Planning Jerusalem The Master Plan For The Old City Of Jerusalem:

Planning Jerusalem Aryeh Sharon, 1974 The Ministry of the Interior and the Municipality of Jerusalem have together embarked on a masterplan for the Old City designed to preserve its unique values status and treasure past and present While taking account of modern urban needs this plan seeks meticulously to safeguard the spirit the character and the sites of antiquity of this remarkable city Introduction Planning Jerusalem Aryeh Sharon, 1974 Planning Jerusalem: the Master Plan for the Old City of Jerusalem and Its Environs Ariel Sharon, Planning Jerusalem Dăwid Anațol Brûșqûs, Chava Mordohovich, Eldar Sharon, 1973 Arieh Sharon and Modern Architecture in Israel Eran Neuman, 2023-11-30 Arieh Sharon and Modern Architecture in Israel Building Social Pragmatism offers the first comprehensive survey of the work of Arieh Sharon and analyzes and discusses his designs and plans in relation to the emergence of the State of Israel A graduate of the Bauhaus Sharon worked for a few years at the office of Hannes Mayer before returning to Mandatory Palestine There he established his office which was occupied in its first years in planning kibbutzim and residential buildings in Tel Aviv After the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948 Arieh Sharon became the director and chief architect of the National Planning Department where he was asked to devise the young country's first national masterplan Known as the Sharon Plan it was instrumental in shaping the development of the new nation During the 1950s and 1960s Sharon designed many of Israel's institutions including hospitals and buildings on university campuses This book presents Sharon's exceptionally wide range of work and examines his perception of architecture in both socialist and pragmatist terms It also explores Sharon's modernist approach to architecture and his subsequent shift to Brutalist architecture when he partnered with Benjamin Idelson in the 1950s and when his son Eldar Sharon joined the office in 1964 Thus the book contributes a missing chapter in the historiography of Israeli architecture in particular and of modern architecture overall This book will be of interest to researchers in architecture modern architecture Israel studies Middle Eastern studies and migration of knowledge Planning Jerusalem, 1973 Physical Planning Prospects in Israel During 50 Years of Statehood Elisha Efrat, 1998 The Planning and Building of the Hebrew University, 1919-1948 Diana Dolev, 2016-03-08 Since the construction of the first Holy Temple on Mount Moriah in Jerusalem in 957 BCE the site became one of the holiest places for Jews Christians and Muslims around the world Once the Dome of the Rock was built during early Islam the edifice replaced the temple and for centuries pilgrims travelers and locals would climb up to the Mount Scopus summit for the magnificent view it afforded Hence planning and building an institute of national importance on Mount Scopus could not disregard the implications of that view of the Temple Mount in terms of beauty religious sentiments and the link to a historic golden age The Planning and Building of the Hebrew University 1919-1948 Facing the Temple Mount traces for the first time the history of the construction of this highly significant Zionist enterprise It follows the years of the British Mandate rule over Palestine bookended between the Ottoman Empire government and Israel's independence an era of great changes in the area Jerusalem in particular In the three decades between 1919 and 1948 five different master plans were drawn up for the university though none of them were fully implemented Only seven buildings were designed and fully completed Each plan and building presented an interpretation of a university conception that also related to prevailing styles and ideological trends Underlying each one were intricate power struggles donors wishes and architectural concerns Internationally famous town planners and architects such as Patrick Geddes and Erich Mendelsohn took part in designing the campus The book also reveals comparatively unknown architects and their contribution to the campus

