Primer on

Decision Making James G. March, 1994-05-23 Building on lecture notes from his acclaimed course at Stanford University James March provides a brilliant introduction to decision making a central human activity fundamental to individual group organizational and societal life March draws on research from all the disciplines of social and behavioral science to show decision making in its broadest context By emphasizing how decisions are actually made as opposed to how they should be made he enables those involved in the process to understand it both as observers and as participants March sheds new light on the decision making process by delineating four deep issues that persistently divide students of decision making Are decisions based on rational choices involving preferences and expected consequences or on rules that are appropriate to the identity of the decision maker and the situation Is decision making a consistent clear process or one characterized by ambiguity and inconsistency Is decision making significant primarily for its outcomes or for the individual and social meanings it creates and sustains And finally are the outcomes of decision processes attributable solely to the actions of individuals or to the combined influence of interacting individuals organizations and societies March s observations on how intelligence is or is not achieved through decision making and possibilities for enhancing decision intelligence are also provided March explains key concepts of vital importance to students of decision making and decision makers such as limited rationality history dependent rules and ambiguity and weaves these ideas into a full depiction of decision making He includes a discussion of the modern aspects of several classic issues underlying these concepts such as the relation between reason and ignorance intentionality and fate and meaning and interpretation This valuable textbook by one of the seminal figures in the history of organizational decision making will be required reading for a new generation of scholars managers and other decision makers

Methods and Interdisciplinarity Roger Waldeck,2019-12-05 Interdisciplinarity research results from a growing need for multi perspective methods and knowledge on complex and multifaceted objects of study It is not simply scientific research that involves several disciplines but ultimately the aim is confronting this knowledge and if possible articulating it coherently Using specific examples Methods and Interdisciplinarity categorizes the different modes of interdisciplinarity and discusses the mechanisms of hybridization between them On the one hand the book shows how the same issue can be treated according to various points of view from several disciplines which can give rise to complementary or even contradictory knowledge On the other hand it illustrates how methods from some disciplines make it possible to articulate the qualitative or quantitative approaches of others

Structures and Infrastructure Systems Dan M. Frangopol, 2019-12-18 Our knowledge to model design analyse maintain manage and predict the life cycle performance of infrastructure systems is continually growing However the complexity of these systems continues to increase and an integrated approach is necessary to understand the effect of technological environmental economic social and political interactions on the life cycle performance of engineering infrastructure In order to accomplish this methods have to be developed to systematically analyse structure and infrastructure systems and models have to be formulated for evaluating and comparing the risks and benefits associated with various alternatives Civil engineers must maximize the life cycle benefits of these systems to serve the needs of our society by selecting the best balance of the safety economy resilience and sustainability requirements despite imperfect information and knowledge Within the context of this book the necessary concepts are introduced and illustrated with applications to civil and marine structures This book is intended for an audience of researchers and practitioners world wide with a background in civil and marine engineering as well as people working in infrastructure maintenance management cost and optimization analysis The chapters originally published as articles in Structure and Infrastructure Engineering

Multiple Criteria Decision Making Günter Fandel, Tomas Gal, 2012-12-06 The organizers of the 12th International Conference on Multiple Criteria Decision Making MCDM held June 19 23 1995 in Hagen received the second time the opportunity to prepare an international conference on MCDM in Germany the first opportunity has been the 3rd International Conference on MCDM in Königswinter 1979 Quite a time ellapsed since then and therefore it might be interesting to compare some indicators of the development of the International Society on MCDM which has been founded in Königswinter Stanley Zionts has been elected first president and all 44 participants of that Conference became founding members Today our Society has over 1200

members and its own Journal MCDM World Scan In Hagen 1996 we had 152 participants from 34 countries It is interesting to mention that also other Groups established their organization like the European Working Group on Multiple Criteria Decision Aid the German Working Group on Decision Theory and Applications the Multi Objective Programming and Goal Programming Group ESIGMA and some others It is also interesting to note that the intersection of members of all these Groups and Societies is not empty and there is quite a cooperation among them
