Regions State And Identity In Central And Eastern Europe:

Region, State and Identity in Central and Eastern Europe Judy Batt, Kataryna Wolczuk, 2013-01-11 The papers that comprise this collection examine the role of competing European national ethnic and regional identities over the introduction of new regional levels of government in the former Soviet and now Central and Eastern European states

Region, State, and Identity in Central and Eastern Europe Judy Batt, Kataryna Wolczuk, 2002 Post communist state transformations in Central and Eastern Europe have been accompanied by an upsurge of identity politics as newly independent peoples sought to redefine themselves and their place in Europe National unity has proved elusive in practice as new democracies have debated constitutional and territorial administrative changes to prepare for the challenges of returning to Europe while at the same time integrating diverse historical regions and ethnic minorities The case of regional reform and resurgent regional politics presented in this volume highlight the divergent concepts of statehood which have emerged as Central and East Europeans struggle to come to terms with the meaning of their statehood today Competing models have been advocated in terms of their perceived conformity with national or local traditions and wider trends in modern European governance but local interests and identities have challenged this emphasis on the imperatives of sovereignty territorial unity and administrative efficiency The contributors investigate these pressing issues as new and tougher controls are enforced at the EU's emerging external borders posing fresh challenges to national regional and minority identities

The New World Architecture Jose Magone, 2017-07-28 The collapse of the bipolar world sustained by the United States and the former Soviet Union led to a power vacuum in the 1990s that the European Union has only reluctantly begun to fill It is under pressure to take over important international tasks and roles in order to develop a new equilibrium in the system of international relations After 2000 reforms were undertaken so that the European Union could deal more efficiently with the tasks the new political system had acquired since the early 1990s With respect to its international role reorganization of the EU's external relations department was high on the list The New World Architecture explores the contribution that the European Union is making to the emerging global governance system It discusses the theoretical and historical aspects of European integration within the framework of the emerging regional EU and global governance systems It explores three regimes of governance that are contributing to holding together the new emerging EU multilevel governance system None of these is complete all are partial They include the political regime of governance the socioeconomic regime of governance and the territorial regime of governance The author assesses the impact of the European Union on global politics The Mediterranean and Latin America represent regions in which the European Union is investing considerable effort in order to create new forms of cooperation Magone argues that within the next twenty five years global governance may and should emerge as the new and reconfigured stable system of international relations In this system the European Union is and will remain the most advanced regional system This volume will be of interest to specialists scholars and students of European Politics and the European Union

National Identity in Serbia Vassilis Petsinis, 2019-12-12 The autonomous province of Vojvodina in Serbia is little known in the English speaking world even though it is a territory of high significance for the development of Serbian national identity Vojvodina s multi ethnic composition and historical experience has also encouraged the formation of a distinct regional identity This book analyses the evolution of Vojvodina s identity over time and the unique pattern of ethnic relations in the province Although approximately 25 ethnic communities live in Vojvodina it is by no means a divided society Intercultural cohabitation has been a living reality in the province for centuries and this largely accounts for the lack of ethnic conflict Vassilis Petsinis explores Vojvodina s intercultural society and shows how this has facilitated the introduction of flexible and regionalized legal models for the management of ethnic relations in Serbia since the 2000s He also discusses recent developments in the region most notably the arrival of refugees from Syria and Iraq and measures the impact that these changes have had on social stability and inter group relations in the province

Ideology and National Identity in Post-communist Foreign Policies Rick Fawn, 2003 This collection of essays examines the extent to which nationalism has replaced communist ideology in the foreign policy of communist states

Law, Culture and Identity in Central and Eastern Europe Cosmin Cercel, Alexandra Mercescu, Mirosław Michał Sadowski, 2023-12-01 Combining insights from comparative legal theory jurisprudence and legal history this collection examines the legal and constitutional identity of Central and Eastern Europe Although the various countries of Central and Eastern Europe have often compared themselves to the West the failure of these countries to engage with one another has resulted in a whole spectrum of legal identities remaining hidden This book takes up a comparison of such identities within the region of Central and Eastern Europe and following from the prima facie similarity between the region s countries given the experience of communism and legal transfers The book thereby illuminates through comparisons the distinct legal identities of the 16 Central and Eastern European states whilst at the same time arguing for a shared Central and Eastern European legal identity This book will appeal to scholars and students in the area of comparative law as well as lawyers political scientists sociologists and historians with particular interests in Central and Eastern Europe

