Northwest Architect Minnesota Society of Architects, 1957. The Western Architect, 1918. Cap Wigington David Vassar Taylor, Paul Clifford Larson, 2001. Clarence W. Cap Wigington was a man of firsts: the first registered African American architect in Minnesota and the first African American municipal architect in the nation. The public buildings that he designed for the city of St. Paul are a continuing legacy helping to define the city's character. And his achievements both as an architect and as a leader in the state's African American community are all the more significant given the limitations of the times in which he lived. Wigington's most ephemeral work may have been his most creative. From 1937 to 1947 he designed six ice palaces and a number of secondary structures for St. Paul's famous Winter Carnival. These stunningly fanciful designs are Wigington's most imaginative and exuberant. Alternating chapters by Taylor and Larson examine the man, his times, his leadership in the African American community and his architectural work. Richly illustrated with photos of Wigington's buildings and his drawings, the book also contains a list of works attributed to Wigington. His life story shows the struggles and the achievements of a talented individual facing and conquering long odds. Valued Places, 2001. National Directory of Architectural, Engineering and Consulting Firms with Certified Fallout Shelter Analysts. (supersedes FG-F-1.3, Dated June 1968), Nov. 1969. United States. Civil Defense Office, 1970. Minnesota 1900 Michael Conforti, 1994. This book examines advances in architecture, design and painting in a region widely recognized for its contribution to the Arts and Crafts and Prairie School movements. It features the work of many well-known American artists including the architects Cass Gilbert, Harvey Ellis, Frank Lloyd Wright, Purcell and Elmslie, ceramicist and Arts and Crafts philosopher Ernest Batchelder and the painters Homer Dodge Martin and Alexander Fournier. The six essays also focus on the ceramic and metalwork production of the Handicraft Guild of Minneapolis, the Craftshouse of John Bradstreet and American Indian art and artifacts created both for native and white use at the time. Alan Lathrop discusses Minnesota architecture by combining his knowledge of architectural practitioners of the time with an awareness of international stylistic trends, particularly the tradition of the Ecole des Beaux Arts. In this first overview of the state's architecture of the period ever published, Michael Conforti and Jennifer Komar link the development of retailing in the late nineteenth century to the interior design practice and Arts and

Crafts production of John Bradstreet Thomas O Sullivan provides a study of Robert Koehler one of the region's most respected painters while he reviews the work of over two dozen of the state's other painters working at the time The special communal nature of Minnesota's artistic life is emphasized in Marcia Anderson's contribution Her study of the Handicraft Guild of Minneapolis presents years of archival research on the Guild which she presents in the context of the international Arts and Crafts movement Mark Hammons provides the first monograph ever published on the architectural partnership of Purcell and Elmslie the most commissioned architects of the Prairie School after Frank Lloyd Wright Hammons analyzes the team centered working process of the firm and relates their creative process and formal vocabulary to the contemporary metaphysical discourse that was the foundation of their architectural philosophy Louise Lincoln and Paulette Molin study the nature of relationships between whites and the Chippewa and Dakota Indians in their discussion of native material culture Lincoln and Molin decode a complex nuanced cultural interchange embodying both traditional and assimilationist trends Their essay is the first in depth examination of the range of American Indian art from this region one that considers both objects crafted for native use and those produced for the tourist market
