Iskwewak Kah' Ki Yaw Ni

Wahkomakanak Janice Acoose, 2016-02-05 Now in its second edition this groundbreaking work of literary and cultural criticism analyzes representations of Indigenous women in Canadian literature By deconstructing stereotypical images of the Indian princess and easy squaw Janice Acoose calls attention to the racist and sexist depictions of Indigenous women in popular literature Blending personal narrative and literary criticism this revised edition draws a strong connection between the persistent negative cultural attitudes fostered by those stereotypical representations and the missing and murdered Indigenous women in Canada Acoose decolonizes written English by interweaving her own story with reflections on the self determination of her female ancestors and by highlighting influential Indigenous female writers who have resisted cultural stereotypes and reclaimed the literary field as their own This important text urges both Indigenous and non Indigenous people to move beyond words to challenge the harmful attitudes that condone violence against Indigenous women

Thoroughly updated and featuring new photographs questions for critical thought and a discussion of Indigenous women s literary voices that have emerged in the past twenty years the second edition of Iskwewak is an invaluable resource for students and teachers of Indigenous studies women s studies and literature

Ecocriticism of the Global South Scott Slovic, Swarnalatha Rangarajan, Vidya Sarveswaran, 2015-03-24 The vast majority of existing ecocritical studies even those which espouse the postcolonial ecocritical perspective operate within a first world sensibility speaking on behalf of subalternized human communities and degraded landscapes without actually eliciting the voices of the impacted communities Ecocriticism of the Global South seeks to allow scholars from or intimately familiar with underrepresented regions to write back to the world s centers of political and military and economic power expressing views of the intersections of nature and culture from the perspective of developing countries This approach highlights what activist and writer Vandana Shiva has described as the relationship between ecology and the politics of survival showing both commonalities and local idiosyncrasies by juxtaposing such countries as China and Northern Ireland New Zealand and Cameroon Much like Ecoambiguity Community and Development this new book is devoted to representing diverse and innovative ecocritical voices from throughout the world particularly from developing nations The two volumes complement each other by pointing out the need for further cultivation of the environmental humanities in regions of the world that are essentially the front line of the human struggle to invent sustainable and just civilizations on an imperiled planet

Engaged Resistance Dean Rader, 2011-04-01 From Sherman Alexie's films to the poetry and fiction of Louise Erdrich and Leslie Marmon Silko to the paintings of Jaune Quick To See Smith and the sculpture of Edgar Heap of Birds Native American movies literature and art have become increasingly influential garnering critical praise and enjoying mainstream popularity Recognizing that the time has come for a critical assessment of this exceptional artistic output and its significance to American Indian and American issues Dean Rader offers the first interdisciplinary examination of how American Indian artists filmmakers and writers tell their own stories Beginning with rarely seen photographs documents and paintings from the Alcatraz Occupation in 1969 and closing with an innovative reading of the National Museum of the American Indian Rader initiates a conversation about how Native Americans have turned to artistic expression as a means of articulating cultural sovereignty autonomy and survival Focusing on figures such as author director Sherman Alexie Flight Face and Smoke Signals artist Jaune Quick To See Smith director Chris Eyre Skins author Louise Erdrich Jacklight The Last Report on the Miracles at Little No Horse sculptor Edgar Heap of Birds novelist Leslie Marmon Silko sculptor Allen Houser filmmaker and actress Valerie Red Horse and other writers including Joy Harjo LeAnne Howe and David Treuer Rader shows how these artists use aesthetic expression as a means of both engagement with and resistance to the dominant U S culture Raising a constellation of new questions about Native cultural production Rader greatly increases our understanding of what aesthetic modes of resistance can accomplish that legal or political actions cannot as well as why Native peoples are turning to creative forms of resistance to assert deeply held ethical values

Voices of the American Indian Experience James E. Seelye Jr., Steven Alden Littleton, 2012-11-30 In a single source this comprehensive two volume work provides the entire history of American Indians as told by Indians themselves Voices of the American Indian Experience provides unique insights into American Indian history by focusing on Indian accounts instead of on relying on other sources As a result their voices are clearer and readers learn more about Indians directly from Indians rather than through accounts that are filtered diluted and possibly even misinterpreted by an outsider's perspective The volumes comprise a vast and fascinating variety of sources that span creation stories from Native American prehistory to Indians who met the earliest Europeans to visit the Americas all the way through to American Indians who served in recent foreign conflicts in the U S Armed Forces This work provides information that is essential to fully understanding the history of the United States and will be a valuable resource for advanced high school students and college students as well as general audiences with an interest in history or Native American culture

