Visualizing Feeling Susan Best, 2011-06-30 Is late modern art anti aesthetic What does it mean to label a piece of art affectless These traditional characterisations of 1960s and 1970s art are radically challenged in this subversive art history By introducing feeling to the analysis of this period Susan Best acknowledges the radical and exploratory nature of art in late modernism Her book focuses on four highly influential female artists Eva Hesse Lygia Clark Ana Mendieta and Theresa Hak Kyung Cha and it explores how their art transformed established avant garde protocols by introducing an affective dimension This aspect of their work while often noted has never before been analysed in detail Visualizing Feeling also addresses a methodological blind spot in art history the interpretation of feeling emotion and affect It demonstrates that the affective dimension alongside other materials and methods of art is part of the artistic means of production and innovation This is the first thorough re appraisal of aesthetic engagement with affect in post 1960s art The book also extends and enlarges the applications of psychoanalytic theory to art history Susan Best draws on a rich array of psychologists and psychoanalytic thinkers such as Andr Green Sarah Kofman Melanie Klein Donald Winnicott Ignacio Matte Blanco Silvan Tomkins and Daniel Stern In addition key aesthetic ideas and concepts are interrogated including expressive theories of art beauty and the sublime and embodied responses to art By creatively re evaluating late modern art Susan Best offers a new way of thinking about subjectivity and feeling which acknowledges and celebrates the achievements of the feminine avant garde

Machine in the Studio Caroline A. Jones, 1996 Drawing on extensive interviews with artists and their assistants as well as close readings of artworks Jones explains that much of the major work of the 1960s was compelling precisely because it was mainstream central to the visual and economic culture of its time Abstraction and the Holocaust Mark

Godfrey,2007-01-01 Mark Godfrey looks closely at a series of American art and architectural projects that respond to the memory of the Holocaust He investigates how abstract artists and architects have negotiated Holocaust memory without representing the Holocaust figuratively or symbolically Allan Kaprow, Robert Smithson, and the Limits to Art Philip

Ursprung,Fiona Elliott,2013-05-10 This innovative study of two of the most important artists of the twentieth century links the art practices of Allan Kaprow and Robert Smithson in their attempts to test the limits of art both what it is and where it is Ursprung provides a sophisticated yet accessible analysis placing the two artists firmly in the art world of the 1960s as well as in the art historical discourse of the following decades Although their practices were quite different they both extended the studio and gallery into desert landscapes abandoned warehouses industrial sites train stations and other spaces

Ursprung bolsters his argument with substantial archival research and sociological and economic models of expansion and limits Modern Arts Criticism ,1992 A biographical and critical guide to painters sculptors photographers and architects from the beginning of the modern era to the present Made in U.S.A. Sidra Stich,University Art Museum

Berkeley,1987-01-01 Made in U S A takes a new look at American art of the 1950s and 1960s and shows us how American it was This is a provocative study of those artists who appropriated everyday images from the world of mass media and suburban living and forced their viewers into a sometimes witty sometimes bittersweet confrontation with the realities of living in late twentieth century America René Magritte and the Art of Thinking Lisa Lipinski,2019-04-04 For Ren Magritte painting was a form of thinking Through paintings of ordinary objects rendered with illusionism Magritte probed the limits of our perception what we see and cannot see the nature of representation as a philosophical system for presenting ideas and explored perspective as a method of visual argumentation This book makes the claim that Magritte s painting is about vision and the act of viewing of perception itself and the process of how we see and experience things in the world including paintings as things Figuring Jasper Johns Fred Orton,1994 The author begins this challenging monograph by probing

Modernism s surfaces and subjects its public and private meanings in order to establish Johns s importance as the modern allegorical artist in the years after Abstract Expressionism Yet Figuring Jasper Johns is not an essay that presumes to offer an instant interpretation Rather Fred Orton self consciously constructs a Jasper Johns whose work is introduced and explained in three chapters each of which addresses a specific picture or sculpture like Flag Painted Bronze Savarin and Untitled 1992 These in depth studies situate individual works in their social context as well as in Johns s oeuvre Fred Orton s purpose is to get to terms with and find terms for a difficult and elusive body of work by one of the most important artists of the 20th century New Art City Jed Perl,2007-02-13 In this landmark work Jed Perl captures the excitement of a generation of legendary artists Jackson Pollack Joseph Cornell Robert Rauschenberg and Ellsworth Kelly among them who came to New York mingled in its lofts and bars and revolutionized American art In a continuously arresting narrative Perl also portrays such less well known figures as the galvanic teacher Hans Hofmann the lyric expressionist Joan Mitchell and the adventuresome realist Fairfield Porter as well the writers critics and patrons who rounded out the artists world Brilliantly describing the intellectual crosscurrents of the time as well as the genius of dozens of artists New Art City is indispensable for lovers of modern art and culture

Binding the Absent Body in Medieval and Modern Art Emily Kelley, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays considers artistic works that deal with the body without a visual representation It explores a range of ways to represent this absence of the figure from abject elements such as bodily fluids and waste to surrogate forms including reliquaries manuscripts and cloth The collection focuses on two eras medieval and modern when images referencing the absent body have been far more prolific in the history of art In medieval times works of art became direct references to the absent corporal essence of a divine being like Christ or were used as devotional aids By contrast in the modern era artists often reject depictions of the physical body in order to distance themselves from the history of the idealized human form Through these essays it becomes apparent even when the body is not visible in a work of art it is often still present tangentially Though the essays in this volume bridge two historical periods they have coherent thematic links dealing with abjection embodiment and phenomenology Whether figurative or abstract sacred or secular medieval or modern the body maintains a presence in these works even when it is not at first apparent
