"Success in the arts," wrote Eugène Delacroix, "is not a matter of abridging, but of amplifying, and, if possible, of prolonging the sensation by all possible means." Lucian Freud is the great amplifier of twentieth-century figurative art. His pictures are infused with the most extraordinary sense of duration. He articulates the intimacy and sometimes the estrangement of a unique mode of paying attention to people.

All this he converts into paint on canvas, and lines etched into copper. The resulting work has the same captivating resistance to preconception or definitive explanation that a mature person has. It induces corresponding uncertainties and tensions in the viewer.

The longer you look over the last decade of Freud's work—the subject of this volume—the more you are struck by the absence of any sense of cutting loose or piling back—has emerged over this period, which may be because Freud, as Frank Auerbach wrote in 1992, "has no safety net of manner. When style, he puts it aside like a blunted pencil and finds a procedure more suited to his needs."

More noticeable than any late-emerging manner, perhaps, is the quickening variety of the work: huge paintings have been completed alongside portraits alone, body portraits, grandchildren in various guises.

What determines the subjects? "The only impulse," he often says, "is that I am similarly unprepared." "The last few years I caught up with what I noticed that in the past I was using my brush rather delicately. I was amused by it, but it was like people shouting because somehow it will get through. If you can use almost any brush, the urgency is not there."

The urgency may explain the famously slow go of Freud's (in most cases it's no finish; some take weeks or months). Both, how-