Relation and Resistance Sailaja Krishnamurti, Becky R. Lee, 2021-09-30 In Canada women's bodies are often at the centre of debates about religious pluralism multiculturalism and secularism Women have long played a critical role in building and maintaining diasporic religious communities and networks and they have also been catalysts for change and transformation within religious groups and the wider community Relation and Resistance explores the stories and lives of racialized women connected with religious diaspora communities in Canada Contributors from across disciplines show how women are conceptualizing traditions in transformative ways challenging prevailing assumptions about diasporic religion as nostalgically entrenched in the past The collected essays include chapters on feminist and queer women thinking critically about Hindu and Muslim identities and beliefs and challenging anti Black racism and settler colonialism Afro Caribbean and M tis writers using literature to explore religion and belonging the impact of women s participation in Japanese Chinese and Pakistani transnational religious organizations and marriage migration and gender equality in the Punjabi Sikh and Malayali Christian communities The volume closes with a chapter exploring M tis diasporic experience and inviting readers to think critically about diasporic religion on Indigenous land An innovative and timely volume Relation and Resistance reveals that a deeper understanding of women s experiences of displacement migration race and gender is critical to the study of religion in Canada

Native American Literature Helen May Dennis,2006-11-22 Native American Literature underwent a Renaissance around 1968 and the current canon of novels written in the late twentieth century in American English by Native American or mixed blood authors is diverse exciting and flourishing Despite this very few such novels are accepted as part of the broader American literary canon This book offers a valuable and original approach to contemporary Native American literature Dennis s contemplation of space and spatialized aesthetics is compelling and persuasive Considering Native American literature within a modernist framework and comparing it with writers such as Woolf Stein T S Eliot and Proust results in a valuable and enriching context for the selected texts Vital reading for scholars of Native American Literature this book will also provide good grounding in the subject for those with an interest in American and twentieth century literature more generally

Native Speakers María Eugenia Cotera,2010-01-01 Gloria Anzaldua Book Prize National Women s Studies Association 2009 In the early twentieth century three women of color helped shape a new world of ethnographic discovery Ella Cara Deloria a Sioux woman from South Dakota Zora Neale Hurston an African American woman from Florida and Jovita Gonz lez a Mexican American woman from the Texas borderlands achieved renown in the fields of folklore studies anthropology and ethnolinguistics during the 1920s and 1930s While all three collaborated with leading male intellectuals in these disciplines to produce innovative ethnographic accounts of their own communities they also turned away from ethnographic meaning making at key points in their careers and explored the realm of storytelling through vivid mixed genre novels centered on the lives of women In this book Cotera offers an intellectual history situated in the borderlands between conventional accounts of anthropology women s history and African American Mexican American and Native American intellectual genealogies At its core is also a meditation on what it means to draw three women from disparate though nevertheless interconnected histories of marginalization into conversation with one another Can such a conversation reveal a shared history that has been erased due to institutional racism sexism and simple neglect Is there a mode of comparative reading that can explore their points of connection even as it remains attentive to their differences

