Handbook of Community Movements and Local Organizations Ram A. Cnaan, Carl Milofsky, 2006-11-28 Although the way associations and the organization of local social life are intertwined is one of the oldest approaches to community study the way citizens and residents come together informally to act and solve problems has rarely been a primary focus Associations are central to important and developing areas of social theory and social action This handbook takes voluntary associations as the starting point for making sense of communities It offers a new perspective on voluntary organizations and gives an integrated yet diverse theoretical understanding of this important aspect of community life Encyclopedia of Technological Understanding of Understanding of Technological Understanding Offers and Disasters in the Social Sciences Duane A. Gill, Liesel A. Ritchie, Nnenia M. Campbell, 2024-11-08 The Encyclopedia of Technological Hazards and Disasters in the Social Sciences brings together an array of global experts to investigate explore and analyse human caused disaster events Providing insights into both the origins and aftermaths of disaster events it offers advanced understanding of a broad range of disaster events facing society during the Anthropocene

Communities, Neighborhoods, and Health Linda M. Burton, Susan P. Kemp, ManChui Leung, Stephen A. Matthews, David T. Takeuchi, 2011-02-15 Place is an important element in understanding health and health care disparities More that merely a geographic location place is a socio ecological force with detectable effects on social life independent well being and health Despite the general enthusiasm for the study of place and the potential it could have for a better understanding of the distribution of health in different communities research is at a difficult crossroads because of disagreements in how the construct should be conceptualized and measured This edited volume incorporates an cross disciplinary approach to the study of place in order to come up with a comprehensive and useful definition of place Topics covered include Social Inequalities Historical Definitions of Place Biology and Place Rural vs Urban Places Racialization of a Place Migration Sacred Places Technological Innovations An understanding of place is essential for health care professionals as interventions often do not have the same effects in the clinic as they do in varied naturalistic social settings The SAGE Encyclopedia of Lifespan Human Development Marc H. Bornstein, 2018-01-15 Lifespan human development is the study of all aspects of biological physical cognitive socioemotional and contextual development from conception to the end of life In approximately 800 signed articles by experts from a wide diversity of fields The SAGE Encyclopedia of Lifespan Human Development explores all individual and situational factors related to human development across the lifespan Some of the broad thematic areas will include Adolescence and Emerging Adulthood Aging Behavioral and Developmental Disorders Cognitive Development Community and Culture Early and Middle Childhood Education through the Lifespan Genetics and Biology Gender and Sexuality Life Events Mental Health through the Lifespan Research Methods in Lifespan Development

Speech and Language Across the Lifespan Theories and Models of Development This five volume encyclopedia promises to be an authoritative discipline defining work for students and researchers seeking to become familiar with various approaches theories and empirical findings about human development broadly construed as well as past and current research

