American Manufacturing in a Global Market Kenneth Chilton,Melinda Warren,Murray L. Weidenbaum,2012-12-06 The health of American manufacturing has been a cause of real concern during the 1980s Foreign competition hostile takeovers new technologies and a host of other factors have caused dramatic changes in this key sector of the American economy Many observers of this process of change are singing the rust belt blues consigning U S manufacturing greatness to the history books In April 1986 the Center for the Study of American Business at Washington University issued a study by its director Dr Murray L Weidenbaum which challenged this perception of American manufacturing's future The report entitled Learning to Compete pointed to a variety of positive developments resulting from the adversity faced by American firms in the first half of the decade producers had improved quality and productivity reduced costs and increased emphasis on R D In November 1988 as a logical extension of this research the Center held a conference on American Manufacturing in the 1990s Focusing on American responses to the changing global competitive environment this conference brought together the practical experience of business professionals and the more detached views of academic and media experts In a day and a half of meetings encompassing six separate sessions a luncheon address and an after dinner debate conference participants assembled an extensive profile on the state of U S

Children Iwan Rhys Morus,2014-07-14 During the second quarter of the nineteenth century Londoners were enthralled by a strange fluid called electricity In examining this period Iwan Morus moves beyond the conventional focus on the celebrated Michael Faraday to discuss other electrical experimenters who aspired to spectacular public displays of their discoveries Revealing connections among such diverse fields as scientific lecturing laboratory research telegraphic communication industrial electroplating patent conventions and innovative medical therapies Morus also shows how electrical culture was integrated into a new machine dominated consumer society He sees the history of science as part of the history of production and emphasizes the labor and material resources needed to make electricity work Frankenstein's Children explains that Faraday with his colleagues at the Royal Society and the Royal Institution looked at science as the province of a highly trained elite who presented their abstract picture of nature only to select groups The book contrasts Faraday's views with those of other practitioners to whom science was a practical skill based activity open to all In venues such as the Galleries of Practical Science electrical phenomena were presented to a public less distinguished but no less enthusiastic and curious than Faraday's audiences William Sturgeon for instance emphasized building apparatus and exhibiting electrical phenomena

Michael Ashley,1978 The Book of the Undead A Zombie Film Guide Terry Rowan,2012-03-05 A comprehensive film guide featuring films about zombies the undead and other such creatures of the dead The Gothic's Gothic Benjamin Franklin Fisher,1988 Raiding, Trading, and Feasting Laura L. Junker,1999-09-01 As early as the first millennium A D the Philippine archipelago formed the easternmost edge of a vast network of Chinese Southeast Asian Indian and Arab traders Items procured through maritime trade became key symbols of social prestige and political power for the Philippine chiefly elite Raiding Trading and Feasting presents the first comprehensive analysis of how participation in this trade related to broader changes in the political economy of these Philippine island societies By combining archaeological evidence with historical sources Laura Junker is able to offer a more nuanced examination of the nature and evolution of Philippine maritime trading chiefdoms Most importantly she demonstrates that it is the dynamic interplay between investment in the maritime luxury goods trade and other evolving aspects of local political economies rather than foreign contacts that led to the cyclical coalescence of larger and more complex chiefdoms at various times in Philippine history A broad spectrum of historical and ethnographic sources ranging from tenth century Chinese tributary trade records to turn of the century accounts of chiefly feasts of merit highlights both the diversity and commonality in evolving chiefly economic strategies within the larger political landscape of the archipelago The political ascendance of individual polities the emergence of more complex forms of social ranking and long term changes in chiefly economies are materially documented through a synthesis of archaeological research at sites dating from the Metal Age late first millennium B C to the colonial period The author draws on her archaeological fieldwork in the Tanjay River basin to investigate the long term dynamics of chiefly political economy in a single region Reaching beyond the Philippine archipelago this study contributes to the larger anthropological debate concerning ecological and cultural factors that shape political economy in chiefdoms and early states It attempts to address the question of why Philippine polities like early historic kingdoms elsewhere in Southeast Asia have a segmentary political structure in which political leaders are dependent on prestige goods exchanges personal charisma and ritual pageantry to maintain highly personalized power bases Raiding Trading and Feasting is a volume of impressive scholarship and substantial scope unmatched in the anthropological and historical literature It will be welcomed by Pacific and Asian historians and anthropologists and those interested in the theoretical issues of chiefdoms
