Humanities ,1985 James Hogg and British Romanticism Meiko O'Halloran,2016-01-26 This study argues for Hogg s centrality to British Romanticism resituating his work in relation to many of his more famous Romantic contemporaries Hogg creates a unique literary style which the author argues is best described as kaleidoscopic in view of its similarities with David Brewster s kaleidoscope invented in 1816 A History of African Higher Education from Antiquity to the Present Y. G-M Lulat,2005-08-30 This book surveys the history of higher education principally universities in Africa Its geographical coverage encompasses the entire continent from Afro Arab Islamic Africa in the north to the former apartheid South Africa in the south and the historical time span ranges from the Egyptian civilization to the present Since little has been written on this topic particularly its historical component the work fills an important gap in the literature The book delineates the broad contours of the history of higher education in Africa in exceptional historical breadth voluminously documenting its subject in the text detailed footnotes and lengthy appendices Its methodological approach is that of critical historiography in which the location of the African continent in world history prior to the advent of European colonization is an important dimension In addition the book incorporates a historical survey of foreign assistance to the development of higher education in Africa in the post independence era with a substantive focus on the role of the World Bank It has been written with the following readership in mind those pursuing courses or doing research in African studies studies of the African Diaspora and comparative international education It should also be of interest to those concerned with developing policies on African higher education inside and outside Africa as well as those interested in African Islamic history the development of higher education in medieval Europe the contributions of African Americans to African higher education and such controversial approaches to the reading of African history as Eurocentrism and Afrocentrism

God's Heart for Israel (and Us) John Weldon, 2011-07-12 We read God's promises to Israel in the Old Testament where it is referred to as the apple of His eye but is God done with Israel since they rejected their Messiah Are we as Christians supposed to stand for the nation of Israel today Has the Church now replaced Israel so that God's promises and covenants given in the OT no longer apply to Israel What is Israel's global importance Is global anti-Semitism on the rise What will be Israel's ultimate future According to an article in the Jerusalem Post of June 17 2011 Israel is at a do or die moment As was the case in May 1967 when the combined Arab armies gathered with the express purpose of wiping the Jewish state off the map today again Israel is alone in its hour of greatest peril John Weldon is able to answer these questions and address the important issues of our day because of the extensive research he has done on Middle East and America He shares what he has learned in this deeply thought provoking book

Heresy in the University Jacques Berlinerblau, 1999 One of the most controversial books to come out of the academy in the last fifteen years is Martin Bernal's Black Athena It has been a true cause celebre Afrocentrists have both praised the book and claimed that Bernal stole from the work of black scholars to create his study of the Afroasiatic roots of classical civilization Classicists feel passionately about what they perceive as an attack from an outsider on the origins not only of ancient Greece but of their own discipline It seems that everyone has something to say about the book the question is how many really understand it In Heresy in the University Jacques Berlinerblau provides an exegesis of the contents of Black Athena making it accessible to a wider audience As he clarifies and restates Bernal's opus Berlinerblau identifies Bernal's flaws in reasoning and gaps in evidence He cuts to the heart of Bernal's prose singling out the key points of Bernal's argument explaining and arranging them in a cogent manner Berlinerblau addresses the critics' really important objections including his own and links each of them to the appropriate substantive argument in Black Athena He goes beyond simple summary and exposition to present the underlying stated and unstated agendas of Bernal and his critics Ultimately he exposes both sides and asks what the flawed reasoning from all concerned reveals about the stakes in this key academic dispute and what that in turn says about the modern academy Jacques Berlinerblau is an assistant professor and director of Judaic studies at Hofstra University

Dao and Sign in History Daniel Fried,2018-10-29 Provides a new perspective on important linguistic issues in philosophical and religious Daoism through the comparative lens of twentieth century European philosophies of language From its earliest origins in the Dao De Jing Daoism has been known as a movement that is skeptical of the ability of language to fully express the truth While many scholars have compared the earliest works of Daoism to language skeptical movements in twentieth century European philosophy and have debated to what degree early Daoism does or does not resemble these recent movements Daniel Fried breaks new ground by examining a much broader array of Daoist materials from ancient and medieval China and showing how these works influenced ideas about language in medieval religion literature and politics Through an extended comparison with a broad sample of European philosophical works the book explores how ideas about language grow out of a given historical moment and advances a larger argument about how philosophical and religious ideas cannot be divided into content and context Fried combines the disciplines of semiotics with a largely philosophical approach thus offering fresh insights into both disciplines while looking at issues from multiple perspectives Steven Burik author of The End of Comparative Philosophy and the Task of Comparative Thinking Heidegger Derrida and Daoism

Reinventing Ireland Peadar Kirby,Luke Gibbons,Michael Cronin,2002-04-20 Over the last decade the Irish economy has experienced a period of unprecedented growth which has earned it the title Celtic Tiger This success has been interpreted by academic commentators as marking a social and cultural transformation what some have called the reinvention of Ireland The essays in this book challenge the largely positive interpretation of Ireland s changing social order The authors identify the ways in which culture and society have been made subservient to the needs of the market in this new neoliberal Ireland They draw on subversive strands in Irish history and offer a broader and more robust understanding of culture as a site of resistance to the dominant social order and as a political means to fashion an alternative future

Metanoia Adam Ellwanger,2020-02-25 Western culture is in a moment when wholly new kinds of personal transformations are possible but authentic transformation requires both personal testimony and public recognition In this book Adam Ellwanger takes a distinctly rhetorical approach to analyzing how the personal and the public relate to an individual s transformation and develops a new vocabulary that enables a critical assessment of the concept of authenticity The concept of metanoia is central to this project Charting the history of metanoia from its original use in the classical tradition to its adoption by early Christians as a term for religious conversion Ellwanger shows that metanoia involves a change within a person that results in a truer version of him or herself a change in character or ethos He then applies this theory to our contemporary moment finding that metanoia provides unique insight into modern forms of self transformation

Drawing on ancient and medieval sources including Thucydides Plato Paul the Apostle and Augustine as well as contemporary discourses of self transformation such as the public testimonies of Caitlyn Jenner and Rachel Dolezal Ellwanger elucidates the role of language in signifying and authenticating identity Timely and original Ellwanger's study formulates a transhistorical theory of personal transformation that will be of interest to scholars working in social theory philosophy rhetoric and the history of Christianity A History of Anthropological Theory, Sixth Edition Paul A.
