Transnational Civil Society in Asia Simon Avenell, Akihiro Ogawa, 2021-07-22 This edited volume addresses how transnational interactions among civil society actors in Asia and its sub regions are helping to strengthen common democratic values and transform dominant processes of policymaking and corporate capitalism in the region The contributors conceive of transnational civil society networks as constructive vehicles for both informing and persuading governments and businesses to adopt modify or abandon certain policies or positions This volume investigates the role of such networks through a range of interdisciplinary approaches bringing together case studies on Asian transnationalism from South Southeast and Northeast Asia across four key themes local transformations and connections diaspora politics cross regional initiatives and networks and global actors and influences Chapters demonstrate how transnational civil society is connecting people in local communities across Asia in parallel to ongoing tensions between nation states and civil society By highlighting the grassroots regionalization emerging from ever intensifying information exchange between civil society actors across borders as well as concrete transnational initiatives uniting actors across Asia the volume advances the intellectual mandate of redefining Asia as a dynamic and interconnected formation Transnational Civil Society in Asia will appeal to students and scholars of international relations politics and Asian studies more broadly The Oxford Handbook of Voice Studies Nina Sun Eidsheim, Katherine Meizel, 2019 Addressing topics from the conceptual voice as political agency to the disembodied obedience of digital assistants like Alexa from the evolution of vocal perception to the birth of black radical argument chapters in The Oxford Handbook of Voice Studies respond to the age old question What is voice Asia's Environmental Movements Alvin Y. So, Lily Xiao Hong Lee, Lee F. Yok-Shiu, 2017-07-12 Adopting a comparative perspective this book traces the social political economic and cultural conditions under which environmental movements have emerged and assesses the transformative capacities of these movements How Maine Decides Christian P. Potholm, 2024-05-15 Political scholar and avid campaign watcher Christian P Potholm brings to bear his considerable experience as a political consultant and his intricate understanding of campaign strategy in his careful analysis of Maine citizen referenda In Maine controversial decisions are often presented directly to voters so the citizens can decide Potholm looks at the campaigns from past referenda delving into the lobbying and manipulation from both sides of each issue He breaks down tactics and reveals why key votes were either won or lost It is a fascinating look at this key element of Maine's political system

Thermonuclear Monarchy Elaine Scarry, 2014-02-17 From one of our leading social thinkers a compelling case for the elimination of nuclear weapons During his impeachment proceedings Richard Nixon boasted I can go into my office and pick up the telephone and in twenty five minutes seventy million people will be dead Nixon was accurately describing not only his own power but also the power of every American president in the nuclear age Presidents Eisenhower Kennedy Johnson and Nixon each contemplated using nuclear weapons Eisenhower twice Kennedy three times Johnson once Nixon four times Whether later presidents from Ford to Obama considered using them we will learn only once their national security papers are released In this incisive masterfully argued new book award winning social theorist Elaine Scarry demonstrates that the power of one leader to obliterate millions of people with a nuclear weapon a possibility that remains very real even in the wake of the Cold War deeply violates our constitutional rights undermines the social contract and is fundamentally at odds with the deliberative principles of democracy According to the Constitution the decision to go to war requires rigorous testing by both Congress and the citizenry when a leader can single handedly decide to deploy a nuclear weapon we live in a state of thermonuclear monarchy not democracy The danger of nuclear weapons comes from potential accidents or acquisition by terrorists hackers or rogue countries But the gravest danger comes from the mistaken idea that there exists some case compatible with legitimate governance There can be no such case Thermonuclear Monarchy shows the deformation of governance that occurs when a country gains nuclear weapons In bold and lucid prose Thermonuclear Monarchy identifies the tools that will enable us to eliminate nuclear weapons and bring the decision for war back into the hands of Congress and the people Only by doing so can we secure the safety of home populations foreign populations and the earth itself Ecolinguistics Arran Stibbe, 2020-12-27 Ecolinguistics Language Ecology and the Stories We Live By is a ground breaking book which reveals the stories that underpin unequal and unsustainable societies and searches for inspirational forms of language that can help rebuild a kinder more ecological world This new edition has been updated and expanded to bring together the latest ecolinguistic studies with new theoretical insights and practical analyses The book presents a theoretical framework and practical tools for analysing the key texts which shape the society we live in The theory is illustrated through examples including the representation of environmental refugees in the media the construction of the selfish consumer in economics textbooks the parallels between climate change denial and coronavirus denial the erasure of nature in the Sustainable Development Goals creation myths and how they orient people towards the natural world and inspirational forms of language in nature writing Japanese haiku and Native American writing This edition provides an updated theoretical framework new example analyses and an additional chapter on narratives Accompanied by a free online course with videos PowerPoints notes and exercises www.storiesweliveby.org.uk as well as a comprehensive glossary this is essential reading for undergraduates postgraduates and researchers working in the areas of Discourse Analysis

