Re-Imagining Community and Civil Society in Latin America and the Caribbean Roberta Rice, Gordana Yovanovich, 2016-07-15 Latin American and Caribbean communities and civil societies are undergoing a rapid process of transformation Instead of pervasive social atomization political apathy and hollowed out democracies which have become the norm in some parts of the world this region is witnessing an emerging collaboration between community civil society and government that is revitalizing democracy This book argues that a key explanation lies in the powerful and positive relationship between community and civil society that exists in the region The ideas of community and civil society tend to be studied separately as analytically distinct concepts however this volume seeks to explore their potential to work together A unique contribution of the work is the space for dialogue it creates between the social sciences and the humanities Many of the studies included in the volume are based on primary fieldwork and place based case studies Others relate literature music and film to important theoretical works providing a new direction in interdisciplinary studies and highlighting the role that the arts play in community revival and broader processes of social change A truly multi disciplinary book bridging established notions of civil society and community through an authentically interdisciplinary approach to the topic The Relational Fabric of Community Kenneth C. Bessant, 2018-04-10 Theoretical and philosophical work on community has yielded multifold definitions and analytical frameworks Kenneth C Bessant reflects on the inherent complexity and diversity of this deeply intersubjective aspect of lived social experience He explores the relational underpinnings of early and more contemporary approaches to the study of community with a particular emphasis on their core assumptions concepts and tenets Each of these perspectives offers a relatively distinct interpretation of community while also revealing the intrinsically relational fabric of its perpetual emergence dynamism and transformation The being with of relational social existence is the fundamental basis upon which all conceptions of community are built and this is the epicenter around which the book revolves Community is born of exists within and brings forth social relations It is a living expression of relational willing thinking and acting Voluntas Militum: Community, Collective Action, and Popular Power in the Armies of the Middle Republic (300-100 BCE) Dominic M. Machado, 2023-06-20 Scholars military men and casual observers alike have devoted significant energy to understanding how the armies of the Roman Middle Republic 300 100 BCE were able to function so effectively examining their organization hierarchy recruitment tactics and ideology in close detail But what about the concerns interests and goals of the soldiers who powered it The present study argues that the military forces of the Middle Republic were not simply cogs in the Roman military machine but rather dynamic and diverse social units that played a key role in shaping an ever changing Mediterranean world Indeed the soldiers in the armies of this period not only developed connections with one another but also formed bonds with non military personnel who traveled with as well as inhabitants of the places where they campaigned The connections soldiers developed while on campaign gave them significant power and agency as a group Throughout the third and second centuries BCE soldiers took collective actions ranging from mutiny to defection to looting to ensure that their economic social and political interests were advanced and protected Recognizing the communities that Roman soldiers formed and the power that they exerted not only reframes our understanding of the Middle Republic and its armies but fundamentally alters how we conceptualize the turbulent years of the Late Republic and the massive social political and military changes that followed Community Identity and Archaeology Naoise Mac Sweeney, 2011-10-25 Community Identity and Archaeology explores the concept of community identity and its application in archaeology using the modern Turkish sites of Aphrodisias and Beycesultan as case studies to illustrate the formation and dissolution of communities over time The concept of the community is vital to the way we understand human societies both past and present and the last decade has seen widespread interest in communities from both the popular and academic spheres The concept is also central to archaeology where the relationship between sites and communities remains controversial Naoise Mac Sweeney aims to take the debate one step further setting out a comprehensive framework for the archaeological investigation of community identity encompassing theoretical approaches for its conceptualization practical methodologies for its investigation and detailed case studies in Anatolia to test and illustrate its arguments This book contributes to discussions in archaeological theory and material culture studies and is particularly relevant to archaeologists working on different types of cultural identity Community Identity and Archaeology's readership will include undergraduate and graduate students as well as academic specialists In addition the book contains material of direct historical interest for Classics and Near Eastern departments It includes valuable new research relevant for those working on Aegean Mycenaean or Early Greek antiquity as well as specialists in Anatolia including scholars working on the Hittite Phrygian and Lydian empires

Music Making Community Tony Perman, Stefan Fiol, 2024-05-21 Making music offers enormous possibilities and faces significant limitations in its power to generate belonging and advance social justice Tony Perman and Stefan Fiol edit essays focused on the forms of interplay between music making and community making as mutually creative processes Contributors in the first section look at cases where music arrived in settings with little or no sense of community and formed social bonds that lasted beyond its departure In the sections that follow the essayists turn to stable communities that used musical forms to address social needs and both forged new social groups and in some cases splintered established communities By centering the value of difference in productive feedback dynamics of music and community while asserting the need for mutual moral indebtedness they foreground music's potential to transform community for the better Contributors Stephen Blum Joanna Bosse Sylvia Bruinders Donna A Buchanan Rick Deja Veit Erlmann Stefan Fiol Eduardo Herrera David A McDonald Tony Perman Thomas Solomon and Ioannis Tsekouras

