Depicting Orthodoxy in the Russian Middle Ages Ágnes Kriza, 2022-03-31 The image of Divine Wisdom traditionally associated with the Sophia Cathedral in Novgorod is an innovation of the fifteenth century The icon represents the winged royal red faced Sophia flanked by the Mother of God and John the Baptist Although the image has a contemporaneous commentary and although it exercised a profound influence on Russian cultural history its meaning together with the dating and localisation of the first appearance of the iconography has remained an art historical conundrum By exploring the message roots function and historical context of the creation of the first most emblematic and enigmatic Russian allegorical iconography Depicting Orthodoxy in the Russian Middle Ages deciphers the meaning of this icon In contrast to previous interpretations Kriza argues that the winged Sophia is the personification of the Orthodox Church The Novgorod Wisdom icon represents the Church of Hagia Sophia that is Orthodoxy as it was perceived in fifteenth century Rus Depicting Orthodoxy asserts that the icon together with its commentary was a visual textual response to the Union of Florence between the Catholic and Orthodox Churches signed in 1439 but rejected by the Russians in 1441 This interpretation is based on detailed interdisciplinary research drawing on philology art history theology and history Kriza's study challenges some key assumptions concerning the relevance of Church Schism of 1054 the polemics between the Greeks and the Latins about the bread of Eucharist and the role of the Union of Florence in the history of Russian art In particular by studying both well and lesser known works of art alongside overlooked textual evidence this volume investigates how the Christian Church and its true faith were defined and visualized in Rus and Byzantium throughout the centuries The Russian Graphosphere, 1450-1850 Simon Franklin, 2019-05-16 Explores a new approach to the history of writing and a guide to writing in the history of Russia Information and Empire Simon Franklin, Katherine Bowers, 2017-11-27 From the mid sixteenth to the mid nineteenth century Russia was transformed from a moderate sized land locked principality into the largest empire on earth How did systems of information and communication shape and reflect this extraordinary change Information and Mechanisms of Communication in Russia 1600 1850 brings together a range of contributions to shed some light on this complex question Communication networks such as the postal service and the gathering and circulation of news are examined alongside the growth of a bureaucratic apparatus that informed the government about its country and its people The inscription of space is considered from the point of view of mapping and the changing public graphosphere of signs and monuments More than a series of institutional histories this book is concerned with the way Russia discovered itself envisioned itself and represented itself to its people Innovative and scholarly this collection breaks new ground in its approach to communication and information as a field of study in Russia More broadly it is an accessible contribution to pre modern information studies taking as its basis a country whose history often serves to challenge habitual Western models of development It is important reading not only for specialists in Russian Studies but also for students and non Russianists who are interested in the history of information and communications