Environmental Studies and Communication Studies Taiwan's Social Movements under Ma Ying-jeou Dafydd Fell, 2017-02-17 In the spring of 2014 the Sunflower Movement's three week occupation of the Legislative Yuan brought Taiwan back to international media attention It was the culmination of a series of social movements that had been growing in strength since 2008 and have become even more salient since the spring of 2014 Social movements in Taiwan have emerged as a powerful new actor that needs to be understood alongside those players that have dominated the literature such as political parties local factions Taishang China and the United States This book offers readers an introduction to the development of these social movements in Taiwan by examining a number of important movement case studies that focus on the post 2008 period The return of the Kuomintang KMT to power radically changed the political environment for Taiwan's civil society and so the book considers how social activists responded to this new political opportunity structure The case chapters are based on extensive fieldwork and are written by authors from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds and methodological approaches in some cases authors combine being both academics and activists themselves Together the chapters focus on a number of core issues providing the book with four key aims Firstly it investigates the roots of the movements and considers how to best explain their emergence Secondly it examines the development trajectories of these movements Thirdly it looks at the best way to explain their impact and development patterns and finally it assesses their overall impact questioning whether they can be regarded as successes or failures Covering a unique range of social movement cases the book will be of interest to students and researchers interested in Taiwanese society and politics as well as social movements and civil society Voices From Ground Zero Lincoln F. Grahls, 1996-07-25 From the first test firing of an atomic bomb on July 16 1945 until the adoption of the Limited Test Ban Treaty in 1963 there were 235 acknowledged atmospheric detonations of nuclear devices by the United States government Having been eye witnesses to the awesome nature of these weapons these quarter million American military personnel constitute a unique population Many of these men have experienced illnesses which they attribute to radiation exposure a number have offspring with congenital defects others are sterile Most seem to recognize that military service is a hazardous occupation that entails risks Still the feeling prevails that safety measures were inadequate and many identify themselves as human guinea pigs Their resentment however is not directed toward the military They tend to blame their problems on the policymakers the Congress and in particular on the Veterans Administration This book based on interviews and questionnaires examines and analyzes the recollections of the American military personnel involved in these tests and the effect on their lives The Non-governmental Voice at the United Nations Third Special Session on Disarmament, New York, 31 May-25 June 1988 United Nations. Department for Disarmament Affairs, 1988 From the John Holmes Library collection Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1988

Drivers of Energy Transition Wolfgang Gründinger, 2017-03-16 Wolfgang Gründinger explores how interest groups veto opportunities and electoral pressure formed the German energy transition nuclear exit renewables coal CCS and emissions trading His findings provide evidence that logics of political competition in new German politics have fundamentally changed over the last two decades with respect to five distinct mechanisms the end of fossil nuclear corporatism the new importance of trust in lobbying green path dependence the emergence of a Green Grand Coalition and intra party fights over energy politics Tales of Militant Chemistry Alice Lovejoy, 2025-08-26 The untold story of film as a chemical cousin to poison gas and nuclear weapons shaped by centuries of violent extraction The history of film calls to mind unforgettable photographs famous directors and the glitz and hustle of the media business But there is another tale to tell that connects film as a material to the twentieth century's history of war destruction and cruelty This story comes into focus during World War II at the factories of Tennessee Eastman where photographic giant Kodak produced the rudiments of movie magic Not far away at Oak Ridge Kodak was also enriching uranium for the Manhattan Project uranium mined in the Belgian Congo and destined for the bomb that fell on Hiroshima While the world's largest film manufacturer transformed into a formidable military contractor across the ocean its competitor Agfa grew entangled with Nazi Germany's machinery of war After 1945 Kodak's film factories stood at the front lines of a new colder war as their photosensitive products became harbingers of the dangers of nuclear fallout Following scientists soldiers prisoners and spies through Kodak's and Agfa's global empires Alice Lovejoy links the golden age of cinema and photography to colonialism the military industrial complex radioactive dust and toxic waste Revelatory and chilling Tales of Militant Chemistry shows how film became a weapon whose chemistry irrevocably shaped the world we live in today Atomic Inferno - Voice of Survivors Edgar Wollstone, Harry S Truman the president of the United States and his military advisers were committed to using all available means to finish the war as soon as possible Around 80 000 people were killed when the Little Boy atomic bomb was dropped on the city of Hiroshima on the morning of August 6 by the B 29 bomber Enola Gay More than 40 000 people were killed by another atomic bomb codenamed

Fat Man that was dropped over Nagasaki three days later on August 9 by bomber B 29 named Bock's Car One particular group of people had to deal with something else when world leaders and common people struggled to digest the metaphorical aftershocks Before it was a global event the arrival of the bomb was a personal one for the hibakushas of those destroyed cities It may be good fortune fate or intelligence that preserved them in the midst of death and ruin preserving the voices that can still describe to the world what it looks like when people find new and awful ways to harm one another The hibakushas have spoken about their experiences in the aftermath of the twin bombings in Hiroshima and Nagasaki though many of the survivors were reluctant to share their stories because of the stigma attached to these hibakushas of Japan Follow the journey of the survivors from 6 and 9 August 1945 Their Unforgettable stories of courage and resilience in this must read copy will show the importance of peace and understanding in the world