These are the questions at the core of this book which offers not only a corrective history centered on the lives of women of color intellectuals but also a methodology for comparative analysis shaped by their visions of the world Adventuring in the Englishes Ikram Ahmed Ibrahim Elsherif, Piers Michael Smith, 2014-10-16 This book is a compilation of articles dealing with linguistic and literary concerns relating to the global production and consumption of literature in English and global instruction and education in the English language The umbrella theme of the book is English Language and Literature in a Globalized World or The Global Appropriation and hybridization of English The contributing authors are international scholars and creative writers from different parts of the world who offer unique perspectives on the ways in which the English language and English literature are constantly developing and changing in a postcolonial global world They are mostly professors of English who have cross cultural teaching experiences and who live or have lived and worked in both Anglophone and non Anglophone countries To many of them English is their dominant language but not the mother tongue All of them are bilingual or even trilingual Thus their scholarly investigations are flavoured with their personal experiences or adventures with the language and its users Their unique visions reveal a process of adoption adaptation reinvention and appropriation of both the language and its literature in a multi national multi cultural and multi lingual community of a world where English has become the most recognizable sign of globalization This book will appeal to all scholars and practitioners of English language and literature particularly those interested in colonial and postcolonial studies modern and post modern studies ethnic and minority studies feminist studies cross cultural studies linguistics semantics ESP and curriculum development this bridge we call home Gloria Anzaldúa, AnaLouise Keating, 2013-10-18 More than twenty years after the ground breaking anthology This Bridge Called My Back called upon feminists to envision new forms of communities and practices Gloria E Anzaldúa and AnaLouise Keating have painstakingly assembled a new collection of over eighty original writings that offers a bold new vision of women of color consciousness for the twenty first century Written by women and men both of color and white this bridge we call home will challenge readers to rethink existing categories and invent new individual and collective identities American Indian Literature Kimberly Wieser-Weryackwe, 2025-07-10 Discover the essential people works movements and themes in American Indian literature American Indian literature is a varied and vibrant collection of Indigenous artistic expression American Indian novelists poets essayists and critics have over the last four centuries asserted powerful forms of intellectual and artistic sovereignty writing in English while building on discrete tribal oral traditions and forms of storytelling This encyclopedia introduces readers to the key historical and contemporary figures in American Indian literature and their defining works From the fiery sermons of Methodist minister William Apess to the Pulitzer Prize winning novel House Made of Dawn by N Scott Momaday to the critically acclaimed and commercially successful novels of Louise Erdrich this book illustrates the indelible and influential imprint American Indians have on the landscape of American letters Readers are also introduced to the key themes and context of American Indian literature exploring how it is inextricable from American literary history the American literary canon and the narrative of American history not on the fringes of the American experience but central to it Native Studies Keywords Stephanie Nohelani Teves, Andrea Smith, Michelle Raheja, 2015-05-21 Native Studies Keywords explores selected concepts in Native studies and the words commonly used to describe them words whose meanings have been insufficiently examined This edited volume focuses on the following eight concepts sovereignty land indigeneity nation blood tradition colonialism and indigenous knowledge Each section includes three or four essays and provides definitions meanings and significance to the concept lending a historical social and political context Take sovereignty for example The word has served as the battle cry for social justice in Indian Country But what is the meaning of sovereignty Native peoples with diverse political beliefs all might say they support sovereignty without understanding fully the meaning and implications packed in the word The field of Native studies is filled with many such words whose meanings are presumed rather than articulated or debated Consequently the foundational terms within Native studies always have multiple and conflicting meanings These terms carry the colonial baggage that has accrued from centuries of contested words Native Studies Keywords is a genealogical project that looks at the history of words that claim to have no history It is the first book to examine the foundational concepts of Native American studies offering multiple perspectives and opening a critical new conversation Indigenizing the Classroom Anna M. Brígido Corachán, 2021-02-04 In the past four decades Native American First Nations Literature has emerged as a literary and academic field and it is now read taught and theorized in many educational settings outside the United States and Canada Native American and First Nations authors have also broadened their themes and readership by exploring transnational contexts and foreign realities and through translation into major and minor languages thus establishing creative networks with other literary communities around the world However when their texts are taught abroad the perpetuation of Indian stereotypes mystifications and misconceptions is still a major issue that non Native readers students and teachers continue to struggle with To counter such distorted representations and neo colonialist readings this book presents a strategic selection of critical case studies that set specific texts within cross cultural contexts wherein Native based methodologies and key concepts are placed at the center of the reading practice The challenging role of teachers and researchers as potential intermediaries and responsible disseminators of what Gayatri C Spivak calls transnational literacy as well as the reception of Native North American works contexts and themes by international readers thus becomes a primary focus of attention This volume provides a set of critical analyses and practical resources that may enable teachers outside the United States and Canada to incorporate Native American First Nations literature and related cultural and historical texts into their teaching practices and current research interests in a creative decolonizing and responsible manner The Routledge Handbook of Ecofeminism and Literature Douglas A.
