imported labour force who build and operate these gleaming urban centres remain a viable urban entity Could the transient nature of this urban model its temporariness and precariousness also be its doom In this wide ranging book Yasser Elsheshtawy takes on these tough but necessary questions aiming to examine the very nature of the Arab Gulf city and whether it can sustain its existence throughout the twenty first century Having lived in the region for more than two decades he researched its marginalized and forgotten urban settings trying to understand how a temporary people can live in a place that inherently refuses to give them the possibility of becoming citizens By being embedded in these spaces and reconciling their presence with his own personal encounters with transience he discovered a resilience and defiance against the forces of the hegemonic city Using subtle acts of resistance these temporary inhabitants have found a way to sustain and create a home to set down roots in the midst of a fast changing and transient urbanity Their stories recounted in this book through case studies and in depth analysis give hope to cities everywhere Transience is not a fait accompli rather the actions of citizens residents and migrants even in the highly restrictive spaces of the Gulf show us that the future metropolis may very well not turn out to be a utopia of the few and a dystopia of the many This could be an illusion but it is a necessary illusion because the alternative is irrelevance making and remaking of its built environment She shows that as China's quest for modernity created a perpetual scarcity as both a social reality and a national imagination the realization of planning ideals was postponed The work unit the socialist enterprise or institute gradually developed from workplace to social institution which integrated work housing and social services The Chinese city achieved a unique geography made up in large part of self contained work units Remaking Chinese Urban Form provides an important reference for academics and students conducting research on China It will be a key source for courses on Asia in architecture urban planning geography sociology and anthropology at both the graduate and undergraduate level The insightful yet accessible introduction to urban China will also be of interest to architects urban designers and planners as well as general audience who wish to learn about contemporary Chinese society Urban Space in Contemporary Egyptian Literature M. Naaman,2016-04-30 An examination of how the space of the downtown served dual purposes as both a symbol of colonial influence and capital in Egypt as well as a staging ground for the demonstrations of the Egyptian nationalist movement Staging the New Berlin Claire Colomb,2013-06-17 This book explores the politics of place marketing and the process of urban reinvention in Berlin between 1989 and 2011 In the context of the dramatic socio economic restructuring processes changes in urban governance and physical transformation of the city following the Fall of the Wall the new Berlin was not only being built physically but staged for visitors and Berliners and marketed to the world through events and image campaigns which featured the iconic architecture of large scale urban redevelopment sites Public private partnerships were set up specifically to market the new Berlin to potential investors tourists Germans and the Berliners themselves The book analyzes the images of the city and the narrative of urban change which were produced over two decades In the 1990s three key sites were turned into icons of the new Berlin the new Postdamer Platz the new government quarter and the redeveloped historical core of the Friedrichstadt Eventually the entire inner city was staged through a series of events which turned construction sites into tourist attractions New sites and spaces gradually became part of the 2000s place marketing imagery and narrative as urban leaders sought to promote the creative city By combining urban political economy and cultural approaches from the disciplines of urban politics geography sociology and planning the book contributes to a better understanding of the interplay between the symbolic politics of representation through place marketing and the politics of urban development and place making in contemporary urban governance International Encyclopedia of Human Geography ,2009-07-16 The International Encyclopedia of Human Geography provides an authoritative and comprehensive source of information on the discipline of human geography and its constituent and related subject areas The encyclopedia includes over 1 000 detailed entries on philosophy and theory key concepts methods and practices biographies of notable geographers and geographical thought and praxis in different parts of the world This groundbreaking project covers every field of human geography and the discipline's relationships to other disciplines and is global in scope involving an international set of contributors Given its broad inclusive scope and unique online accessibility it

Remaking Chinese Urban Form Duanfang Lu,2006-09-27 In this pioneering study of contemporary Chinese urban form Duanfang Lu provides an analysis of how Chinese society constructed itself through the

The Evolving Arab City Yasser Elsheshtawy, 2008-05-27. Today cities of the Arab world are subject to many of the same problems as other world cities, yet too often they are ignored in studies of urbanisation. This collection reveals the contrasts and similarities between older traditional Arab cities and the newer oil-stimulated cities of the Gulf in their search for development and a place in the world order. The eight cities which form the core of the book—Rabat, Amman, Beirut, Kuwait, Manama, Doha, Abu Dhabi, and Riyadh—provide a unique insight into today's Middle Eastern city. Winner of The International Planning History Society (IPHS) Book Prize.

Orienting Istanbul Deniz Göktürk, Levent Soysal, Ipek Tureli, 2010-07-02. Looking at the globalization, urban regeneration, arts events and cultural spectacles, this book considers a city not until now included in the global city debate. Divided into five parts, each preceded by an editorial introduction, this book is an interdisciplinary study of an iconic city—a city facing conflicting social, political and cultural pressures in its search for a place in Europe and on the world stage in the twenty-first century.

Iridescent Kuwait Laura Hindelang, 2021-12-21. Petro-modernity is a local phenomenon essential to the history of Kuwait, while also a global experience and one of the prime sources of climate change. The book investigates petroleum's role in the visual culture of Kuwait to understand the intersecting ideologies of modernization, political representation and oil. The notion of iridescence—the ambiguous yet mesmerizing effect of a rainbow-like color play—serves as an analytical aesthetic concept to discuss petroleum's ambiguous contribution to modernity, both promise of prosperity and destructive force of socio-cultural and ecological environments. Covering a broad spectrum of historical material from aerial and color photography, visual arts, postage stamps and master plans to architecture and also contemporary art from the Gulf, it dismantles petro-modernity's visual legacy.

