Rendering Techniques '98 George Drettakis, Nelson Max, 2012-12-06 Some of the best current research on realistic rendering is included in this volume. It emphasizes the current hot topics in this field: image based rendering and efficient local and global illumination calculations. In the first of these areas there are several contributions on real world model acquisition and display using image based techniques for illumination and on efficient ways to parameterize and compress images or light fields as well as on clever uses of texture and compositing hardware to achieve image warping and 3D surface textures. In global and local illumination there are contributions on extending the techniques beyond diffuse reflections to include specular and more general angle dependent reflection functions, on efficiently representing and approximating these reflection functions, on representing light sources and on approximating visibility and shadows. Finally there are two contributions on how to use knowledge about human perception to concentrate the work of accurate rendering only where it will be noticed and a survey of computer graphics techniques used in the production of a feature length computer animated film with full 3D characters.

Rendering Techniques '96 Xavier Pueyo, Peter Schröder, 2012-12-06 27 contributions treat the state of the art in Monte Carlo and Finite Element methods for radiosity and radiance. Further special topics dealt with are the use of image maps to capture light throughout space, complexity, volumetric stochastic descriptions, innovative approaches to sampling and approximation, and system architecture. The Rendering Workshop proceedings are an obligatory piece of literature for all scientists working in the rendering field, but they are also very valuable for the practitioner involved in the implementation of state of the art rendering systems, certainly influencing the scientific progress in this field.
