

Narration and the Fiction Film

- Three approaches to the problem of narrative
 - as representation: considering the story's world or diegesis; its portrayal of reality or its broader meanings.
 - as structure: ways of combining parts to make a whole; segmentation and "grammar" or language of film, e.g. the grande syntagmatique.
 - as process: "the activity of selecting, arranging, and rendering story material in order to achieve specific time-bound effects on a perceiver" (xi).
 - Bordwell's preference for a cognitivist and Constructivist approach to film research.

Narration In The Fiction Film:

Narration in the Fiction Film David Bordwell,1985 Mimetic theories of narration Diegetic theories of narration The viewer's activity Principles of narration Sin murder and narration Narration and time Narration and space Modes and norms Classical narration the Hollywood example Art cinema narration Historical materialist narration the soviet example Parametric narration Godard and narration Narration in the Fiction Film ,1995 Comprehensive account of how movies use narrative Narration in the Fiction Film ,1988 Narration in the Fiction Film David Bordwell,2013-09-27 First Published in 1987 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Invisible Storytellers Sarah Kozloff,1989-11-03 Let me tell you a story each film seems to offer silently as its opening frames hit the screen But sometimes the film finds a voice an off screen narrator for all or part of the story From Wuthering Heights and Double Indemnity to Annie Hall and Platoon voice over narration has been an integral part of American movies Through examples from films such as How Green Was My Valley All About Eve The Naked City and Barry Lyndon Sarah Kozloff examines and analyzes voice over narration She refutes the assumptions that words should only play a minimal role in film that showing is superior to telling or that the technique is inescapably authoritarian the voice of god She questions the common conception that voice over is a literary technique by tracing its origins in the silent era and by highlighting the influence of radio documentaries and television She explores how first person or third person narration really affects a film in terms of genre conventions viewer identification time and nostalgia subjectivity and reliability In conclusion she argues that voice over increases film's potential for intimacy and sophisticated irony Art and the Historical Film Gillian McIver,2022-11-17 Art and the Historical Film provides an important examination of fine art's impact on filmmaking grappling with the question of authenticity From Eugene Delacroix's interpretation of the 1830 French revolution to Uli Edel's version of the Baader Meinhof Gang artistic representations of historical subjects are appealing and pervasive Movies often adapt imagery from art history including paintings of historical events Films and art shape the past for us and continue to affect our interpretation of history While historical films are often argued over for their adherence to the facts their real problem is realism how can the past be convincingly depicted Realism in the historical film genre is often nourished and given credibility by its use of painterly references This book examines how art historical images affect historical films by going beyond period detail and surface design to look at how profound ideas about history are communicated through pictures Art and the Historical Film Between Realism and the Sublime is based on case studies that explore the links between art and cinema including American independent Western Meek's Cutoff Kelly Reichardt 2010 British heritage film Belle Amma Asante 2013 and Dutch national epic Admiral Roel Rein 2014 The chapters create immersive worlds that communicate distinct ideas about the past through cinematography production design and direction as the films adapt reference and transpose paintings by artists such as Rubens Albert Bierstadt and Jacques Louis David The Mind-Game Film Thomas Elsaesser,2021-03-28 This book represents the culmination of Thomas Elsaesser's intense and passionate thinking about the Hollywood mind game film from the previous two decades. In order to answer what the mind game film is, why they exist, and how they function, Elsaesser maps the industrial, institutional challenges and constraints facing Hollywood and the broader philosophic horizon within which American cinema thrives today. He demonstrates how the persistence of Hollywood continues as it has adapted to include new twists and turns, as well as revisions of past concerns, as film moves through the 21st century. Through examples such as Minority Report, Mulholland Drive, Source Code, and Back to the Future, Elsaesser explores how mind game films challenge us and play games with our perception of reality, creating skepticism and self-doubt. He also highlights the mind game film's tendency to intervene in a complex fashion in the political moment by questioning the dominant power's intent to program both body and mind alike. Prescient and compelling, The Mind Game Film will appeal to students, scholars, and enthusiasts of media studies, film studies, philosophy, and politics.

Screening Modernism András Bálint Kovács, 2008-09-15
Casting fresh light on the renowned productions of auteurs like Antonioni, Fellini, and Bresson, and drawing out from the shadows a range of important but lesser-known works, Screening Modernism is the first comprehensive study of European art cinema's postwar heyday. Spanning from the 1950s to the 1970s, András Bálint Kovács's encyclopedic work argues that cinematic modernism was not a unified movement with a handful of styles and themes, but rather a stunning range of variations on the core principles of modern art. Illustrating how the concepts of modernism and the avant-garde variously manifest themselves in film, Kovács begins by tracing the emergence of art cinema as a historical category. He then explains the main formal characteristics of modern styles and forms, as well as their intellectual foundation. Finally, drawing on modernist theory and philosophy along the way, he provides an innovative history of the evolution of modern European art cinema. Exploring not only modernism's origins but also its stylistic, thematic, and cultural avatars, Screening Modernism ultimately lays out creative new ways to think about the historical periods that comprise this golden age of film.

