Organic Chemistry Education Research into Practice Jay Wackerly, Sarah Zingales, Michael Wentzel, Gautam Bhattacharyya, Brett McCollum, 2025-03-25 This Research Topic has three main goals 1 provide a platform for instructors of organic chemistry to showcase evidence based methods and educational theories they have utilized in their classrooms 2 build new and strengthen existing connections between educational researchers and practitioners and 3 highlight how people have used chemical education based research in their teaching practice There are places in the literature dedicated for chemical education research CER however there is not a clear avenue for those that have changed their teaching methods based on published CER and report their experiences Creating this article collection will foster collaboration between chemical education researchers and teachers of organic chemistry This opportunity allows these instructors to share evidence based practices experiences challenges and innovative approaches from CER literature and beyond This Research Topic bridges discipline based education research and the scholarship of teaching and learning which will help advance organic chemistry education and improve student outcomes

Problems and Problem Solving in Chemistry Education Georgios Tsaparlis, 2021-05-17 Problem solving is central to the teaching and learning of chemistry at secondary tertiary and post tertiary levels of education opening to students and professional chemists alike a whole new world for analysing data looking for patterns and making deductions As an important higher order thinking skill problem solving also constitutes a major research field in science education Relevant education research is an ongoing process with recent developments occurring not only in the area of quantitative computational problems but also in qualitative problem solving The following situations are considered some general others with a focus on specific areas of chemistry quantitative problems qualitative reasoning metacognition and resource activation deconstructing the problem solving process an overview of the working memory hypothesis reasoning with the electron pushing formalism scaffolding organic synthesis skills spectroscopy for structural characterization in organic chemistry enzyme kinetics problem solving in the academic chemistry laboratory chemistry problem solving in context team based active learning technology for molecular representations IR spectra simulation and computational quantum chemistry tools The book concludes with methodological and epistemological issues in problem solving research and other perspectives in problem solving in chemistry With a foreword by George Bodner
