Cross-Cultural Knowledge Management Manlio Del Giudice, Elias G. Carayannis, Maria Rosaria Della

Peruta, 2011-12-15 Cross cultural knowledge management an elusive yet consequential phenomenon is becoming an increasingly essential factor in organizational practice and policy in the era of globalization In order to overcome culturally shaped blind spots in conducting research in different settings this volume highlights how the structuring of roles interests and power among different organizational elements such as teams departments and management hierarchies each comprised of members from different intellectual and professional backgrounds generates various paradoxes and tensions that bring into play a set of dynamics that have an impact on learning processes In this context such questions often arise How is knowledge shared in the multicultural organization What problems and issues emerge How do different mentalities affect people's responses to new knowledge and new ideas How can knowledge sharing processes be improved Under which conditions do ideas generated by units or groups of different cultural traditions have a chance of being heard and implemented Such questions translate into an investigation of potential managerial dilemmas that occur when different but equally valid choices create tensions in decision making The authors draw from experiences working with a wide variety of organizations and insights from such fields as sociology and psychology to shed new light on the dynamics of knowledge management in the multicultural enterprise In so doing they help to identify both obstacles to successful communication and opportunities to inspire creativity and foster collaboration The authors note that in order to enable organizations to transfer knowledge effectively mechanisms for dispute settlement mediation of cultural conflict and enforcing agreements need to be in place

Fairness and Division of Labor in Market Societies Hyeong-Ki Kwon, 2004-10-01 Contrary to the explanations offered by the theory of non reflexive path dependent institutionalism the U S and the German automotive industries undertook strikingly similar patterns of industry modification under tough international competition during the 1990s departing from their traditional national patterns By investigating the processes of the U S and German adjustments the author critically reconsiders the prevalent paradigms of political economy and comes to the conclusion that the evidence does not confirm the neoliberal paradigm In order to better account for the recomposition of new market relations which the author terms converging but non liberal and diverging but not predetermined markets he proposes an alternative model of politics among reflexive agents emphasizing different kinds of problem solving practices among those reflexive agents He argues that different forms and regimes of market are established in the process of recomposition in which agents reflect upon not only market rationality but also upon their own institutions creating new norms
