Reading For Pleasure:

Reading for Pleasure: International Perspectives Teresa Cremin, Sarah McGeown, 2025-03-19 Growing evidence of the vital role reading for pleasure plays in children and young people's academic outcomes and socio-emotional wellbeing has placed it high on the agenda in both educational policy and practice. This valuable collection draws upon a range of disciplinary perspectives and methodological approaches to explore how reading for pleasure is experienced and enacted and highlights the implications and benefits of such volitional reading in the lives and learning of children and young people. It offers contributions from leading international researchers on current evidence and literature within the field identifying the causes and consequences of reading for pleasure and framing this within the context of understanding readers and applying this to developing effective pedagogical practices. With chapters examining how we may shape the reading experience, this book is divided into four sections: Understanding readers including factors such as motivation, gender and identity; The nature of texts including fiction, sensory and digital texts; Pedagogies and practices exploring agency, book talk and reading aloud; Environments conducive to reading for pleasure including homes, school libraries, classrooms and communities. Presenting diverse and interdisciplinary perspectives, this will be a key text for researchers, teacher educators and policy makers who wish to become better informed in their thinking, discourse and practice when supporting children and young people in learning to read for pleasure.

The Seven E's of Reading for Pleasure Sue Cowley, 2014-01-16 In this short book Sue Cowley gathers together a huge variety of techniques that will all boost reading for pleasure in your school or setting. She explains a range of approaches that teachers and practitioners can use with their children to help them become highly motivated readers. Sue examines the best ways to support emerging readers and to build reading expertise. She gives ideas for engaging students with different kinds of texts and for creating an environment that will inspire a love of reading. Sue also examines ways to harness the power of emotions and experiences to get all of your children reading for pleasure. This mini guide is written in Sue's much-loved honest and straight-talking style. No theory, no jargon, just down-to-earth approaches that really work. Whatever age of children you teach, your students will benefit from the strategies and techniques that she reveals here. Read Sue's concise book now and get all of your students to build a lifelong love of reading.

Promoting Reading for Pleasure in the Primary School Michael Lockwood, 2008-06-24 Winner of the UKLA Author Award 2009, Lockwood has written a useful supportive book which will help teachers and librarians. He describes the background and summarises the research and then proposes thoroughly practical programmes. Carousel Michael Lockwood has produced an excellent practical overview and analysis of what works in the primary school to promote reading for pleasure. Lockwood's work is grounded and valuable to those who need it most: teachers in the classroom working hard to engender a love of reading. English Drama Media This book is first class. It puts the matter very clearly and succinctly and presents a great deal of evidence to support the argument that pleasure is not a frivolous extra but the very heart and essence of what reading is.

about It also gives readers plenty of ideas for carrying the principle into the classroom and for justifying it This is an excellent piece of work which I hope will find a place on every staffroom bookshelf Philip Pullman English primary school children are less likely to read for pleasure than their counterparts in many other countries This practical and focused book discusses the background to this situation and looks at how government initiatives have tried to address it Drawing on the author's own research project in order to identify good practice in promoting reading for enjoyment the book presents specific activities which teachers can use to develop their own whole school and classroom practice enabling them to put the fun back into reading Each chapter features case study material and provides examples of planning from schools that have successfully created thriving reading cultures through schemes such as reading assemblies book clubs library loyalty cards school book evenings and quizzes There is also an extensive annotated list of print and internet based resources Topics covered include Becoming a reading for pleasure school Promoting a love of reading in the early years Developing reading enjoyment in the later primary years Getting boys reading Promoting Reading for Pleasure in the Primary School is written for all those involved in education who would like to see as many children as possible develop a love of reading It will be particularly relevant for primary teachers teaching assistants trainee teachers advisers and consultants as well as teacher educators and researchers

Nell,1988 Reading and Writing for Pleasure

Teresa Cremin, Helen Hendry, Liz Chamberlain, Samantha Jayne Hulston, 2025-09-12 Reading and writing for pleasure represent issues of global concern and interest in policy research and practice underpinned by evidence illustrating their importance for young people's academic, social and emotional experiences and outcomes. In the face of a sustained decline in children's enjoyment in both reading and writing, this highly significant book presents findings from a three-year study of research and practice that nurtures young people's engagement as readers and writers. The book offers a rich understanding of the study, highlighting the commonalities and synergies identified from the research literature and diverse practice contexts. It introduces a new and powerful Reading and Writing Framework for Practice for schools and charitable literacy programmes. The authors offer practical strategies and recommendations throughout for practitioners, researchers and policy makers who wish to advance this agenda in their own contexts. Areas covered include: The nature of reading and writing for pleasure; Literate identities; Motivating readers and writers; Social interactions; Role models and connected communities; Future research practice and policy. This field-defining text is a key resource for all those committed to halting the decline in young people's engagement as volitional readers and writers. Classroom Reading for Enjoyment Mellie

Green, 2024-09-21 This book provides guidance for improving primary classroom reading instruction. As education stakeholders now recognise there is an urgent need for policy and practice beyond phonics and for improved reading outcomes, this timely text supports a well-balanced, effective and affective classroom reading programme. The author describes the co-generative work of Belinda, a Brisbane-based primary teacher, and her Year Three class. In a sequence of 24 descriptive vignettes, she provides details of the activities in which Belinda engages her students in weekly sessions dedicated entirely to literary appreciation and educative reading for enjoyment. The project illuminates the beauty of book-club, the significance of students' literary talk. The author applies John Dewey's philosophy on aesthetic experience in explanatory responses to Belinda's teaching and demonstrates how this work might be replicated in the primary classroom. The book will appeal to pre-service teachers and educators, academics in the field of reading instruction, dialogic pedagogy and literacy improvement, as well as primary school practitioners. Lost in a Book Victor Nell, 1990-08-29 Examines the social forces that have shaped reading, discusses the nature of reading skills and suggests connections between reading and dreaming and hypnotic trance. Reading for Pleasure: International Perspectives Teresa Cremin, Sarah
