works by the Company's officials who emerged as the pioneering English Dravidianists and the impact of translations on the Tamil reading community. Theoretically grounded, the book makes use of contemporary perspectives to examine colonial interventions and the operation of power relations in the literary and socio-cultural spheres. It combines both critical readings of past translations and intensive research work on Tamil scholarship to locate the practice of literary works in South Asia and its colonial history, which then enables a conversation between Indian literary cultures. In this book, the author has not only explored all key scholarly sources as well as the commentaries that were used by the colonial officials, chiefly Kindersley, but also gives us an insightful critique of the Tamil works. The highlight of the discussion of Dravidian Orientalism in this book is the intralinguistic opposition of the mainstream Tamil literature in correct poetical Tamil and the folk literature in vacana Tamil. This framework allows the translators to critically engage with the work. Annotated and with an Introduction and a Glossary, this translated work is a valuable addition to our reading of colonial South India. The book will be of interest to researchers of Tamil Studies, Orientalism and Indology, translation studies, oral literature, linguistics, South Asian Studies, Dravidian Studies and colonial history.

Inscriptions of the Aulikaras and Their Associates Dániel Balogh, 2019-10-28. The Aulikaras were the rulers of western Malwa, the northwest of Central India, in the heyday of the Imperial Guptas in the fifth century CE and rose briefly to sovereignty at the beginning of the sixth century before disappearing from the spotlight of history. This book gathers all the epigraphic evidence pertaining to this dynasty, meticulously editing and translating the inscriptions and analysing their content and its implications.

Puṇḍarikā V Heleene De Jonckheere, Marie-Hélène Gorisse, Agnieszka Rostalska, 2019-10-10. This volume is the outcome of the Ninth International Indology Graduate Research Symposium held at Ghent University in September 2017, the fifth publication of proceedings from this series of symposiums. Like previous volumes, the current edition presents the results of recent research by early career scholars into the texts, languages as well as literary, philosophical and religious traditions of South Asia. The articles here collected offer a broad range of disciplinary perspectives on a wide array of subjects. In addition, in the lines of the well-established tradition of research in Jainism at Ghent University, this edition has a more specific Jain and the others' main theme. The purpose of such a theme is to contribute to determine the input of Jainism in the broader framework of South Asian traditions as well as to invite the reader to think beyond boundaries of religious or cultural identity. In this dynamic, two papers deal with Jain adaptations of famous Puranic narratives and two others with the relation between textual tradition and soteriological practices in Jainism. In concert, other innovative papers elaborate on Puranic and kavya literature, include technical discussions on linguistics and engage in philosophical studies. Finally, set in the historical context of the hosting institution, this volume opens with a history of Indology in Belgium.
