Reading Doctors Writing Race Politics And Power In Indigenous Health Research 1870 1969:

Reading Doctors' Writing David Piers Thomas, 2004 An important book for anyone interested in health research involving Australia's Indigenous people and the way prejudice and ignorance in the past has seriously affected how non-Indigenous people have thought about the former's health and illnesses Latent and overt racism has consigned Aborigines to inferior health outcomes Truth-telling and the Ancient University Gavin John Morris, Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann, Judith Atkinson, Emma L. Schuberg, 2023-10-25 This book shares a strength based truth telling model which reveals the trauma associated with the experience of colonisation and the traditional healing practices specific to the Nauiyu Nambiyu community in Australia It explores the significance of community placed on developing the Ancient University an Aboriginal based stand alone healing centre that incorporates traditional healing practices This book outlines the truth telling model which was developed by the Nauiyu community to address a community need This unique approach represents a deliberate shift from decolonial scholarship which merely captures Indigenous voice speaking back to the colonisers This book explores Indigenous critical pedagogies to investigate theoretical frameworks with implications for planning learning and teaching which are culturally responsive in a variety of contexts It is the first of its kind that utilises an Indigenous research methodology on the country and with the people to which it belongs Indigenous Pathways into Social Research Donna M Mertens, Fiona Cram, Bagele Chilisa, 2016-06-03 A new generation of indigenous researchers is taking its place in the world of social research in increasing numbers These scholars provide new insights into communities under the research gaze and offer new ways of knowing to traditional scholarly models They also move the research community toward more sensitive and collaborative practices But it comes at a cost Many in this generation have met with resistance or indifference in their journeys through the academic system and in the halls of power They also often face ethical quandaries or even strong opposition from their own communities The life stories in this book present the journeys of over 30 indigenous researchers from six continents and many different disciplines They show in their own words the challenges paradoxes and oppression they have faced their strategies for overcoming them and how their work has produced more meaningful research and a more just society Analysing Health Policy Simon Barraclough, Heather Gardner, 2007-11-27 This title is directed primarily towards health care professionals outside of the United States This introductory text explores Australian health policy through a novel problem orientated approach It shows the problem solving techniques that are used when developing policy and demonstrates the skills of analysis and decision making Introductory chapters explain the problem orientated approach to health policy development and introduce the policy making process These are followed by case studies that explore developments in Australian health policy in priority and topical areas Chapters illustrate how policy makers respond to perennial and emerging policy problems and demonstrate problem solving approaches to the conception development and implementation of health policy Of particular concern are areas which are in transition or are highly contested A team of prominent and expert contributors gives an overview of key issues analyse the policy responses that have occurred and propose directions for the future Topics covered span governance values and specific service areas within major established areas of health policy of national concern as well as emerging problems and developments that have occurred in response to well known cases Takes a novel problem oriented approach to analysing health policy in Australia which fits well with how policy is often created in practice Combines a conceptual framework with a rich selection of pertinent and topical case studies by prominent researchers and policy practitioners to put policy analysis in context and give insights from practical experience Topics have been chosen to appeal to students from a wide range of health backgrounds and include issues in nursing management rehabilitation health information and technology Includes questions for discussion in each chapter A companion Evolve website for Instructors contains chapter by chapter notes on review questions suggestions for tutorial exercises assignment topics and examination questions First Knowledges

Health Shawana Andrews,Fiona Stanley,Sandra Eades,2024-10-29 What do you need to know to prosper as a people for 65 000 years or more The First Knowledges series provides a deep understanding of the expertise wisdom and ingenuity of Indigenous Australians For thousands of generations the wellbeing of Australia s First Peoples was grounded in the sacred lands of Mother Earth Good health occurred naturally because lifestyle and diet were connected to Country and culture Colonisation damaged this connection but much is being done to rebuild it Health explores concepts that are not tied to Western practices as it delves into birthing end of life care and other Indigenous cultural rituals The authors highlight the role of Aboriginal leadership and Eldership in decision making about health care and explore the strength of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander resistance and resilience Through their storytelling and their decades of research and health practice Shawana Andrews Sandra Eades and Fiona Stanley show how Aboriginal knowledges foster a path for self determined healthy futures Bioethics Megan-Jane Johnstone,2008-11-04 The 5th edition of Bioethics provides nursing students with the necessary knowledge and understanding of the ethical issues effecting nursing practice Groundbreaking in its first edition Bioethics continues its role as a vital component of nursing education and provides a framework for students to understand the obligations responsibilities and ethical challenges they will be presented with throughout their careers This latest edition responds to new and emerging developments in the field and marks a significant turning point in nursing ethics in that it serves not only to inform but also to revitalise and progress debate on the issues presented Bureaucrats and Bleeding Hearts Tess Lea,2008 This is an anthropological study of the culture of public health governance in the Northern Territory of Australia It asks what it takes to become a helping white bureau professional in Australias post colonial frontier someone who passionately cares about and resolutely strives toward improved health for Indigenous people and how their determination to help is sustained in the face of a self declared history of failure Provided by publisher Routledge

