Regional Energy Transitions in Australia Gareth A. S. Edwards, John Wiseman, Amanda Cahill, 2024-12-03 This book provides an accessible and critical appraisal of Australia's regional energy transition initiatives The book begins by situating Australian energy transition in the context of Australian and international debates about climate change and energy transition It then explores how energy transition planning was made possible in Australia's regional energy heartlands even while public transition planning was impossible The authors consider five case studies of key early transition initiatives in the Latrobe Valley Victoria Hunter Valley NSW Central Queensland Queensland Port Augusta South Australia and Collie Western Australia They explore how transition came onto the agenda and outline the key actors decision points and actions The authors critically assess the successes and failures of each initiative drawing out key learnings for other regions The book concludes by evaluating the key cross cutting themes emerging from the five case studies and draws out the lessons they teach about how to achieve a just transition This concise book will be of great interest to students and scholars of energy transitions climate action social justice economic renewal and regional transition challenges and strategies both in Australia and overseas

The Historical Dynamics of Chinese Politics Guangbin Yang,2022-07-02 This book puts forward a new perspective the historical dynamics of Chinese politics for better understanding China s politics which is from the vertical history of China and the dimension of horizontal world politics combining the historical analysis of how Chinese politics has come along the way and the comparative analysis of China s governance achievements in world politics Based on this premise this book attempts to explain the democratic discourse of contemporary Chinese political logic The historical dynamics of Chinese politics comes from long term communication between the author and Western scholars which may help the global audience to understand China s politics from all angles

Self-Sufficiency and Sustainable Cities and Regions Eduardo Medeiros,2024-11-13 The concept of self sufficiency involves the notion of sustainable circular and carbon neutral cities This book examines how urban planning can lead to greater self sufficiency It sheds light on how urban and regional circular and self sufficiency development can effectively contribute towards the ultimate goals of the United Nations UN Agenda 2030 and the European Union EU Green Deal It not only embraces the scientific fields of regional and urban studies but also addresses environmental sustainability related and regional resilience aspects such as renewable energy production sustainable mobility and the circular economy This book offers a full toolkit of knowledge on how to effectively implement planning approaches for circular and self sufficiency development at both urban and regional levels It begins by presenting a theoretical framework and debate on urban and regional planning approaches that can effectively make cities and regions circular and self sufficient in certain development domains such as producing intra city electric energy sustainable mobility and promoting a circular economy Further it advances a range of policy development proposals aiming at providing a comprehensive introduction to contemporary thinking about how cities and regions can design innovative planning and governance processes and where appropriate build capacity to implement systemic and integrated climate neutral policies building on existing place based territorial capital and experiences developed by local and regional networks The chapters are written by established authors in their respective domains This book will thoroughly prepare students and provide knowledge to academics researchers and policymakers in the fields of urban and regional planning development and studies environmental sustainability regional resilience human geography economic development and public EU UN policies

Governing Metropolitan Regions in the 21st Century Donald Phares,2015-01-28 While government provides the structure of public leadership governance is the art of public leadership This timely book examines current trends in metropolitan governance issues It analyzes specific cases from thirteen major metropolitan regions in the United States Canada and Mexico all woven together by an overall framework established in the first three chapters The distinguished contributors address such governance issues as city county consolidation local federal coordination annexation and special districting and private contracting with special attention to lessons learned from both successes and failures As urban governance innovations have clearly outpaced urban government structures in recent years the topics covered here are especially relevant

Locally Available Energy Sources and Sustainability Antonio Colmenar Santos, David Borge Diez, Enrique Rosales Asensio, 2020-06-17 Renewable energy is electricity generated by fuel sources that restore themselves over a short period of time and do not diminish Although some renewable energy technologies impact the environment renewables are considered environmentally preferable to conventional sources and when replacing fossil fuels have significant potential to reduce greenhouse gas emissions This book focuses on the environmental and economic benefits of using renewable energy which include i generating energy that produces no greenhouse gas emissions from fossil fuels and reduces some types of air pollution ii diversifying energy supply and reducing dependence on imported fuels and iii creating economic development and jobs in manufacturing installation and more Local governments can dramatically reduce their carbon footprint by purchasing or directly generating electricity from clean and renewable sources The most common renewable power technologies include solar photovoltaic PV solar thermal wind biogas e g landfill gas wastewater treatment digester gas geothermal biomass low impact hydroelectricity and emerging technologies such as wave and tidal power Local governments can lead by example by generating energy on site purchasing green power or purchasing renewable energy Using a combination of renewable energy options can help to meet local government goals especially in some regions where availability and quality of renewable resources vary Options for using renewable energy include generating renewable energy on site using a system or device at the location where the power is used e g PV panels on a state building geothermal heat pumps biomass fueled combined heat and power and purchasing renewable energy from an electric utility through a green pricing or green marketing program where buyers pay a small premium in exchange for electricity generated locally from green power resources

