The Geography of the Middle East Stephen H. Longrigg, James Jankowski, 2017-09-04 Much of the Middle East is in a continuing state of visible often revolutionary change in almost every field social cultural economic political Although time will have greatly modified the conditions here presented the author emphasizes those aspects which being the least ephemeral were likely to remain valid for some years and indicates the areas in which the most change can be expected Therefore in evaluating any change that has occurred the reader will at least be informed of the conditions out of which or because of which such an event occurred In some cases Longrigg passes over important aspects of the Middle Eastern region and its component countries almost or entirely in silence among such aspects being those of military resources prominent personalities constitutional or legal issues budgets and balances of trade And even on matters upon which he has said something fairly specific topography races and languages religions climates natural resources and agronomy industry communications there may be too little detailed information to satisfy a reader desirous of a full picture of a given aspect of things in this or that territory For most of such detail and not less for an appreciation which may be widely different from the author's the student can very easily look elsewhere the literature of these countries is abundant and accessible Longrigg's attempt has been to offer an objective but informed account of the different nationalities and social forces found in Middle Eastern environments urban and rural in terms of the particular circumstances problems and hopes of the dozen separate and more or less divided states of the region The non specialist reader may from all this learn something true and perhaps suggestive while the expert may find not too much to offend him

The Disenchantment of the Orient Gil Eyal, 2006 A historical narrative of how Israeli expertise in Arab affairs has contributed to the creation of cultural separatism between Jews and Arabs a separatism that exacerbates the conflict between the two peoples People of the Mediterranean J.

Davis,2015-07-03 The Mediterranean countries have long attracted the attention of social anthropologists from Frazer and Durkheim to the present day In this volume first published in 1977 Dr Davis reviews the extensive anthropological material collected and published by people who have worked in the area and claims that social anthropologists have a distinctive opportunity to compare similar kinds of institution and process in a variety of contexts political economic bureaucratic religious He examines countries tribes and communities stretching from Spain all the way round the Mediterranean and back along the coast of North Africa In chapters on economics stratification politics family and kinship he has found it possible and sensible to set Albanian and Berber tribesmen beside each other and to discuss Italian and Lebanese peasants in the same paragraph The result is both a survey of the anthropological material and an essay in comparison founded on a critique of the work of his predecessors and colleagues The last chapter is an account of the uses anthropologists have made of the historical sources available to them Hadassah and the Zionist Project Erica B. Simmons,2006

Founded to give women a frontline role in the Zionist struggle for statehood Hadassah the WomenOs Zionist Organization of America first sent public health nurses to Palestine in 1913 Despite clashing with other Zionist organizations as it fought to keep control of its own projects Hadassah grew to be the largest single American Zionist organization in the interwar period Using original historical documents Simmons examines HadassahOs roots in the American Progressive movement and assesses some of the American field tested projects which Hadassah exported to Palestine including visiting nurses school lunches and playgrounds Hadassah chose each project carefully with a view to developing an egalitarian democratic Jewish state Simmons also traces HadassahOs involvement in the Youth Aliyah child rescue movement which saved thousands of youngsters from Nazi occupied Europe as well as from the beleaguered Jewish communities of the Middle East and North Africa In the first decades of statehood Youth Aliyah education tried to make Israelis out of young refugees from all over the world Simmons offers a fresh perspective on HadassahOs place in history and shows for the first time how American Jewish women played a leading role in achieving Zionist goals and shaping the Jewish state The book is distinguished by its historical approach rooted in the analysis of original archival material including publicity brochures newsletters and correspondence as well as the contemporary Zionist and mainstream American press It is intended for students scholars and anyone interested in American Jewish history Israeli history womenOs studies Jewish women the history of voluntarism philanthropy public health social welfare or child welfare Progressivism the history of Zionism and the development of the State of Israel Diaspora Israel relations Jewish organizations ethnic studies emergence of the welfare state Knowing Your Place Barbara Ching,Gerald W. Creed,2013-01-11 Knowing Your Place directs groundbreaking attention to the role of rural and urban places in identity construction Written to redress the longstanding neglect and denigration of the rural this book argues that the cultural dominance of the city has been reinforced by postmodern theory's near fixation on the urban and the sophisticated. The essays explore rural identity in a number of cultures and situations and look at issues of contemporary interest. Topics covered include the uses of popular and high culture, the explosion of high technology, the social and economic impact of ecological policy, the role of labor in the global marketplace, museum curatorship, and post-colonial politics. Throughout the essays address the many ways in which place identity alters and influences the experience of race, class, gender, and ethnicity.