The Indigenous Right of Reply to Archives The Indigenous Archives Collective, 2025-09-30 This book brings together leading Indigenous and allied thinkers practitioners and advocates to address the critical issue of the Right of Reply in archives foregrounding truth telling cultural safety and Indigenous sovereignty across GLAM institutions Collecting institutions have shaped and maintained records produced by colonial systems of administration and continue to play a role in perpetuating colonial paradigms that are inherently resistant to the needs and priorities of Indigenous peoples Against this backdrop this book embarks on a scholarly investigation into the concept known as the Right of Reply This concept speaks to Indigenous peoples right to update correct critique or enhance Indigenous knowledge that is held in collecting institutions Spanning creative responses case studies policy critiques and international perspectives the volume explores how the Right of Reply operates as a political and ethical imperative in the work of archives Contributors examine Indigenous led protocols the impact of colonial recordkeeping digital repatriation metadata annotation and structural transformation in Australia Aotearoa and the United States The volume offers a blueprint for decolonising archives and centring Indigenous agency illuminating the innovative strategies being implemented across institutional and community settings It is essential reading for archivists curators scholars and anyone committed to transforming GLAM practice

Trapped in the Gap Emma Kowal, 2015-02-01 In Australia a tribe of white middle class progressive professionals is actively working to improve the lives of Indigenous people This book explores what happens when well meaning people supported by the state attempt to help without harming White anti racists find themselves trapped by endless ambiguities contradictions and double binds a microcosm of the broader dilemmas of postcolonial societies These dilemmas are fueled by tension between the twin desires of equality and difference to make

Indigenous people statistically the same as non Indigenous people to close the gap while simultaneously maintaining their cultural distinctiveness This tension lies at the heart of failed development efforts in Indigenous communities ethnic minority populations and the global South This book explains why doing good is so hard and how it could be done differently

Sovereign Bodies, Sovereign Spaces Maria John, 2025-03-17 Statistics indicate that Indigenous people worldwide suffer disproportionately poor health outcomes Since the mid twentieth century health activism has become increasingly central to expressions of Indigenous sovereignty and survivance In this innovative comparative study Maria John assesses the histories of urban Indigenous health activism in the United States and Australia and how it has sought to counter the medical mistreatment and neglect that Indigenous people have historically faced in these nations From the crisis of health care access in the 1970s to the strength of Indigenous community responses to COVID 19 John shows how the creation of Indigenous community controlled health clinics has been a vital response to settler colonial structures of neglect in medical care John illustrates that these clinics have also created a new kind of political space where Indigenous people from different tribal nations and geographies can develop and practice new ideas of nonterritorial sovereignty and pan Indigenous solidarities across regions and nations John s arguments expand our understanding of the ways urban places and spaces foster possibilities for Indigenous communities and her focus on health reveals how Indigenous people strategize struggle and work against systems they were never meant to survive

Repatriation, Science and Identity Cressida Fforde, Hilary Howes, Gareth Knapman, Lyndon Ormond-Parker, 2023-11-30 Repatriation Science and Identity explores the entanglement of race history identity and ethics inherent in the application of scientific techniques to determine the provenance of Indigenous Ancestral Remains in repatriation claims and processes The book considers how these issues relate to collections of Indigenous Ancestral bodily Remains but also their resonance with emerging concerns about the relatively unknown history of scientific interest in Indigenous hair and blood samples It also explores the more recent practice of sampling for the purposes of DNA analysis and issues concerning the data that has been produced from all of the above types of research Placing recent interest in applying scientific techniques to repatriation in their historical context it enables discourses of identity and scientific authority an assessment of their efficacy and an exploration of ethical and practical challenges and opportunities In doing so this book reveals new histories about scientific interest in Indigenous biology and the collections that resulted as well as providing reflection for all repatriation practitioners considering scientific investigation when faced with the challenges inherent in the repatriation of unprovenanced or poorly provenanced Ancestral Remains Providing the reader with a means to approach the value or otherwise of the scientific information they may encounter Repatriation Science and Identity is an invaluable resource for researchers and professionals working with Indigenous Ancestral Remains