Community Visioning Programs Norman Walzer, Gisele Hamm, 2012-01-30 Community visioning is key in helping local public officials and community leaders create a flourishing future for their cities and is essential for the effective planning and implementation of these strategies Visioning involves collaborative goal setting to motivate actions of planners citizens and officials in order to design and carry out a strategic planning process for the successful development of the community The use of visioning since the 1980s has led to a wealth of information on the productivity of the paths it has taken The contributors all with experience working in the area review the successes and failures of the strategies and look at new innovations which are pushing the frontiers of community visioning This review of the development of visioning focuses on small and medium sized communities in North America It aims to guide citizens local leaders and planners on what strategies are best to help them revitalise their communities and ensure a prosperous future Turning the Tide on Poverty Lionel J. Beaulieu, Alice Diebel, 2019-04-15 This book highlights the experiences of 14 high poverty communities in the rural South that accepted the invitation to be part of the Turning the Tide on Poverty Tide initiative While history would suggest that impoverished places have limited capacity to make good things happen Tide demonstrated otherwise This volume is a testament to the positive work that can be realized when people from all walks of life are accorded the opportunity to discuss deliberate and act on strategies designed to improve the lives of rural people and places in the South The message is clear when local residents are provided a safe space to weigh in on local issues and asked to give respectful consideration to the views of others in their community they create pathways for spurring positive changes Simply put civic engagement propels people to do more for their community and instils in them a sense of hope for what can be accomplished when local people work together This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Community Development The Community Food Forest Handbook Catherine Bukowski, John Munsell, 2018 Collaboration and leadership strategies for long term success Fueled by the popularity of permaculture and agroecology community food forests are capturing the imaginations of people in neighborhoods towns and cities across the United States Along with community gardens and farmers markets community food forests are an avenue toward creating access to nutritious food and promoting environmental sustainability where we live Interest in installing them in public spaces is on the rise People are the most vital component of community food forests but while we know more than ever about how to design food forests the ways in which to best organize and lead groups of people involved with these projects has received relatively little attention In The Community Food Forest Handbook Catherine Bukowski and John Munsell dive into the civic aspects of community food forests drawing on observations group meetings and interviews at over 20 projects across the country and their own experience creating and managing a food forest They combine the stories and strategies gathered during their research with concepts of community development and project management to outline steps for creating lasting public food forests that positively impact communities Rather than rehash food forest design which classic books such as Forest Gardening and Edible Forest Gardens address in great detail The Community Food Forest Handbook uses systems thinking and draws on social change theory to focus on how to work with diverse groups of people when conceiving of designing and implementing a community food forest To find practical ground the authors use management phases to highlight the ebb and flow of community capitals from a project s inception to its completion They also explore examples of positive feedbacks that are often unexpected but offer avenues for enhancing the success of a community food forest The Community Food Forest Handbook provides readers with helpful ideas for building and sustaining momentum working with diverse public and private stakeholders integrating assorted civic interests and visions within one project creating safe and attractive sites navigating community policies positively affecting public perception and managing site evolution and adaptation Its concepts and examples showcase the complexities of community food forests highlighting the human resilience of those who learn and experience what is possible when they collaborate on a shared vision for their community Power, Construction and Meaning in Festivals Allan Jepson, Alan Clarke, 2017-11-10 Whether through education sport or festivity events form the basis on which we attribute cultural meaning significance and value to our lives In this light community events have the potential to create positive and negative social cultural economic and environmental impacts within the community across a wide variety of genres and platforms This book offers a deeper and more critical insight into the relationships dynamics and planning processes of festivals and events and the impact this has upon authenticity cultural consumption and the local communities they serve It does so by looking at a range of key debates in power theory event planning and design event construction experience and meaning authenticity sustainability social inclusion accessibility and sponsorship engagement International case studies are embedded within the chapters examining the role of stakeholders local communities organisers local governments and infrastructure This critical event studies text is interdisciplinary and will make valuable reading for students and researchers who are interested in the relationships and dynamics involved in the construction and planning of festivals and events their immediate impact and their significance for the future Resources in Education ,1994

SeaCities Joerg Baumeister, Edoardo Bertone, Paul Burton, 2020-11-28 This book presents and discusses a strategy which includes four approaches to dealing with the risk of sea level rise and other water hazards. It also offers opportunities for cities to explore urban extensions such as marine estates aquatic food production systems new sea related industries maritime transport developments new oceanic tourist attractions and the designation of additional coastal ecological zones. The urban interface between Sea and Cities generates therefore both burning issues and valuable opportunities and raises the question of whether it is possible to solve the former by exploiting the latter. Sustainable Intensification to Advance

Food Security and Enhance Climate Resilience in Africa Rattan Lal, Bal Ram Singh, Dismas L. Mwaseba, David Kraybill, David O. Hansen, Lars Olav Eik, 2014-10-10 This 32 chapter volume represents the core of several oral and poster presentations made at the conference In addition to Introduction and Conclusion sections the book is thematically divided into 7 sections namely 1 Land Use and Farming Systems 2 Effects of Climate Change on Crop Yield 3 Soil Nutrient and Water Management for Carbon Seguestration 4 Rehabilitation of Degraded Lands through Forestry and Agroforestry 5 Management of Animal Production for Greenhouse Gas Emissions 6 Smallholder Adaptation to Climate Change and 7 Economic Social and Policy Issues It addresses these themes in the context of sustainable intensification SI It implies increasing agronomic production from the existing land while improving restoring its quality and decreasing the C or environmental footprint Simply put SI means producing more from less Multiple Capitals Approach for Upland Agricultural Systems Lois Mansfield, 2025-06-05 This book focuses on upland agricultural systems and applies a multiple capitals approach to explain what they can provide at a time when many are struggling to survive Marginal upland agricultural systems have been distorted and derailed by modern economics politics and the drive to intensification This book argues for the application of a multiple capitals approach to resource management challenges for marginal upland agricultural communities Instead of considering what upland agricultural systems lack the book showcases how a multiple capitals framework can demonstrate the importance interrelationships and relevance of the suite of capitals natural human social cultural and financial to achieve better outcomes for upland communities broader ecosystem services and wider society more generally It is designed to connect theory to practice to provide underpinning knowledge and guidance to help upland agricultural communities thrive Drawing on case studies from the UK and Japan as well as making comparisons with Central and South American countries the book recommends tools for monitoring different forms of capital and suggests a management process driven by multiple capitals to create resilience in upland agricultural systems This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of agriculture natural resource management ecosystem services rural development and those interested in applying a multiple capitals approach more widely within policy and landscape management contexts Cultivating Food Justice Alison Hope Alkon, Julian Agyeman, 2011 Documents how racial and social inequalities are built into our food system and how communities are creating environmentally sustainable and socially just alternatives