Religion and Community in the New Urban America Paul David Numrich,Elfriede Wedam,2015 Religion and Community in the New Urban America examines the interrelated transformations of cities and urban congregations The authors ask how the new metropolis affects local religious communities and what role those communities play in creating the new metropolis Through an in depth study of fifteen Chicago congregations Catholic parishes Protestant churches Jewish synagogues Muslim mosques and a Hindu temple both city and suburban this book describes congregational life and measures congregational influences on urban environments Paul D Numrich and Elfriede Wedam challenge the view held by many urban studies scholars that religion plays a small role if any in shaping postindustrial cities and that religious communities merely adapt to urban structures in a passive fashion Taking into account the spatial distribution of constituents internal traits and external actions each congregation s urban impact is plotted on a continuum of weak to moderate to strong thus providing a nuanced understanding of the significance of religion in the contemporary urban context Presenting a thoughtful analysis that includes maps of each congregation in its social geographic setting the authors offer an insightful look into urban community life today from congregations to the places in which they are embedded Rebuilding Community Shenila Khoja-Moolji,2023 Over the course of the twentieth century Shia Ismaili Muslim communities were repeatedly displaced How in the aftermath of these displacements did they remake their communities Shenila Khoja Moolji highlights women s critical role in this rebuilding process and breaks new ground by writing women into modern Ismaili history Rebuilding Community tells the story of how Ismaili Muslim women who fled East Pakistan and East Africa in the 1970s recreated religious community jamat in North America Drawing on oral histories fieldwork and memory texts Khoja Moolji illuminates the placemaking activities through which Ismaili women reproduce bonds of spiritual kinship from cooking for congregants on feast days and looking after sick coreligionists to engaging in memory work through miracle stories and cookbooks Khoja Moolji situates these activities within the framework of ethical norms that more broadly define and sustain the Ismaili sociality Jamat and religious community more generally is not a given but an ethical relation that is maintained daily and intergenerationally through everyday acts of care By emphasizing women s care work in producing relationality and repairing trauma Khoja Moolji disrupts the conventional articulation of displaced people as dependent subjects Community Gerard Delanty,2018-03-29 The increasing atomization of modern society has been accompanied by an enduring nostalgia for the idea of community as a source of security and belonging in an increasingly insecure world Far from disappearing community has been revived by transnationalism and by new kinds of individualism Gerard Delanty begins this stimulating critical introduction to the concept with an analysis of the origins of the idea of community in Western utopian thought and as a theme in classical sociology and anthropology He goes on to chart the resurgence of the idea within communitarian thought and postmodern philosophies the complications and critiques of multiculturalism and new manifestations of community within a society where changing modes of communication produce both fragmentation and possibilities of new social bonds Contemporary community he argues is essentially a communication community based on belonging and sharing and can be a powerful voice of political opposition The communities of today are less spatially bounded than those of the past but they cannot dispense with the need for a sense of belonging The communicative ties and cultural structures of contemporary societies have opened up numerous possibilities for belonging based on religion nationalism ethnicity lifestyle and gender Polyphony Bridget Backhaus,2021-07-29 This book looks at the rich and complex history of broadcasting and community broadcasting in the multicultural and multilingual milieu in India It explores the world of community radio and how community radio broadcasters hear and speak to their audiences under the overarching theme of polyphony The book discusses the socio historical contexts which allowed community radio to thrive in India It highlights its potential to create alternative spaces of representation and opportunity and its importance in preserving and disseminating local knowledge and traditions The author weaves together ethnographic research and literature as well as personal narratives and stories of those involved in the field Further the monograph critically examines the impact of development agendas on community projects and processes discussing in detail the pervasiveness of the development discourse in every aspect of community radio and how it manifests on air It also illustrates the limitations of community radio within the context of its participation in the spectacle of development Accessible and deeply insightful this book will be of interest to researchers and students of cultural studies sociology social anthropology media and communication studies and South Asian studies Local Lives Brigitte Bönisch-Brednich,2016-12-05 Local Lives contests dominant trends in migration theory demonstrating that many migrant identities have not become entirely diasporic or cosmopolitan but remain equally focused on emplaced belonging and the anxieties of being uprooted By addressing the question of how migrants legally and symbolically lay claim to owning and belonging to place it refocuses our attention on the micro politics and everyday rituals of place making that are central to the construction of migrant identities Exploring immigrants interactions with house spaces property rights environmental conservation landscape historical knowledge of place ideas of local community and place specific traditions this volume shows how in a fluid world of movement locality remains a deeply contested and symbolically rich place to situate identity and to constitute the self Thematically organised and presenting a diverse range of empirical studies dealing with migrant communities in Hawaii Britain France Spain Australia New Zealand the Dominican Republic and Albania Local Lives reorients research in migration and transnational studies around locality As such it will appeal to social scientists working on questions relating to landscape identity and belonging race and ethnicity and migration and transnationalism New Perspectives on Medieval Scotland, 1093-1286 Matthew Hammond, 2013 The essays collected here consider the changes and development of Scotland at a time of considerable flux in the 12th and 13th centuries Indigenous Communalism Carolyn Smith-Morris, 2019-10-18 Indigenous Communalism is a study of community building in Native communities and considers what models might be drawn from the strategies of Indigenous groups for post colonial communalism and native self determination in contemporary global society Drawing on her ethnographic work among the Akimel O odham and the Wiradjuri Carolyn Smith Morris shows how communal work and culture help these communities form distinctive indigenous bonds Reimagining the Immigrant B. Haley, 2009-12-07 Reimagining the Immigrant examines integrative practices by residents towards Mexican immigrants in a small farm town in America This groundbreaking book sheds light on the coexisting practices of discrimination and accommodation and the ways in which immigrants and established residents reimagine ethnic identity in a more positive light