The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places Wendy Pullan, Maximilian Sternberg, Lefkos Kyriacou, Craig Larkin, Michael Dumper, 2013-11-20 The Struggle for Jerusalem's Holy Places investigates the role of architecture and urban identity in relation to the political economy of the city and its wider state context seen through the lens of the holy places Reflecting the broad disciplinary backgrounds of the authors this book provides perspectives from architecture urbanism and politics and provides in depth investigations of historical ethnographic and policy related case studies The research is substantiated by fieldwork carried out in Jerusalem over the past ten years as part of the ESRC Large Grants project Conflict in Cities By analysing new dynamics of radicalisation through land seizure the politicisation of parklands and tourism the strategic manipulation of archaeological and historical narratives and material culture and through examination of general appropriation of Jerusalem's varied rituals memories and symbolism for factional uses the book reveals how possibilities of co existence are seriously threatened in Jerusalem Shedding new light on the key role played by everyday urban life and its spatial settings for any future political agreements about the city and its religious sites this book is a useful reference work for students and scholars of Middle East Studies Architecture Religion and Urban Studies

The Changing Middle Eastern City G.H. Blake, R.I. Lawless, 2016-03-22 The Middle East defined here as extending from Morocco to Iran and Turkey to Sudan lies at the crossroads of three continents Africa Asia and Europe With the largest reserves of petroleum in the world its importance is well beyond its physical size and population Rapid urban growth has radically transformed Middle Eastern society in recent decades but the associated problems are incompletely understood This volume first published in 1980 highlights some of the major issues of Middle Eastern urbanisation and provides a comprehensive statement about the current position of research Urban origins and the nature of urban growth are discussed to provide a background to considerations of migration employment housing and retailing The contributors suggest that planning strategies have hitherto proved inadequate with small towns being largely overlooked historic quarters rapidly disappearing and water in short supply Future research into all these problem areas is considered essential but the research must be coordinated and utilised Concentrating on practical problems achievements and challenges for research the contributions in this book specially commissioned from active researchers in the field will prove a valuable guide to recent ideas and developments in the Middle East

Politics and Planning in the Holy City Gedalia Auerbach,Ira Sharkansky,2011-12-31 Jerusalem is not just another city that illustrates the conflict between interests of professional planners and competing political perspectives It is the Holy City with a history of some 3 000 years Moreover numerous layers of historical remains have importance for intense and competitive religious and national interests Israelis claim it as the capital of their country and Palestinians want it or part of it as the capital of their not yet created state Jerusalem is also a place where more than 700 000 people live and the center of a metropolitan area with more than twice that number Along with religious and national interests there are the customary conflicts between what various groups property developers politicians professional planners neighborhood residents and environmental activists want to do with the land Politics and Planning in the Holy City describes and analyzes the tensions between politics and planning The authors tackle the economic social and political contexts that shape conflicts Such problems include deciding what should be called Jerusalem and difficulties surrounding the construction of a defense barrier to protect Israelis from Palestinian terrorists in the framework of a multicultural city where 30 to 40 percent of its residents are Palestinians There is dissent over locating rail lines to the city as some interests want them here there or nowhere and over building a light rail line within a city already crowded and beset with conflicting interests The creation of a football stadium is another venue for conflict as many religious Jews view sports as a threat to their way of life Issues include locating a site for housing new immigrants as few Jerusalemites want large numbers of newcomers in their neighborhoods and deciding which sites merit preservation in a city with many deserving candidates but severely limited resources This volume will attract urban specialists as well as those concerned with larger political issues

The Core Issues of the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict Moshe Elad,2024-02-06 The Core Issues of the Israeli Palestinian Conflict goes beyond surface level analysis delving into the root causes and deeply entrenched narratives that have hindered the quest for lasting peace The book explores the territorial disputes identity struggles religious tensions and competing national aspirations that have shaped the conflict's trajectory over the years. Moreover, it dissects the impact of external influences, regional dynamics, and international interventions, providing a nuanced understanding of the broader context in which the Israeli-Palestinian conflict persists. This thought-provoking and meticulously researched book presents a balanced and comprehensive examination of the core issues at the heart of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. By shedding light on the complex historical, political, and social factors, it offers readers a deeper understanding of the conflict's multifaceted nature and offers valuable insights into potential paths toward reconciliation.

