Lore Capturing Traditional Environmental Knowledge:

Lore Martha Johnson, 1992 This book examines the process of collecting traditional environmental knowledge while using a participatory action or community based approach It looks at the problems associated with documenting traditional knowledge problems that are shared by researchers around the world and it explores some of the means by which traditional knowledge can be integrated with Western science to improve methods of natural resource management Includes the Dene of the Mackenzie Valley Northwest Territories and the Inuit of Sanikiluaq Belcher Islands Human Ecology Daniel G. Bates, Judith Tucker, 2010-03-29 This book arose from the need to develop accessible research based case study material which addresses contemporary issues and problems in the rapidly evolving field of human ecology Academic political and indeed public interest in the environmental sciences is on the rise This is no doubt spurred by media coverage of climate change and global warming and attendant natural disasters such as unusual drought and flood conditions toxic dust storms pollution of air and water and the like But there is also a growing intellectual awareness of the social causes of anthropogenic environmental impacts political vectors in determining conservation outcomes and the role of local representations of ecological knowledge in resource management and sustainable yield production This is reflected in the rapid increase of ecology courses being taught at leading universities in the fast growing developing countries much as was the case a decade or two ago in Europe and North America The research presented here is all taken from recent issues of Human Ecology An Interdisciplinary Journal Since the journal itself is a leading forum for contemporary research the articles we have selected represent a cross section of work which brings the perspectives of human ecology to bear on current problems being faced around the world The chapters are organized in such a way to facilitate the use of this volume either to teach a course or to introduce an informed reader to the field Research Handbook on the International Law of Indigenous Rights

Newman, Dwight, 2022-04-19 This ground breaking Research Handbook provides a state of the art discussion of the international law of Indigenous rights and how it has developed in recent decades Drawing from their extensive knowledge of the topic leading scholars provide strong general coverage and highlight the challenges and cutting edge issues arising in international Indigenous rights law Disrobing the Aboriginal Industry Frances Widdowson, Albert Howard, 2008-10-24

By examining the root causes of aboriginal problems Frances Widdowson and Albert Howard expose the industry that has grown up around land claim settlements showing that aboriginal policy development over the past thirty years has been manipulated by non aboriginal lawyers and consultants They analyse all the major aboriginal policies examine issues that have received little critical attention child care health care education traditional knowledge and propose the comprehensive government provision of health education and housing rather than deficient delivery through Native self government

Designing Therapeutic Environments Bruno Marques, Jacqueline McIntosh, 2025-04-17 This book draws on the relationship between culture and the environment and its connection with health and well being Therapeutic environments are settings that comprise the physical ecological psychological spiritual and social environments associated with treatment and healing Throughout the chapters the understanding of therapeutic environments is broadened through the exploration of specific Indigenous cultural and social dimensions Case studies comprise a combination of research papers regarding the theoretical and conceptual underpinnings of therapeutic environments and their application following traditional methods This book contributes to the expanding body of knowledge focusing on the role of therapeutic environments and their role in shaping health and well being through the development of new research methods This book is essential for practitioners scholars and students in architecture landscape architecture interior architecture urban design planning geography building science public health and environmental engineering

Sociological Landscape Dennis Erasga, 2012-03-28 More than the usual academic textbook the present volume presents sociology as terrain that one can virtually traverse and experience Each version of the sociological imagination captured by the chapter essays takes the readers to the realm of the taken for granted such as zoological collections food education entrepreneurship religious participation etc and the extraordinary the likes of organizational fraud climate change labour relations multiple modernities etc altogether presumed to be problematic and yet possible Using the sociological perspective as the frame of reference the readers are invited to interrogate the realities and trends which their social worlds relentlessly create for them allowing them in return to discover their unique locations in their cultures social map

Beyond Intellectual Property Darrell Addison Posey, Graham Dutfield, 1996 Cultural property aboriginal people ethnobiology legal status laws Beyond Developmental Debal Deb, 2009 Local Mediterranean Food Plants and Nutraceuticals Michael Heinrich, Walter Erhard Müller, Claudio Galli, I. Elmadfa, 2006 As a result of domestication considered to be the most important cultural development of the past 13 000 years of human history we depend today on a tiny number of domesticated plant and animal species for our food supply Nevertheless people continue to gather food which grows around their homes or they cultivate local varieties of food plants as well as keep land races of domestic animals Generally wild varieties tend to be richer in micronutrients and bioactive secondary metabolites which are produced in adaptation to local environmental conditions These metabolites trigger further adaptive responses by producing protective bioactive compounds which when ingested result in the transfer of protective effects to our organism The preservation of local knowledge for future generations as well as the identification of new nutraceuticals by means of characterizing plant extracts with potential health beneficial effects are the main objectives of this book. The first part therefore focuses on the ethnobotanical study of local food plants in selected regions of the Mediterranean i.e. their use as well as beliefs and cultural practices associated with it. The biological pharmacological effects of these plants on selected mostly in vitro targets of the central nervous system and the cardiovascular system make up the second part highlighting the potential of these plants for developing novel health foods, herbal medicines or local products with beneficial effects on health. Those interested in an integrated approach to the identification of new and health beneficial foods will undoubtedly find this book a valuable source of information and an inspiration for new scientific approaches to this age old topic.
