Species provides in depth coverage of the different marine animal groups that form the communities inhabiting the ocean's pelagic realm. This comprehensive resource explores the physical environment, foraging strategies, energetics, locomotion, sensory mechanisms, global and vertical distributions, special adaptations, and other characteristics of a wide array of marine taxa. Bringing together the most recent information available in a single volume, authors Joseph J. Torres and Thomas G. Bailey cover the Cnidaria (stinging jellies), the ctenophores (comb jellies), pelagic nemertean worms, pelagic annelids, crustaceans, cephalopods, and pelagic gastropods, invertebrate chordates, as well as micronekton and larger fishes such as sharks, tunas, mackerels, and mahi mahi. Detailed chapters on each pelagic group describe internal and external anatomy, classification, and history, feeding and digestion, bioluminescent systems and their function, reproduction and development, respiration, excretion, nervous systems, and more. The first book of its kind to address all of the major animal groups comprising both the swimmers and drifters of the open sea, this important resource explains how different animals have adapted to live in the open ocean environment. Covers all sensory mechanisms of animals living in the pelagic habitat, including photoreception, mechanoreception, and chemoreception. Treats the diverse micronekton assemblage as a community. Includes a thorough introduction to the physical oceanography and properties of water in the pelagic realm. Life in the Open Ocean: The Biology of Pelagic Species is an excellent senior level undergraduate and graduate textbook for courses in biology and biological oceanography and a valuable reference for all those with interest in open ocean biology.

Weaving Words into Worlds
Caroline Durand-Rous, Margot Lauwers, 2023-10-10. Weaving Words into Worlds comes as the third spinoff of the international ecopoetics conference organized in Perpignan in 2016. Reflecting upon how the many stories we tell directly influence the world we live in, each of the contributions in this international volume directs our attention to the constant ecopoetic weaving of word to the world at work via the many entanglements between mind, matter, and meaning, whether on a local or a global scale. It encapsulates how the words, stories, and concepts we humans articulate as we try to make sense of the world we inhabit give part of its shape to the web of ecological relations that we depend on for survival. It seeks to cast light on the disenchanting and reenchanting powers of stories and poesis in general, as stories retain the power to make us either become oblivious to and destroy or to feel and honor the many complex ties between the multitudinous nature, cultures intertwined within the fabric of a multispecies world, always in the making. This book offers a total of fourteen articles written by international scholars in ecocriticism and ecopoetics who, by their analyses of literature and/or films and the political subtext they thus render visible, aim at showing how the study of environmentally minded media may renew our attention to the entangled agencies of the human and the more-than-human realm. Thus, this work offers to counter a reproach ecocriticism has often been met with, namely the overpresence of US scholars and the lack of diversity in subjects in the field, since the articles presented provide a wide variety of approaches and topics, with examples of UK and Native American literature, Polynesian myth, graphic novels, or haiku. In doing so, the book expands on the fields of ecocriticism and ecopoetics.
