Color Expressions: an Art Educational Voyage Dr. Lonnie G. Ford, 2009-08-28 Several years ago I enrolled in a graduate course on educational research that focused on closing the achievement gap for African American children The course was structured to explore issues causes and concerns for the achievement gap Studying different educational outcomes reading books and articles we regularly shared our insights about some leading causes Most importantly we were instructed to stay within our subject areas when finding any contributions to that gap In my attempt to complete the assignment of researching possible causes in my discipline of art education I found myself frustrated and angry Why There were no research studies exploring how art education was a part of the equation leading to solutions in closing the gap In addition there were no basic instructions or curricula designed to make connections to the art student to develop critical thinking skills or to incorporate the use of students life experiences for learning Furthermore I felt that art education was used as a testing ground in urban schools like the Chicago Public Schools using Teaching Artists to teach art with no teaching certification or teaching qualifications Booth 2003 The purpose of this approach was to use their knowledge and practices of art to influence change in students learning This kind of experiment branched away from any real effort to integrate art education and truly recognize it as a viable core subject area While conducting research for the course I found that researchers defined the achievement gap between white and African American students solely in terms of the four core subjects of math science social studies and language arts with no attention given to art education e g Berlak 2001 Honig 2001 Limn 2000 Sacks 2000 A study by the National Black Caucus entitled Closing the Achievement Gap Improving

Education Outcomes for African American Children November 2001 reports Make improving the literacy skills of students a top priority Students who cannot read will experience little success in school Reading is the key to academic achievement in every subject ranging from math and English to science and history We must put reading first by finding initiatives and programs designed to strengthen the reading skills of students particularly low performing students Again there was no mention of art As both an African American and an art teacher I found it very disturbing that the recommendations of many national and local art educational organizations and schools failed to address the importance of teaching art education in African American urban school settings My dissertation research ultimately arose from this concern Red Sea-Red Square-Red Thread Lydia Goehr,2022 Designed as a philosophical detective story Red Sea Red Square Red Thread follows the extraordinary number of thinkers and artists who have used the Red Sea anecdote to make so much more than a merely anecdotal point Leading the large cast are the philosophers Arthur Danto and S ren Kierkegaard the poet and playwright Henri Murger the opera composer Giacomo Puccini and the painter and print maker William Hogarth Strange companions perhaps until their use of the anecdote is shown as working its extraordinary passage through so many cosmopolitan cities of art and capital Lydia Goehr explores these narratives of emancipation in philosophy theology politics and the arts

Library of Congress Catalog: Motion Pictures and Filmstrips Library of Congress,1968 Southwestern Journal of Education ,1890 What Art Teaches Us Timothy Babulski,2019-10-09 This book critically examines four areas common to visual arts curricula the elements of art and principles of design the canons of human proportions linear perspective and RYB color theory For each the author presents a compelling case detailing how current art teaching fails students explores the history of how it came to be part of the discourse and then proffers cognitivist and holistic alternatives This book provides a framework for teachers and teacher candidates to shape how they advocate for intellectual rigor and embodied learning and importantly how they can subvert an existing curriculum to better meet the educational needs of their students Popular Educator ,1907 Normal Instructor ,1908 Aspects of Sales Promotion United States.
