Eating Agendas Donna Maurer, Jeffery Sobal, The international group of sociological and nutritional scientists in this volume represent the research that has been conducted on the social problematics of food and nutrition in such areas as food safety biotechnology food stamp programs obesity anorexia nervosa and vegetarianism The broad range of topics addressed and the case studies examined make this book suitable as a course related text both in foodways and cultural aspects of nutrition and as a new departure in social problems courses

Generations and Collective Memory Amy Corning, Howard Schuman, 2015-08-31 When discussing large social trends or experiences we tend to group people into generations But what does it mean to be part of a generation and what gives that group meaning and coherence It's collective memory say Amy Corning and Howard Schuman and in Generations and Collective Memory they draw on an impressive range of research to show how generations share memories of formative experiences and how understanding the way those memories form and change can help us understand society and history Their key finding built on historical research and interviews in the United States and seven other countries including China Japan Germany Lithuania Russia Israel and Ukraine is that our most powerful generational memories are of shared experiences in adolescence and early adulthood like the 1963 Kennedy assassination for those born in the 1950s or the fall of the Berlin Wall for young people in 1989 But there are exceptions to that rule and they're significant Corning and Schuman find that epochal events in a country like revolutions override the expected effects of age affecting citizens of all ages with a similar power and lasting intensity The picture Corning and Schuman paint of collective memory and its formation is fascinating on its face but it also offers intriguing new ways to think about the rise and fall of historical reputations and attitudes toward political issues

Race and the Politics of Welfare Reform Sanford F. Schram, Joe Brian Soss, Richard Carl Fording, 2010-03-10 A searching and succinct restatement of the many ways race and American racial attitudes affect how we talk about the poor and how we handle the problem of poverty relief