What is Europe? Anna Triandafyllidou, Ruby Gropas, 2022-10-07 This authoritative yet accessible introduction to understanding Europe today moves beyond accounts of European integration to provide a wide ranging and nuanced study of contemporary Europe and its historical development This fully updated edition adds material on recent developments such as Brexit and the migrant and Eurozone crises The concept of Europe is instilled with a plethora of social cultural economic and political meanings Throughout history and still today scholars writing on Europe and politicians involved in national or European politics often disagree on the geographic limits of this space and the defining elements of Europe Europe is therefore first and foremost a concept that takes different shapes and meanings depending on the realm of life on which it is applied and on the historical period under investigation At a given point in time depending on the perspective we adopt and the situation in which we find ourselves Europe may represent very different things Thus we should better talk about Europes in plural What is Europe explores these evolving conceptions of Europe from antiquity to the present This book is all the more timely as Europe responds to the Russian invasion of Ukraine and Britain's departure from the European Union financial slump refugee emergencies and the COVID 19 pandemic This book offers a fully updated introduction to European studies from an interdisciplinary perspective It is a crucial companion to any undergraduate or graduate course on Europe and the European Union The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Political Economy of the Eurozone in Central and Eastern Europe Krisztina Arató, Boglarka Koller, Anita Pelle, 2021-06-30 The idea for this volume came from the enigma that some Central and Eastern European CEE European Union EU member states have been keen to join the Eurozone while others have shown persistent reluctance Moreover the attitudes towards joining have seemingly not correlated with either the level of economic development or the time spent as part of the EU nor with any other rational reason such as the level of integration into the EU real economy or the level of trust in the EU on the part of the public Therefore at first sight the answer to the question why in why out remains rather unclear The attractiveness of the currency union has nevertheless not disappeared for the CEE countries Despite the Eurozone crisis of 2010-13 it was during that time that the Baltic states introduced the euro Then after a few years of inactivity Croatia and Bulgaria successfully applied for membership of the exchange rate mechanism in July 2020 amid the economic crisis caused by the coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic At the same time the three Visegrad countries still using their national currencies Poland Czechia and Hungary no longer have a target date to join the monetary union This volume aims to discuss these issues from horizontal aspects and through country studies with contributions from expert authors from or closely related to the CEE region

Memory, Identity, and Nationalism in European Regions Apryshchenko, Victor, Karnaukhova, Oxana, 2019-04-07 Memory studies is a well established academic discipline but the revised issue of ethnicity poses a new set of research questions particularly in relation to the problem of the operational character of memory and ethnicity in the context of traumatized identity Contemporary political processes in Europe populism and nationalism in addition to ethnic challenges in the form of demographic shifts have created a situation in which new national identities have been developed simultaneously with emerging competitive historical memories Memory Identity and Nationalism in European Regions is an essential scholarly resource that investigates the interactions between politics and managed historical memory and the discourse of ethnicity in European regions Featuring topics such as anthropology memory politics and national identity this book is ideally designed for scholars practitioners specialists and politicians

Religion as Securitization in Central and Eastern Europe András Máté-Tóth, Kinga Povedák, 2024-09-18 Religion as Securitization in Central and Eastern Europe examines the significance of securitization theory as a reference point in understanding current religious socio cultural and political processes in Central and Eastern Europe CEE It explores contemporary social processes and discourses on security linked to religion and religious institutions CEE has experienced many confluences of security issues with religious interpretations and world views For instance the international refugee and migration crisis could not be separated from the counterpoint between Christianity and Islam in political discussions Similarly the debates on LGBT family recognition and the traditional family model are inseparable from the Christian family as a reference point The security needs of the region are particularly acute trigger points which can be instrumentalized by political power In other words the threat sensitivities of collective identity make the region particularly well suited to being a focus of securitization both from the host side and from the discourses that are enforced from above In this volume the authors approach the validity of securitization in relation to religion and religion itself as securitization from a broader perspective They show not only what religious facts and aspects have become threatening in the process of securitization but also that the function of religion in the CEE region can be described and understood primarily as securitization This unique collection of studies offers a comprehensive theoretical and methodological approach while the case studies are drawn from more than seven countries in the region by leading scholars The book will be of interest to scholars from a wide range of disciplines including political science history anthropology and religious studies It will also function as an important introductory work for students to this specific area of research

Social and Economic Development in Central and Eastern Europe Grzegorz Gorzelak, 2019-08-13 The integration of post socialist Central and Eastern Europe into the EU is one of the success stories of European development The region has seen significant economic convergence dramatic changes in socio economic indicators and improvements in the natural environment However some challenges remain such as political divergence public governance issues and population demographics This book identifies and analyses the key post 1990 developments across the New Member States at the sub national and national levels with frequent country level and regional comparisons Careful attention is paid to drawing out commonalities in development trajectories while appreciating each country s unique context Drawing on the academic literature and illuminating empirical material the broad range of topics discussed in the book paints a detailed picture of both change and stability in Central and Eastern Europe It will be valuable reading for advanced students researchers and policymakers in regional studies European studies human geography political economy and transition economics

