Otherness And Being Oneself Thinking With Martin Buber On Intersubjectivity And Personal Identity:

Otherness and Being Oneself Tomy Paul Kakkattuthadathil, 2001 On Being Oneself John Pringle Lorimer Munro, 1980 Martin Buber Maurice S. Friedman, 2003-09-02 Martin Buber The Life of Dialogue the first study in any language to provide a complete overview of Buber's thought remains the definitive guide to the full range of his work and the starting point for all modern Buber scholarship Maurice S. Friedman reveals the implications of Buber's thought for theory of knowledge education philosophy myth history and Judaic and Christian belief This fully revised and expanded fourth edition includes a new preface by the author an expanded bibliography incorporating new Buber scholarship and two new appendices in the form of essays on Buber's influence on Emmanuel Levinas and Mikhail Bakhtin Martin Buber Sarah Scott, 2022-12-06 A new collection of essays highlighting the wide range of Buber's thought career and activism Best known for I and Thou which laid out his distinction between dialogic and monologic relations Martin Buber 1878-1965 was also an anthologist translator and author of some seven hundred books and papers Martin Buber: Creaturely Life and Social Form edited by Sarah Scott is a collection of nine essays that explore his thought and career Martin Buber: Creaturely Life and Social Form shakes up the legend of Buber by decentering the importance of the I-Thou dialogue in order to highlight Buber as a thinker preoccupied by the image of relationship as a guide to spiritual social and political change The result is a different Buber than has hitherto been portrayed one that is characterized primarily by aesthetics and politics rather than by epistemology or theology Martin Buber: Creaturely Life and Social Form will serve as a guide to the entirety of Buber's thinking career and activism placing his work in context and showing both the evolution of his thought and the extent to which he remained driven by a persistent set of concerns The Way of Response: Martin Buber Martin Buber, 1966 On Intersubjectivity and Cultural Creativity Martin Buber, 1992-10-01 One of the foremost religious and social philosophers of the twentieth century Martin Buber also wrote extensively on sociological subjects particularly as these affected his philosophical concerns Collected here these writings offer essential insights into the human condition as it is expressed in culture and society Buber's central focus in his sociological work is the relation between social interaction or intersubjectivity and the process of human creativity Specifically Buber seeks to define the nature and conditions of creativity the conditions of authentic intersubjective social relations that nurture creativity in society and culture He attempts to identify situations favorable to creativity that he believes exist to some extent in all cultures though their fullest development occurs only rarely Buber considers the combination of open dialogue between human and human and a dialogue between man and God to be necessary for the crystallization of the common discourse that is essential for holding a free just and open society together Important for an understanding of Buber's thought these writings touching on education religion the state and charismatic leadership will be of profound value to students of sociology philosophy and religion Martin Buber's Social and Religious Thought Laurence J. Silberstein, 1990-12 Moore focuses on Buber's central message about what it means to be a human being a person of faith and what mankind can do to overcome the eclipse of God Shofar Solid well researched and sympathetic might well spur a person to go back and read Buber Commonwealth Finding True Self-acceptance by Entering the Dialogue with God. An Adaption of Martin Buber's Dialogism on Siri Hustvedt's "The Shaking Woman" Natalie Pehl, 2016-11-17 Seminar paper from the year 2016 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1 3 Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz Department English and Linguistics course Literature and Medicine language English abstract Knowing one's own self has been defined as one of the most difficult tasks to accomplish in our lives Nevertheless all of us feel the inner need to relate to ourselves in order to become holistic beings But how do we get to know the self In contrast to collectivism individualism is considered an egoistical doctrine that selfishly ignores the needs of others However the terms do not necessarily exclude each other On the contrary identity is based on relationships and on the dialogue with others During the twentieth century existential philosophy developed as a discipline which faced those big existential questions and tried to provide a guideline to find one's personal identity in life Eventually existential philosophers such as Martin Buber and Mikhail Bakhtin became known as pioneers of the so called dialogical philosophy In opposition to individualism Buber established a concept of getting to know the self from a totally different point of view Instead of focusing exclusively on the subject as an individual Buber presents an approach which stresses the importance of the other person In his view two individuals establish an intersubjective relationship in order to achieve self formation In her book The Shaking Woman Siri Hustvedt describes her struggle of self identification and self acceptance Hustvedt suffers from physical shaking but no one is able to find a certain diagnosis for her illness Nevertheless Hustvedt manages her inner conflict and finds self acceptance in the end This paper shall provide evidence in how far Buber's concept of dialogism supports Siri Hustvedt in order to resolve her inner conflict By entering the dialogue with the other we are able to find and accept our true self In relation to Martin Buber's Ontology Robert E. Wood, 1969 Describes the origins structure and meaning of the leading philosophic work by the Jewish religious scholar New Perspectives on Martin Buber Michael Zank, 2006 This volume brings a range of perspectives to bear on the writings and thought of Martin Buber 1878 1965 The contributing authors include renowned Buber specialists who take a new look at Buber's legacy as well as younger scholars who work in a variety of academic disciplines and contexts including biblical studies religious studies philosophy intellectual history sociology the study of education and Jewish thought By relating the legacy of Buber to their respective area of research they are able to articulate what they find of enduring relevance in Buber's thought and writings The purpose is to explore new perspectives on Buber and on themes and issues on which he had something to say that continues to engage us The sixteen essays are grouped in six parts roughly proceeding in the chronological order of Buber's work reflecting shifts in his preoccupation and changes in his orientation The larger themes also represent different approaches to and perspectives on Buber's writings in general including critical retrospectives on his philosophy of dialogue his political utopianism and his approach to Hasidism

