Playing the PhD Game with Integrity John A Bowden, Pamela J Green, 2019-06-17 This book focuses on integrity throughout the PhD journey and beyond and is organised around two main themes 1 integrity in relation to the capabilities developed by doctoral candidates for professional practice and 2 integrity and coherence at the PhD system level The working methods of key participants such as PhD candidates supervisors university managers government agencies and politicians are central to achieving integrity goals within PhD programmes In this context a number of constructs are developed that inform the practice based elements of the book in relation to conducting doctoral research research supervision academic writing and research training support systems in particular these include our Moral Compass Framework for professional integrity notions of collective morality decision making when faced with wicked problems connected moral capability and our double helix model of capability development negotiated sense in contrast with common sense completion mindsets and contexts mindfulness liminality and mutual catalysis in joint authorship While the data the book employs stems from practice led research within the Australian doctoral system the conclusions drawn are of global relevance Throughout the book wherever appropriate comparisons are made between the Australian context and other contexts such as the doctoral systems of the United Kingdom Europe and the United States

Women and Literacy Beth Daniell, Peter Mortensen, 2020-08-17 Path breaking research on women and literacy in the past decade established conventions and advanced innovative methods that push the making of knowledge into new spheres of inquiry Taking these accomplishments as a point of departure this volume emphasizes the diversity of approaches and subjects that characterizes the next generation of research on women and literacy It builds on and critiques scholarship in literacy studies composition studies rhetorical theory gender studies postcolonial theory and cultural studies to open new venues for future research Contributors discuss what literacy is more precisely what literacies are but their strongest interest is in documenting and theorizing women's lived experience of these literacies with particular attention to the diversity of women's literacies within the U S including but not limited to the varying relations that exist among women literacy economic position class race sexuality and education relations among women literacy and economic contexts in the U

S and abroad including but not limited to changes in women's private and domestic literacies the evolution of technologies of literacy and women's experience of the commodification of literacies and emergent roles of women and literacy in a globally interdependent world This broad significant work is a must read for researchers and graduate students across the fields of literacy studies composition studies rhetorical theory and gender studies If Babel Had a Form Tze-Yin Teo, 2022-04-05

The likeness of form between Chinese and English sentences writes the American Sinologist Ernest Fenollosa around 1906 renders translation from one to the other exceptionally easy If Babel Had a Form asks not if his claim may be true but what its phantasmic surprise may yet do In twentieth century intersections of China and Asia with the United States translations did more than communicate meaning across politicized and racializing differences of language and nation Transpacific translation breached the regulative protocols that created those very differences of human value and cultural meaning The result Tze Yin Teo argues saw translators cleaving to the sounds and shapes of poetry to imagine a translingual likeness of form but not of meaning or kind At stake in this form without meaning is a startling new task of equivalence As a concept equivalence has been rejected for its colonizing epistemology of value naming a broken promise of translation and false premise of comparison Yet the writers studied in this book veered from those ways of knowing to theorize a poetic equivalence negating the colonial foundations of the concept they ignited aporias of meaning into flashpoints for a radical literary translation The book's transpacific readings glean those forms of equivalence from the writing of Fenollosa the vernacular experiments of Boxer Scholar Hu Shi the trilingual musings of Shanghai born Los Angeles novelist Eileen Chang the minor work of the Bay Area Korean American transmedial artist Theresa Cha and a post Tiananmen elegy by the exiled dissident Yang Lian The conclusion returns to the deconstructive genealogy of recent debates on translation and untranslatability displacing the axiom of radical alterity for a no less radical equivalence that remains pace Fenollosa far from easy or exceptional Ultimately If Babel Had a Form illuminates the demanding force of even the slightest sameness entangled in the translator's work of remaking our differences Journal of Reading ,1983