Introduction Sebastian Smee The graphics of Lucian Freud Richard Calvocoressi Baroque Tendencies in Contemporary Art Kelly A. Wacker,2021-02-03 Baroque Tendencies in Contemporary Art is a collection of essays by an international cadre of scholars addressing current trends within the field of contemporary art and how artists and architects reflect upon past traditions and fold them into the present Often referred to as the Neo Baroque scholarship on this topic first emerged in the 1980s with the publication of several notable studies in France but not translated into English until the 1990s in addition a number of recent exhibitions have focused on contemporary responses to the Baroque The Baroque and the Neo Baroque are frequently defined as having a propensity for instability seriality reflexivity fluidity and spectacle This is perhaps partly why in the millennial period there is so much interest in the Baroque we are seeking ways to find parallels between the art of then and the art of our own diverse pluralistic culture This book provides context for how contemporary artists meet and deal with the Baroque both formally and conceptually Among others it provides discussions of the work of American artists John Currin Jeff Koons Frank Stella Lisa Yuskavage American architect Frank Gehry European artists Lucian psychoanalysis until the work of Erik Erikson in the 1950s but today it is considered a key factor in understanding individuals and groups It is a concept of enormous complexity encompassing biological aspects internalised object representations that determine the inner world of the subject and relational aspects in the real world Answering the question Who am I really is a task that can span a lifetime Constructing one's own identity involves social cognitive rational and unconscious processes These elements underpin the answer to this question and its corollary What is my value As we move from looking at individuals in isolation to looking at groups we are also confronted with processes of identity construction and repair this time group identities through movements in which sexuality and its expression in the group play a major role This volume begins by exploring how issues of identity underlie many of the phenomena that attract our attention today both as clinicians and as citizens It opens with social and political phenomena such as nationalism where identity issues are most evident and then looks at individual nations such as Spain and their difficulty in maintaining a valuable identity shared by its citizens This is followed by an analysis of some aspects of social violence and the response to it electoral processes and the manipulation of citizens and also the impact on personal and group identity of the contemporary dynamics in large corporations where double speak and the infantilisation of employees have become commonplace In the second part Miguel Angel Gonzalez Torres reflects on how we can understand the sexual functioning of individuals and groups from an identity perspective emphasising the role of female sexuality as a sentinel element that signals deep group identity dynamics Gender identities and the social response to new proposals and attitudes in this area the contrast between desire and submission and the under explored complexity of the father s role in the contemporary family unit also require a look at the role of individual and collective identity Finally the focus is on artistic creation Mythical authors and mythical works always have an impact on personal and even social identity Many cinematographic works presuppose that the authors are searching for an answer to the question of identity who am I Or rather who are we The book concludes with a reflection on the reparative effect that the urban landscape can have on citizens through buildings and urban plans that relate to people and respond to their desires both conscious and unconscious The book proposes a journey through these three main areas reflecting on the importance of the construction and repair of individual and collective identity in our lives as social beings in our attitudes to sexuality and desire and in our dual role as creators and viewers of art It is the perfect book for curious minds London Calling Elena Crippa, Catherine Lampert, 2016-07-26 Between the postwar years and the 1980s in Britain and in particular in London a number of figurative painters simultaneously reinvented the way in which life is represented in art Focusing on the depiction of the human figure these artists rendered the frailty and vitality of the human condition Offering a fresh account of developments that have since characterized postwar British painting this catalogue focuses on Michael Andrews Frank Auerbach Francis Bacon Lucian Freud R B Kitaj and Leon Kossoff artists who worked in close proximity as they were developing new forms of realism If for many years their efforts seemed to clash with dominant tendencies reassessment in recent decades has afforded their work a central position in a richer and more complex understanding of postwar British art and culture Rigorous and gorgeously illustrated the essays reflect on the parallel yet diverse trajectories of these artists their friendships and mutual admiration and the divergence of their practice from the discourse of high modernism The authors seek to dispel the notion of their work as a uniquely British endeavor by highlighting the artists international outlook and ongoing dialogue with contemporary European and American painters as well as masters from previous generations This book is published to coincide with an exhibition at the J Paul Getty Museum from July 26 through November 13 2016 The philosophical and theological study of the eucharist in the Catholic Church Emmanuel Falque s The Wedding Feast of the Lamb represents a turning point in his thought Here Falque links philosophy and theology in an original fashion that allows us to see the full effect of theology s backlash against philosophy By attending closely to the incarnation and the eucharist Falque develops a new concept of the body and of love By avoiding the common mistake of angelism consciousness without body Falque considers the depths to which our humanity reflects animality or body without consciousness He shows the continued relevance of the question How can this man give us his flesh to eat John 6 52 especially to philosophy We need to question the meaning of this is my body in a way that responds to the needs of our time Vatican II Because of the ways that Hoc est corpus meum has shaped our culture and our modernity this is a problem both for religious belief and for culture Praise for The Wedding Feast of the Lamb Animality embodiedness and eros such for Emmanuel Falque are the grounds for our hope as we kneel before the altar and await the words of consecration in the Eucharist and behold not only what nourishes us here but also an intimacy promised to us hereafter Here as a complement to theologies of the Eucharist is a phenomenology of the sacred liturgy perhaps the most capacious account of our desire for Christ in the Sacrament offered to us by a contemporary Kevin Hart The University of Virginia A generative text for advanced study of worship and a deeper engagement of phenomenological approaches to sacramental theology Homiletic The Journal of the Academy of Homiletics innovative new book Alison Bancroft re examines significant moments in twentieth century fashion history through the focal lens of psychoanalytic theory Her discussion centres on studies of fashion photography haute couture queer dressing and fashion art in an attempt to shed new light on these key issues According to Bancroft problems of subjectivity are played out through fashion in the public arena and not just in the dark unknowable unconscious mind The question of what can be said and what can only be experienced and how these two issues may be reconciled become questions that fashion addresses on an almost daily basis Psychoanalysis has been profoundly influential in the arts thanks to its capacity to add layers of meaning to things that without it would remain obtuse and intractable It has proved crucial to the development of film studies art theory and literary criticism What it has not yet been brought into dialogue with in great depth is fashion By interpreting fashion within a psychoanalytic frame Bancroft illustrates how fashion articulates some of the essential and sometimes frightening truths about the body femininity and the self Newcomers' Lives Peter Unwin,2013-01-31 How the culture and life of the British people have been transformed by the contribution of immigrants in recent history Sites of Exchange Maurizio Ascari,Adriana Corrado,2006 Crossing borders both physically and imaginatively is part of our nomadic postmodern identity but transcultural and transnational exchanges have also played a major role in the centuries long processes of hybridisation that helped to fashion the vast geographic political and imaginative container of diversity we call Europe This volume gathers together the work of scholars from several European countries in an attempt to encourage a collective reflection upon historical and often mythical locations and landscapes as well as upon the thresholds and faultlines that unite or separate them The issues the volume tackles are delicate and complex for the encounter of differences engenders both curiosity and suspicion and there is no easy way to create a new synthesis while respecting and promoting diversity However since Europe is inevitably a cultural and political entity in the making Europeans should embrace the great narrative of a utopian project uniting their efforts to work towards a civilisation that is grounded on plurality and openness Choice ,2006