My Friendship with Martin Buber Maurice Friedman, 2013-06-25 Martin Buber's philosophy of dialogue sought to express the human experience through the ways in which we encounter and interact with others His I Thou theory of dialogue and I It theory of monologue expressed ways of understanding one's place in the world in relation to others objects and especially God Buber died in 1965 leaving behind a vast library of writings and ardent students and scholars eager to engage with his ideas One of the most prominent scholars was Maurice Friedman Friedman and Buber shared a professional as well as a personal relationship based on translating interpreting and intellectual curiosity Beginning in the summer of 1950 and ending with Buber's death this volume takes the reader through Buber's three visits to America his wife's death the author's stay in Jerusalem and the articulation of Buber's culminating philosophy of the interhuman In tracing this chronology Friedman draws extensively on his personal collection of letters exchanged with Buber Intimate and meditative this book provides an exploration of a deeply intellectual friendship shared between two extraordinary thinkers Martin Buber's

Journey to Presence Phil Huston, 2007 Publisher description Martin Buber and the Human Sciences Maurice Friedman, 2012-02-01 The specific focus of Martin Buber and the Human Sciences is dialogue as the foundation of and integrating factor in the human sciences using dialogue in the special sense which Buber has made famous mutuality presentness openness meeting the other in his or her uniqueness and not just as a content for one's own thought categories and knowing as deriving in the first instance from mutual contact rather than knowledge of a subject about an object By the human sciences the authors editors mean material that can be meaningfully approached in a dialogic way hence the humanities education psychology speech communication anthropology history sociology and economics The essays in Martin Buber and the Human Sciences demonstrate that thirty years after Buber's death his influence is still resonating in many countries and in many fields Immediacy and its Limits (Routledge Revivals) Nathan Rotenstreich, 2009-10-15 Originally published in 1991 this book focuses on a major problem in the philosophy of Martin Buber This is the topic of immediacy which is presented in terms of the contact between human beings on the one hand and man and God on the other The basic theme throughout is whether the I Thou relation refers to immediate contact between human beings as Buber saw it or whether that relation is something established or aspired to This is an important study which should be consulted in any future discussion of Martin Buber's thought At the same time it raises critical issues for recent European philosophy Students of philosophy and religious and social thought will find its critical exposition extremely helpful Immediacy and Its Limits Nathan Rotenstreich, 2010 Originally published in 1991 this book focuses on a major problem in the philosophy of Martin Buber This is the topic of immediacy which is presented in terms of the contact between human beings on the one hand and man and God on the other The basic theme throughout is whether the I Thou relation refers to immediate contact between human beings as Buber saw it or whether that relation is something established or aspired to This is an important study which should be consulted in any future discussion of Martin Buber's thought At the same time it raises critical