Three Capitals for Two States Carl David Dick, 2011-10-06 This study argues that there are historical reasons to focus on Jerusalem first and to use an international Holy Basin methodology to bring Israel and the Palestinian National Authority together toward a workable compromise. This analysis identifies the strategic compromises required to create two distinct capital zones that grant sovereignty and legitimacy over respective capitals for the state of Israel and a future state of Palestine. In terms of religion and national identity, Jerusalem is a central factor for both Israelis and Palestinians, to the people of three world religions, and to the international community. The critical factors to achieve compromise are sovereignty over their respective capitals combined with international recognition and possible international control over remaining contested holy places. Resolving the city's role as a national capital for two states can lead to resolving other critical Arab-Israeli issues. The international community has perpetuated the conflict by withholding Jerusalem sovereignty from Israel and the Arab population. When Britain ended their Palestine mandate in 1948, the UN failed to deliberately enforce their vision of a separate Jerusalem entity or corpus separatum. The UN continued to withhold sovereignty while the city was divided for nineteen years between Jordan and Israel, and when the city was reunited in 1967. The lack of an international mandate for sixty-four years while fighting for utopian concepts has perpetuated the conflict by delaying the self-determination of the Palestinian population and withholding sovereignty over Israel's declared capital. Peace negotiations must recognize and incorporate the interests of both sides, but until each side is ready to strictly divide the Old City, an international Holy Basin zone has the potential to create a new reality while moving incrementally from confrontation to cooperation.

Emplaced Resistance in Palestine and Israel Marion Lecoquierre, 2021-11-18 The Israeli-Palestinian conflict gravitates constantly around the question of territorial control due to the settler colonial principle present at the core of the Zionist project. Acknowledging space as a central tool of domination used by the Israeli authorities, this volume sheds light on the way space can become both a resource for and an outcome of protest, with an emphasis placed on the way it is used and produced through practices of resistance by subaltern groups. The research relies on a comparative approach, relying on data collected in the course of fieldwork conducted between 2012 and 2015 in Palestine and Israel. It focuses on three sites of contention which include the H2 area in Hebron, the occupied Old City under Israeli authority, the core neighbourhoods of Silwan, Wadi Hilwe, and al-Bustan, and the unrecognized Bedouin village of al-Araqib in the Negev desert. Through these three case studies, the book tackles different strategies that engage with the materiality of space, place, sense of place territory landscape network and scale showing the mobilization of a real spatial repertoire of contention The different regimes of control give rise to strategies that are first and foremost emplaced i e rooted in the local Providing an original comparison between flashpoints of the Palestinian resistance against the Israeli politics of dispossession and expulsion the book is a key resource for scholars and readers interested in political geography political science sociology and the Israel Palestine conflict     The Architectural Review ,1919     Rethinking Statehood in Palestine Leila H.

Farsakh,2021-10-26 The quest for an inclusive and independent state has been at the center of the Palestinian national struggle for a very long time This book critically reexamines this quest by exploring the meaning of Palestinian statehood and the challenges that face alternative models to it today Rethinking Statehood in Palestine gives prominence to a young set of diverse Palestinian scholars both men and women to show how notions of citizenship sovereignty and nationhood are being currently rethought within the broader context of decolonization Bringing forth critical and multifaceted engagements with what Palestinian self determination entails within a larger regional context this groundbreaking book sets the terms of debate for the future of Palestine beyond partition     Archaeology and Biblical Interpretation John R.

Bartlett,2002-01-04 The contributors in this book use the most recent research in key areas the early settlements of Israel early Israelite religion Qumran Jerusalem early Christian churches to show that ancient writings and modern archaeology can illuminate each other but only when used with professional care The essays represent a new generation of archaeologists and historians with new social political and religious concerns who draw a fresh and vital picture of the emergence of ancient Israel     Reference Services Review ,1973     Understanding the City John Eade,Christopher Mele,2011-07-15 This cutting edge multi disciplinary analysis looks ahead to the direction which urban studies is likely to take during the twenty first century