Architectural Research Addressing Societal Challenges Manuel Jorge Rodrigues Couceiro da Costa, Filipa Roseta, Joana Pestana Lages, Susana Couceiro da Costa, 2019-08-08. The escalating interdependency of nations drives global geopolitics to shift ever more quickly. Societies seem unable to control any change that affects their cities, whether positively or negatively. Challenges are global, but solutions need to be implemented locally. How can architectural research contribute to the future of our changing society? How has it contributed in the past? The theme of the 10th EAAE ARCC International Conference, Architectural Research Addressing Societal Challenges, was set to address these questions. This book, Architectural Research

Addressing Societal Challenges includes reviewed papers presented in June 2016 at the 10th EAAE ARCC International Conference which was held at the facilities of the Faculty of Architecture of the University of Lisbon The papers have been further divided into the following five sub themes a Changing Society In Transit Global Migration Renaturalization of the City Emerging Fields of Architectural Practice and Research on Architectural Education The EAAE ARCC International Conference held under the aegis of the EAAE and of the ARCC is a conference organized every other year in collaboration with one of the member schools universities of those associations alternatively in North America or in Europe

The Making of Hong Kong Barrie Shelton,Justyna Karakiewicz,Thomas Kvan,2013-03 Portrayed as the accidental pioneer of a new kind of urbanism Hong Kong s evolution is traced from its pre colonial and colonial origins to the contemporary vertical and volumetric metropolis of towers podia and towers decks bridges escalators and other components of multi level city living

The Settlement Patterns of Britain Nick Green,2022-06-08 In writing The Settlement Patterns of Britain Nick Green was inspired by the short story genre His book is a collection of eight non fiction short stories or essays where the characters are the places some of which appear more than once usually as bit part players occasionally as the main protagonist Preceded by a prologue describing Britain s prehistory as a European peninsula each essay covers a fixed period in the history of the development of Britain s settlement patterns sometimes long more often quite short beginning around 2 500 BC and ending about one hundred years in the future Nick Green chose those periods that are particularly instructive in revealing how settlement patterns come to exist in the form they do and how they might develop in the future Settlement patterns are not just about where a place is but about how that place relates to others They wax and wane with circumstance and around each settlement s fixed core the patterns of living and working shift constantly driven by forces beyond the control of any individual town or city or village From Bronze Age communities to computer simulations from the mediaeval wool trade to the hyper networked society from Viking invasions to the post industrial era the essays cover a broad sweep of history They appear in chronological order but are not intended to provide a continuous linear historical narrative nor do they each essay is freestanding so they can be read in whatever order the reader prefers

Unfinished Places: The Politics of (Re)making Cairo's Old Quarters Gehan Selim,2016-11-10 The Emerging Politics of Re making Cairo s Old Quarters examines postcolonial planning practices that aimed to modernise Cairo s urban spaces The author examines the expanding field of postcolonial urbanism by linking the state s political ideologies and systems of governance with methods of spatial representations that aimed to transform the urban realm in Cairo Adopting an interdisciplinary approach the study draws on planning history and politics to develop a distinctive account of postcolonial planning in Cairo following Egypt s 1952 revolution The book widely connects the ideological role of a different type of politicised urbanism practised during the days of Nasser Sadat and Mubarak and the overarching policies institutions and attitudes involved in the visions for re building a new nation in Egypt By examining the notion of remaking urban spaces the study interprets the ambitions and powers of state policies for improving the spatial qualities of Cairo's old districts since the early 20th century. These acts are situated in their spatial, political, and historical contexts of Cairo's heterogeneous old quarters and urban spaces, particularly the remaking of one of the city's older quarters named Bulaq Abul Ela, established during the Ottoman rule in the thirteenth century. It therefore writes in a chronological sequence a narrative through time and space, connecting various layers of historical and contemporary political phases for remaking Bulaq. The endeavor is to explain this process from a spatial perspective in terms of the implications and consequences, not only on places but also on the people's everyday practices. By deeply investigating the problems and consequences, the strengths and weaknesses, and the state's reliability to achieve the remaking objectives, the book reveals evidence that shifting forms of governance had anchored planning practices into a narrow path of creativity and responsive planning.

Urban Recovery Howayda Al-Harithy, 2021-05-19. This book calls for re-conceptualising urban recovery by exploring the intersection of reconstruction and displacement in volatile contexts in the Global South. It explores the spatial, social, artistic, and political conditions that promote urban recovery. Reconstruction and displacement have often been studied independently as two different processes of physical recovery and human migration towards safety and shelter. It is hoped that by intersecting or even bridging reconstruction with displacement, we can cross-fertilize and exploit both discourses to reach a greater understanding of the notion of urban recovery as a holistic and multi-layered process. This book brings multidisciplinary perspectives into conversation with each other to look beyond the conflict-related displacement and reconstruction and into the greater processes of crises and recovery. It uses empirical research to examine how trauma, crisis, and recovery overlap, coexist, collide, and redefine each other. The core exploration of this edited collection is to understand how the oppositional framing of destruction versus reconstruction and place-making versus displacement can be disrupted, how displacement is spatialized, and how reconstruction is extended to the displaced people rebuilding their lives, environments, and memories in new locations. In the process, displacement is framed as agency, the displaced as social capital, post-conflict urban environments as archives, and reconstructions as socio-spatial practices. With local and international insights from scholars across disciplines, this book will appeal to academics and students of urban studies, architecture, and social sciences, as well as those involved in the process of urban recovery.
