Rural Energy Services A Handbook For Sustainable Energy Development:

Rural Energy Services Teresa Anderson, 1999 Rural Energy Services addresses the policy market and sustainability aspects of defining and selecting technologies that will meet the demands for energy services by rural villages in a sustainable and reliable way. It offers a participative approach to the supply of energy services with a clear emphasis on the need for energy services putting needs rather than technology first and advocating that rural people above all know what they need and what will work for them. The handbook contains a full survey of energy resources and technologies and covers in detail the issues surrounding the decision making processes involved in the implementation of energy schemes and an exploration of the policy market and sustainability issues which are vital to the success of a scheme. The last section contains real case studies covering projects which meet the energy service needs of rural people across the world today. The book was written as a resource for a series of workshops commissioned by the British Council and the UK Department for International Development and provided the basis for workshops in countries such as Uganda, Brazil and India. Governmental and non governmental energy strategists, donors, international and national development agencies, academics and financial institutions with responsibility for investment strategy will find this practical handbook highly valuable in their work. Renewable Energy Dirk Assmann, 2012-05-16 offers knowledge and inspiration to promote renewable energy in developing and industrialized countries. Klaus Toepfer, Executive Director of UNEP, from technology to financing issues. Renewable Energy offers a comprehensive and authoritative review of the determining factors that drive worldwide dissemination of renewable energy technologies. With a clear emphasis on policy and action, contributions from internationally renowned experts combine to form a holistic picture of the current status, impacts and future potential of renewable energy. Addressing the situation in both developing and developed countries, each chapter reviews in detail a different issue to present extensive information on social, environmental, political, economic and technological aspects. This will be essential reading for professionals in renewable energy, in particular policy makers, researchers, NGOs and energy consultants, and a valuable resource for teachers and students of renewable energy, environmental studies, development studies, political science and international relations.
