Relative Stranger:

A Relative Stranger Charles Baxter, 2001 Set in the Michigan landscape that Charles Baxter has made his own these thirteen exquisite stories illuminate the often curious connections of relatives and strangers You can't just get a brother off the street says the narrator of the title story but indeed he does In another a woman tries to elude her lover's voice by spending an entire day without words A marriage is jostled by the departure of a friend during a snowstorm Baxter's stories tend to be love stories but it is love tinged with fear even danger where shock comedy and love combine in unexpected ways Book jacket Relative Stranger.., 2008 The American Court System Marilyn McShane, 2020-10-28 Depending on whom one talks to today's criminal courts are either the savior or the demon of our social order While everyone seems to have an answer about what needs to be done the solutions are neither simple nor within our current allocation of resources Media hype and political posturing emotionally dilute the reality of what motivates crime and what constitutes effective punishment The essays and research in this anthology give the reader a realistic view of complex problems affecting our juvenile and adult courts and consequently the rest of the criminal justice system Topics include sentencing disparity sentencing reform and wrongful convictions Some traditionally controversial issues are covered such as the insanity defense and the death penalty as well as the more recent three strikes and your're out movement and mandatory minimums This series will be of great utility to students scholars and others with interests in the literature of criminal justice and criminology A Relative Stranger Anne Stevenson, 1979 In Defence of the Ordinary Dev Nath Pathak, 2021-07-30 A splendid work of art In Defence of the Ordinary returns drama pleasure and awakening to everyday life in the tradition of cultural critics like Ashis Nandy and Umberto Eco The book is one of a kind Prathama Banerjee is a noted historian of the global south and Professor at Centre for the Study of Developing Societies CSDS New Delhi A fl neur of our everyday spheres of life the author excavates the multiple layers of social political and artistic thinking and experimentation with an unparalleled lightness of prose worthy of a Baltheasar Gracien and Georg Lichtenberg Ramin Jahanbegloo is a philosopher and Vice Dean and Director at Mahatma Gandhi Centre for Peace Studies O P Jindal Global University India The book builds an engaging web of thoughts about things which are ordinary but in their very ordinariness hide deep social truths Dev Nath Pathak brings a lightness to his critical eye while reminding us of how much of the ordinary has been forgotten in academic pursuits Sundar Sarukkai is a renowned philosopher and thinker in contemporary India In Defence of the Ordinary is laced with light humour soaked in serious sarcasm and powered with poetic polemics Informed by sources such as psychoanalysis philosophy yoga anthropology popular cinema folk songs and everything that is part of an ordinary living it is a sociologist's sincere ruminations on the layered ordinariness The book invites us to rethink the ways of seeing understanding enacting emoting and relating with provocative ideas like why we don't value ordinariness and how our pursuit of extraordinary is misleading us into mishaps The key objective of the human existence is that of the book too namely awakening the dormant

Investigating the Role of Emotions, Self-Centered Motives, and Social Norms Corrado Corradi-Dell'Acqua, Leonie Koban, Susanne Leiberg, Patrik Vuilleumier, Ernst Fehr, 2016-09-28 Human behavior and decision making is subject to social and motivational influences such as emotions norms and self other regarding preferences The identification of the neural and psychological mechanisms underlying these factors is a central issue in psychology behavioral economics and social neuroscience with important clinical social and even political implications However despite a continuously growing interest from the scientific community the processes underlying these factors as well as their ontogenetic and phylogenetic development have so far remained elusive In this Research Topic we collect articles that provide challenging insights and stimulate a fruitful controversy on the question of what determines social behavior Indeed over the last decades research has shown that introducing a social context to otherwise abstract tasks has diverse effects on social behavior On the one hand it may induce individuals to act irrationally for instance to refuse money but on the other hand it improves individuals reasoning in that formerly difficult abstract problems can be easily solved These lines of research led to distinct although not necessarily mutually exclusive models for socially driven behavioral changes For instance a popular theoretical framework interprets human behavior as a result of a conflict between cognition and emotion with the cognitive system promoting self interested choices and the emotional system triggered by the social context operating against them Other theories favor social norms and deontic heuristics in biasing human reasoning and encouraging choices that are sometimes in conflict with one s interest Few studies attempted to disentangle between these as well as other models As a consequence although insightful results arise from specific domains tasks a comprehensive theoretical framework is still missing Furthermore studies employing neuroimaging techniques have begun to shed some light on the neural substrates involved in social behavior implicating consistently although not exclusively portions of the limbic system the insular and the prefrontal cortex In this context a challenge for present research lies not only in further mapping the brain structures implicated in social behavior or in describing in detail the functional interaction between these structures but in showing how the implicated networks relate to different theoretical models This is Research Topic hosted by members of the Swiss National Center of Competence in Research Affective Sciences Emotions in Individual Behaviour and Social Processes We collected contributions from the international community which extended the current knowledge about the psychological and neural structures underlying social behavior and decision making In particular we encouraged submissions from investigators arising from different domains psychology behavioral economics affective sciences etc implementing different techniques behavior electrophysiology neuroimaging brain stimulations on different populations neurotypical adults children brain damaged or psychiatric patients etc Animal studies are also included as the data reported are of high comparative value Finally we also welcomed submissions of meta analytical articles mini reviews and perspective papers which offer provocative and insightful interpretations of the recent literature in the field Twitch Upon a Star Herbie J