The (Not So) Surprising Longevity of Identity Politics Timofey Agarin, 2022-04-27 This book assesses the underpinning role references to identity played and continue to play as the powerful mobilising force in domestic politics across the East European region stretching from Estonia to Bulgaria. The EU membership of postcommunist states was to ensure stability, prevent conflict and eventually guarantee equality of all citizens regardless of their political preferences or ethnic identities. However, the promotion of such norms and values has been secondary to consolidation of state institutions and the societies they serve around ethnocentric narratives of states' core ethnic groups. The sequel of financial then refugee crises has further dented the appeal of the EU's norms across the region. Even the rhetoric commitment to respect cultural diversity and human rights has been promptly replaced with references to identity and interests of politically relevant groups. Yet, nativist and populist rhetoric has been the staple of politics since before the EU accession. The chapters in this edited volume zoom in on politics which forge and live off their societies' preoccupation with ethnocentric narratives vesting national identity with persistent relevance and considerable weight across the postcommunist region. The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal East European Politics.

Dynamics of National Identity and Transnational Identities in the Process of European Integration Elena Marushiakova, 2021-02-03. This collection was inspired by the international conference Dynamics of National Identity and Transnational Identities in the Process of European Integration organized by the Balkan Ethnology Department of the Ethnographic Institute and Museum at the Bulgarian Academy of Sciences and realized as project of the European Commission Jean Monnet Action Program for the support of Study and Research Centers. The book opens a debate on the changing notions of identity in the region of Central and Eastern Europe on the base of analysis of social developments influenced by EU accession and EU integration process. The most important aspect is the analysis of processes of breaking up the borders of national identity and transition towards new forms of transnational identities and emerging of consciousness of All European unity. The book has a dual focus on general topics related to the study of national and transnational identities and on the process of European integration. It brings together the work of researchers not only from different parts of Europe from France to Russia but from USA and Asia too. This book is a starting point for East West discussion and brings new knowledge that will be an invaluable contribution to the common European research area. Politics and Security of

Central and Eastern European Economies Marcus Goncalves, Erika Cornelius Smith, 2016-07-25 Nearly seven decades ago six countries in Western Europe Belgium France West Germany Italy Luxembourg and the Netherlands decided to take economic cooperation to the next level The vision of the EU founding states epitomized by the Schuman Declaration in 1950 was to tie their economies so closely together that war would become impossible Robert Schuman author of the plan believed Europe could not be made all at once or according to a single plan It would have to be built through concrete achievements which first create a de facto solidarity The countries within the European Community benefited enormously from free trade and common economic policies in particular structural funds designed to foster convergence by funding infrastructure and investments in poorer regions This book examines how similar transitions and integration into the European Union are experienced in individual central and eastern European states through the use of country scans in the regional blocks of CEE SEE and CIS

Forging Architectural Tradition Dragan Damjanović, Aleksander Łupienko, 2022-03-11 During the nineteenth century a change developed in the way architectural objects from the distant past were viewed by contemporaries Such edifices be they churches castles chapels or various other buildings were not only admired for their aesthetic values but also for the role they played in ancient times and their role as reminders of important events from the national past Architectural heritage often was and still is an important element of nation building Authors address the process of building national myths around certain architectural objects National narratives are questioned as is the position architectural heritage played in the nineteenth and the early twentieth centuries

The Routledge Handbook to Regional Development in Central and Eastern Europe Gábor Lux, Gyula Horváth, 2017-07-06 Twenty five years into transformation Central and Eastern European regions have undergone substantial socio economic restructuring integrating into European and global networks and producing new patterns of regional differentiation and development Yet post socialist modernisation has not been without its contradictions manifesting in increasing social and territorial inequalities Recent studies also suggest there are apparent limits to post socialist growth models accompanying a new set of challenges within an increasingly uncertain world Aiming to deliver a new synthesis of regional development issues at the crossroads between post socialism and post transition this book identifies the main driving forces of spatial restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe and charts the different regional development paths which take shape against the backdrop of post crisis Europe A comparative approach is used to highlight common development challenges and the underlying patterns of socio economic differentiation alike The issues investigated within the Handbook extend to a discussion of the varied economic consequences of transition the social structures and institutional systems which underpin development processes and the broadly understood sustainability of Central and Eastern Europe s current development model This book will be of interest to academics and policymakers working in the fields of regional studies economic geography development studies and policy