The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory Edward Branigan, Warren Buckland, 2013-12-04
The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an international reference work representing the essential ideas and concepts at the centre of film theory from the beginning of the twentieth century to the beginning of the twenty-first. When first encountering film theory, students are often confronted with a dense, interlocking set of texts full of arcane terminology, inexact formulations, sliding definitions, and abstract generalities. The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory challenges these first impressions by aiming to make film theory accessible and open to new readers. Edward Branigan and Warren Buckland have commissioned over 50 scholars from around the globe to address the difficult formulations and propositions in each theory by reducing these difficult formulations to straightforward propositions. The result is a highly accessible volume that clearly defines and analyzes step by step many of the fundamental concepts in film theory, ranging from familiar concepts such as Apparatus, Gaze, Genre, and Identification to less well-known and understood but equally important concepts such as Alain Badiou's Inaesthetics and Gilles Deleuze's Time

Image and Jean Luc Nancy's Evidence The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an ideal reference book for undergraduates of film studies as well as graduate students new to the discipline Handbook of Narratology Peter Hühn, John Pier, Wolf Schmid, Jörg Schönert, 2009-08-17 This handbook in English provides a systematic overview of the present state of international research in narratology Detailed individual studies by internationally renowned narratologists elucidate 34 central terms The articles present original research contributions and are all structured in a similar manner Each contains a concise definition and a detailed explanation of the term in question In a main section they present a critical account of the major research positions and their historical development and indicate directions for future research they conclude with selected bibliographical references Theorizing Art Cinemas David Andrews, 2013-11-15 The term art cinema has been applied to many cinematic projects including the film d'art movement the postwar avant gardes various Asian new waves the New Hollywood and American indie films but until now no one has actually defined what art cinema is Turning the traditional highbrow notion of art cinema on its head Theorizing Art Cinemas takes a flexible inclusive approach that views art cinema as a predictable way of valuing movies as art movies an activity that has occurred across film history and across film subcultures rather than as a traditional genre in the sense of a distinct set of forms or a closed historical period or movement David Andrews opens with a history of the art cinema super genre from the early days of silent movies to the postwar European invasion that brought Italian Neorealism the French New Wave and the New German Cinema to the forefront and led to the development of auteur theory He then discusses the mechanics of art cinema from art houses film festivals and the academic discipline of film studies to the audiences and distribution systems for art cinema as a whole This wide ranging approach allows Andrews to develop a theory that encompasses both the high and low ends of art cinema in all of its different aspects including world cinema avant garde films experimental films and cult cinema All of these art cinemas according to Andrews share an emphasis on quality authorship and anticommercialism whether the film in question is film festival favorite or a midnight movie Aesthetic Disinterestedness Thomas Hilgers, 2016-12-01 The notion of disinterestedness is often conceived of as antiquated or ideological In spite of this Hilgers argues that one cannot reject it if one wishes to understand the nature of art He claims that an artwork typically asks a person to adopt a disinterested attitude towards what it shows and that the effect of such an adoption is that it makes the person temporarily lose the sense of herself while enabling her to gain a sense of the other Due to an artwork's particular wealth multiperspectivity and dialecticity the engagement with it cannot culminate in the construction of world views but must initiate a process of self critical thinking which is a precondition of real self determination Ultimately then the aesthetic experience of art consists of a dynamic process of losing the sense of oneself while gaining a sense of the other and of achieving selfhood In his book Hilgers spells out the nature of this process by means of rethinking Kant's and Schopenhauer's aesthetic theories in light of more recent developments in philosophy specifically in hermeneutics critical theory and analytic philosophy and within the arts themselves specifically within film and performance art

Inquiries in Philosophical Pragmatics Fabrizio Macagno, Alessandro Capone, 2021-03-19 Together with the first volume Inquiries in philosophical pragmatics Theoretical developments this book collects contributions that represent the state of the art on the interconnection between pragmatics and philosophy While the first volume presents the philosophical dimension of pragmatics showing the path from theoretical advances to practical uses and approaches this second volume offers a specular view on this discipline Instead of adopting the top down view of the first volume this collection of eleven chapters starts from the analysis of linguistic data which include texts and discourses in different languages different types of dialogues different types of interactions and different modes for expressing meaning looking for the regularities that govern our production and processing The chapters are ordered according to their relationship with the themes and methods that define the field of pragmatics The more explored and classical linguistic issues such as prototype based generalizations scalar implicatures and temporal ordering lead gradually to the more recent and debated topic of slurs and pejorative language and finally to the interdisciplinary and more pioneering works addressing specific context of language use such as marketplace interactions courtroom speeches schizophrenic discourse literary texts for children and multimedia communication Chapter 12 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com

