Learning From Text Across Conceptual Domains Cynthia R. Hynd, 2013-12-16 This volume is an attempt to synthesize the understandings we have about reading to learn Although learning at all ages is discussed in this volume the main focus is on middle and high school classrooms critical spaces of learning and thinking The amount of knowledge presented in written form is increasing and the information we get from texts is often conflicting We are in a knowledge explosion that leaves us reeling and may effectively disenfranchise those who are not keeping up There has never been a more crucial time for students to understand learn from and think critically about the information in various forms of text Thus understanding what it means to learn is vital for all educators Learning from text is a complex matter that includes student factors social ethnic and cultural differences as well as varying motivations self perceptions goals and needs instructional and teacher factors and disciplinary and social factors One important goal of the book is to encourage practicing teachers to learn to consider their students in new ways to see them as being influenced by and as influencing not just the classroom but the total fabric of the disciplines they are learning Equally important it is intended to foster further research efforts from local studies of classrooms by teachers to large scale studies that produce generalizable understandings about learning from text This volume a result of the editor s and contributors work with the National Reading Research Center will be of interest to all researchers graduate students practicing teachers and teachers in training who are interested in understanding the issues that are central to improving students learning from text

Effective Programs for Latino Students Robert E. Slavin, Margarita Calderon, Margarita Calderon, 2012-11-12 Latino or Hispanic children are one of the fastest growing groups in U S schools today On average these students perform worse than Anglo students on measures of academic achievement and other measures of academic success and their drop out rate is high There are schools of excellence among those serving Latino children but the majority of these children are placed at risk by schools and community institutions unable to build on the cultural personal and linguistic strengths these children are likely to bring with them to school Schools serving Latino students need programs based on high quality research capable of being replicated and adapted to local circumstances and needs The purpose of this book is to present the current state of the art with respect to research on effective instructional programs for Latino students in elementary and secondary grades Surprisingly this has not been done before there are many books on the situation of Latino students in U S schools but none so far have reviewed research on the outcomes of programs designed to enhance the academic achievement of these students The chapters represent a broad range of methodologies from experimental to correlational to descriptive and the solutions they propose are extremely diverse Each examines in its own way programs and practices that are showing success Together they present a rich array of research based effective programs that are practical widely available and likely to make a profound difference What binds the chapters together is a shared belief that Latino students can succeed at the highest levels if they receive the quality of instruction they deserve and a shared belief that reform of schools serving many Latino students is both possible and essential This is a book filled with statistics description and reviews of research but even more it is filled with optimism about what schools for Latino students can be and what these students will achieve It is a highly relevant and useful resource for educators policymakers and researchers who want to use research to inform the decisions they make about how to help Latino students succeed in elementary and secondary schools and beyond

Understanding and Teaching Reading Emerald Dechant,2013-09-13

In the words of Aldous Huxley Every man who knows how to read has it in his power to magnify himself to multiply the ways in which he exists to make his life full significant and interesting Few people question the value of reading in fact most extol its virtues As our culture becomes more complex reading plays an increasingly greater role in satisfying personal needs and in promoting social awareness and growth In the last 20 years the teaching of this invaluable skill has focused so intensely on comprehension and prediction from context that it has lost sight of the significance of automaticity and fluency in the word identification process Reading is a synthesis of word recognition and comprehension thus this text is about these basic processes and their integration A common plea from teachers today is that research and psychology be translated into teaching behavior Therefore the aim of this book is twofold one to identify report organize and discuss those bits of data research and theory that are most relevant to the teacher s understanding of the reading process and two to help educators to interpret and apply theory and research data to everyday classroom teaching as well as to the problems encountered frequently in developmental and remedial teaching