Handbook of Regional and Urban Economics Gilles Duranton, Vernon Henderson, William Strange, 2015-06-29 Developments in methodologies agglomeration and a range of applied issues have characterized recent advances in regional and urban studies Volume 5 concentrates on these developments while treating traditional subjects such as housing the costs and benefits of cities and policy issues beyond regional inequalities Contributors make a habit of combining theory and empirics in each chapter guiding research amid a trend in applied economics towards structural and quasi experimental approaches Clearly distinguished from the New Economic Geography covered by Volume 4 these articles feature an international approach that positions recent advances within the discipline of economics and society at large Emphasizes advances in applied econometrics and the blurring of within and between cities Promotes the integration of theory and empirics in most chapters Presents new research on housing especially in macro and international finance contexts 'Whither regional studies?' Andy Pike,2013-09-13 Regional studies are at a vibrant conjuncture Regions continue to provide a conceptual and analytical focus for often overlapping concerns with economic social political cultural and ecological change In the context of increased interest in inter and multi disciplinary approaches regions remain an arena in which synthesis across disciplines economics geography planning politics and sociology can take place Yet recent work has raised fundamental questions about how we think about and research regions and regional change development governance and regulation First emergent conceptual ideas have introduced new thinking about space place and scale that interprets regions as unbounded relational spaces This work has disturbed notions of regions as bounded territories and questioned hierarchical systems of scale through more complex multi scalar approaches Second research methodology has grown in sophistication and sensitivity but remains somewhat polarised between the binaries of positivist often quantitative and more theoretically diverse typically qualitative approaches Last regional governance policy and politics are wrestling with the conceptual methodological and political complexities of new modes and geographies of governance and emergent multi agent and multi level institutional architectures This book brings together important voices in regional studies to contribute to and reflect upon these current issues and debates While we are at an early stage in beginning to think through what such conceptual theoretical methodological governance policy and political innovations and developments mean for regional studies the magnitude and resonance of such issues underpin the vitality of research on the region This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies Pacific Northwest electric power supply and conservation act United States.

Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources,1979 The Decline of Regionalism in Putin's Russia J.

Paul Goode,2011-05-11 This book reassesses Putin s attempt to reverse the decentralization of power that characterised centre regional relations in the 1990s focusing on regional responses to Putin s federal reforms It explains the decline of regionalism after 2000 in terms of the dynamics of regional boundaries understood as the juridical boundaries which demarcate a region s territorial extent and its resources institutional boundaries that sustain regional differences and cultural boundaries that define the ethnic or technocratic principles on which a region could claim legitimate existence The book questions the conventional wisdom regarding the success of Putin s regime It shows how regional governors responded not by attempting to deflect the reforms with outright resistance but by mimicking Putin s centralisation of power at the regional level In turn this facilitated the homogenisation of regional political regimes and regional mergers The book demonstrates how the reordering of regions advanced sporadically how pockets of resistance persist and how the potential for the revival of regionalism continues China's Pan-Pearl River Delta Anthony G. O. Yeh,Jiang Xu,2010-06-01 Cities and regions in Asia are facing problems that cannot be adequately managed by traditional urban planning Competition and local protectionism have often hindered infrastructural development and regional integration In southern China an area embracing one fifth of China and one third of its population the economies and societies of nine provinces together with

Hong Kong and Macao face many barriers to regional collaboration Fiscal regulatory conflicts land and housing reform and bottlenecks in immigration and transport have stymied efforts to develop infrastructure that could spur economic growth and greater prosperity for the entire region This book examines regional integration and its barriers in southern China in a comparative framework using perspectives on development and globalization from Europe and North America With its contributions from leading researchers and practitioners in the field the book will appeal to students academics and policymakers interested in urban and regional planning geography sociology public administration and development studies Anthony G O Yehis chair professor and head of the Department of Urban Planning and Design and director of the Centre of Urban Studies and Urban Planning the University of Hong Kong Jiang Xuis assistant professor in the Department of Geography and Resource Management the Chinese University of Hong Kong A timely and much needed volume on a region of growing importance Supported by helpful maps and charts this collection discusses the theory challenges and practice of development in an area comprising nearly a third of China s population The comparative framework drawing on experiences from Europe and the United States is particularly valuable Linda McCarthy co author of Urbanization An Introduction to Urban Geography