The Film Cultures Reader Graeme Turner, 2002 This companion reader to Film as Social Practice brings together key writings on contemporary cinema exploring film as a social and cultural phenomenon

Ostrannenie Annie van den Oever, 2010 Summary Defamiliarisation or ostrannenie the artistic technique of forcing the audience to see common things in an unfamiliar or strange way in order to enhance perception of the familiar has become one of the central concepts of modern artistic practice ranging over movements including Dada postmodernism epic theatre and science fiction as well as our response to arts Coined by the Soviet literary critic Victor Shklovskii in 1917 ostrannenie has come to resonate deeply in film studies where it entered into dialogue with the French philosopher Derrida's concept of difference bordering on differing and deferring Striking provocative and incisive the essays of the distinguished film scholars in this volume recall the range and depth of a concept that since 1917 changed the trajectory of theoretical inquiry

Channels of Discourse, Reassembled Robert Allen, 2010-01-27 Since its original publication in 1987 Channels of Discourse has provided the most comprehensive consideration of commercial television drawing on insights provided by the major strands of contemporary criticism semiotics narrative theory reception theory genre theory ideological analysis psychoanalysis feminist criticism and British cultural studies The second edition features a new introduction by Robert Allen that includes a discussion of the political economy of commercial television Two new essays have been added one an assessment of postmodernism and television the other an analysis of convergence and divergence among the essays and the original essays have been substantially revised and updated with an international audience in mind Sixty one new television stills illustrate the text Each essay lays out the general tenets of its particular approach discusses television as an object of analysis within that critical framework and provides extended examples of the types of analysis produced by that critical approach Case studies range from Rescue 911 and Twin Peaks to soap operas music videos game shows talk shows and commercials Channels of Discourse Reassembled suggests new ways of understanding relationships among television programs between viewing pleasure and narrative structure and between the world in front of the television set and that represented on the screen The collection also addresses the qualities of popular television that traditional aesthetics and quantitative media research have failed to treat satisfactorily including its seriality mass production and extraordinary popularity The contributors are Robert C Allen Jim Collins Jane Feuer John Fiske Sandy Flitterman Lewis James Hay E Ann Kaplan Sarah Kozloff Ellen Seiter and Mimi White

The Films of Joseph Losey James Palmer, Michael Riley, 1993-06-25 The career of the expatriate director is re examined through an analysis of King and Country The Servant Accident The Go Between and the Romantic Englishwoman Concerned with the abuse of power inherent in intimate relationships he examined its manifestations in institutions and social classes as well Wag the Dog: A Study on Film and Reality in the Digital Age Eleftheria Thanouli, 2013-08-01 Wag the Dog is a film that became a media event and a cultural icon because it inadvertently short circuited the distance that is supposed to separate reality and fiction The film's narration challenges the established boundaries between the fiction and nonfiction tradition as Barry Levinson the director embeds his interest in documentary filmmaking and complicates the issue of narrative agency in the way he frames the story The examination of the historical and social context in which it was produced exhibited and received worldwide enables the author to illuminate a series of changes in the way a fiction film reflects and interacts with reality urging us to reconsider some of our central and long standing concepts or even paradigms in film theory Eleftheria Thanouli provides new insights into a series of issues from both classical and contemporary film theory like the conceptual and ontological stakes in the use of digital technology the impact of mass media on public memory and the political role of cinema in a globalized and conglomerated world Narrative in Culture Astrid Erll, Roy

Sommer, 2019-07-08 The collection showcases new research in the field of cultural and historical narratology Starting from the premise of the semantisation of narrative forms A Narrating it explores the cultural situatedness and historical transformations of narrative with contributors developing new perspectives on key concepts of cultural and historical narratology such as unreliable narration and multiperspectivity The volume introduces original approaches to the study of narrative in culture highlighting its pivotal role for attention memory and resilience studies and for the imagination of crises the Anthropocene and the Post Apocalypse Addressing both fictional and non fictional narratives individual essays analyze the narrative making and unmaking of Europe Brexit and the Postcolonial Finally the collection features new research on narrative in media culture looking at the narrative logic of graphic novels picture books and newsmia Closely
