The Ties That Bind Us: Recapturing the African-American Community from Inside Out Jimmy D. McCamey Jr. Ph.D., 2016-10-26 Writing a book can never be something that just happens It takes time dedication and persistence to complete such a huge task Being a full time employee business owner father uncle mentor friend and so many other things to many it would have not been possible to complete this task without the support of my family friends colleagues and employees at the number of agencies universities and colleges I was afforded an opportunity to work with over the years Each of you continued to inspire my writings and study of politics social justice community education African American culture and poverty issues Finally I give a special thanks to my two sons Jimmy Dawson McCamey III and Jamey Lawson McCamey who inspired me to write about black boys black families and the black community

Child Mental Health Practice from the Ecological Perspective Richard L. Munger, 1991 The ecological perspective is a contextual approach which works at the interface between families and the broader ecology or ecosystem of the child the approach is not new but has not been widely adopted due to the lack of illustrative material available for practitioners Through an approach more descriptive and explanatory than empirical the author shows the clinician or other child care professional why the child's environment is crucial and provides techniques to draw people in the child's environment into the healing process

CHALLENGES AND PROSPECTS IN AFRICAN EDUCATION SYSTEMS SOJI ONI (Ph.D.), 2013 Challenges and Prospects in African Education System The general idea this book is trying to disseminate is to inform readers about the compelling challenges and prospects in African system of education As we all know when issues of Africa educational system is raised the first set of thoughts that come to mind is decline in standard deterioration of facilities examination malpractices cult crises or school based violence shortage of teachers underqualified teachers and poor teachers performance which results in poor learning standards lack of classroom discipline that is exacerbated by insufficient resources and inadequate infrastructure failure of appropriate inspection and monitoring and confusion caused by changing curricula without proper communication and training All these have led to massive demoralization and disillusionment among teachers and a negative and worsening perception of African system of education This therefore calls for in depth analysis aimed at tutoring every stakeholder in education on how their action and inactions have individually and collectively contributed to the collapsing state of education in Africa However the prospect is that Africa's recovery and sustainable development can only be guaranteed through expansion and sustenance of both quantitative and qualitative of the continent's stock of human capital through education. In order for education to realize its key role in development it must be provided to the younger segments of African society as quickly as human and financial resources permit with the ultimate goal of developing a comprehensive meaningful and sustainable system of education at all levels and for all age groups. This is the message that this book puts across in the six knitted sections.
