Dana Arnold

Robert Adam And Kedleston:

Robert and James Adam, Architects of the Age of Enlightenment Ariyuki Kondo, 2015-10-06 During the second half of the eighteenth century British architecture moved away from the dominant school of classicism in favour of a more creative freedom of expression At the forefront of this change were architect brothers Robert and James Adam Kondo's work places them within the context of eighteenth century intellectual thought Robert Adam and Kedleston Leslie Harris, 1987-01-01

The Education of the Eye Peter De Bolla, 2003 The Education of the Eye examines the origins of visual culture in eighteenth century Britain setting out to reclaim visual culture for the democracy of the eye and to explain how aesthetic contemplation may once more be open to all who have eyes to look American Federal Furniture and Decorative Arts from the Watson Collection Philip D. Zimmerman, Catherine E. Hutchins, 2004 While demonstrating the high level of artistry attained by furniture makers of the period this selection in many ways reflects the evolving character of domestic life in America during a seminal period in the country's history The Architecture of Ruins Jonathan Hill, 2019-03-25 The Architecture of Ruins Designs on the Past Present and Future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin This design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death Conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture Structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society Emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design Like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present Equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief We expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil The architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian Like building sites ruins are full of potential In revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past As a stimulus to the imagination a ruin's incomplete and broken forms expand architecture's allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects Emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change Robert Adam's Country Houses Geoffrey Beard, Robert Adam, 1981 The Architecture of Robert & James Adam (1758-1794) Arthur Thomas Bolton, 1922 The life, work and influence of Robert Adam and his brothers, prize essay John Swarbrick, 1903 Robert and James Adam Joseph Rykwert, Anne Rykwert, 1985 Reading Architectural History Dana Arnold, 2003-09-02 Architectural history is more than just the study of buildings Architecture of the past and present remains an essential emblem of a distinctive social system and set of cultural values and as a result it has been the subject of study of a variety of disciplines But what is architectural history and how should we read it Reading Architectural History examines the historiographic and socio cultural implications of the mapping of British architectural history with particular reference to eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain Discursive essays consider a range of writings from biographical and social histories to visual surveys and guidebooks to examine the narrative structures of histories of architecture and their impact on perception and understanding of the architecture of the past Alongside this each chapter cites canonical histories juxtaposed with a range of social and cultural theorists to reveal that these writings are richer than we have perhaps recognised and that architectural production in this period can be interrogated in the same way as that from more recent past and can be read in a variety of ways The essays and texts combine to form an essential course reader for methods and critical approaches to architectural history and more generally as examples of the kind of evidence used in the formation of architectural histories while also offering a thematic introduction to architecture in Britain and its social and cultural meaning The Furniture of Robert Adam Eileen Harris, 1973 Decorative Plasterwork in Great Britain Geoffrey Beard, Jeff Orton, Richard Ireland, 2015-10-06 Decorative plasterwork was created by skilled craftsmen and for over four hundred years it has been an essential part of the interior decoration of the British country house In this detailed and comprehensive study Geoffrey Beard has created a book that will delight the eye and inform the interested reader For those who have sometimes been puzzled by the complexities of plaster decoration it will be a most useful work of reference on a fascinating art form about which no book has been published for nearly fifty years After discussing the part that patrons played in commissioning and financing these beautiful decorations a useful chapter is devoted to materials and methods of work and here the author describes the ingredients of good plaster he has studied the work of present day English plasterers and Swiss stucco restorers in order to establish precisely how the materials of plaster and stucco were composed and used Calcutta Krishna Dutta, 2003 In the popular imagination Calcutta is a packed and pestilential sprawl made notorious by the Black Hole and the works of Mother Teresa Kipling called it a City of Dreadful Night and a century later V S Naipaul Gunter Grass and Louis Malle revived its hellish image This is the place where the West first truly encountered the East Founded in the 1690s by East India Company merchants beside the Hugli River Calcutta grew into India's capital during the Raj and the second city of the British Empire Named the City of Palaces for its neoclassical mansions Calcutta was the city of Clive Hastings Macaulay and Curzon It was also home to extraordinary Bengalis such as Rabindranath Tagore the first Asian Nobel laureate and Satyajit Ray among the geniuses of world cinema Above all Calcutta renamed Kolkata in 2001 is a city of extremes where exquisite refinement rubs shoulders with coarse commercialism and political violence Krishna Dutta explores these multiple paradoxes giving personal insight into Calcutta's unique history and modern identity as reflected in its architecture literature cinema and music CITY OF ARTISTS Modern India's cultural capital home city of The Chamber Organ in Britain, 1600-1830 Michael I.

Wilson, 2017-07-05 The first edition of The English Chamber Organ was published in 1968 This new revised edition takes into account the considerable research into chamber organs that has taken place over the last thirty years Much of the book has been completely rewritten and expanded and it includes a number of organs not detailed in the first edition As its revised title suggests this new edition covers foreign make imports as well as British made organs that were sent overseas Part one comprises a series of chapters that cover the history of the chamber organ its origins and development Part two provides a general introduction to the construction of organs while part three gives detailed descriptions of 196 British chamber organs with information on their location specifications design and suggestions for further reading As a domestic instrument the chamber organ was often perceived to be as much a piece of furniture as an item of musical equipment The Chamber Organ in Britain offers an assessment of the organ as both a musical instrument and as a decorative icon An Encyclopaedia of

British Bridges David McFetrich, 2019-04-30 An already impressive reference work has been made significantly more valuable a well illustrated alphabetized compendium of notable bridges The Happy Pontist Bridges have a universal appeal as examples of man's mastery of nature from picturesque packhorse bridges to great spans stretching across broad estuaries and the development of the technology that allows ever more audacious constructions is never ending Of the million or more bridges throughout Great Britain David McFetrich has selected those that are significant in terms of their design construction or location or of their connections with people or events of history His definitive book contains 1 600 separate entries for individual bridge sites or related groups of bridges covering more than 2 000 different structures 165 general entries about different types of bridge and such topics as collapses and failures and a summary of about 200 record holding bridges in 50 different categories The concise text is supported by more than 900 illustrations and diagrams The result is a fascinating and readily accessible compendium The Institute of Civil Engineers ICA is also on board A valuable resource to use if you plan to visit some of these structures while on holiday or are merely planning a day out East Yorkshire Family History Society Well written and researched and eminently readable Because of the ubiquity of bridges throughout Great Britain this volume should have wide appeal NZ Crown Mines Full of details covering the many bridges around the UK I found it fascinating to see the variety of bridges around Britain even the ones not railway related Rail Advent Malcolm - Soldier, Diplomat, Ideologue of British India John Malcolm, 2014-08-01 Highly regarded in India and Persia to this day Sir John Malcolm is remarkably little known in his native Scotland This book describes his extraordinary journey from modest origins to become a leading player in the transformation of the East India Company from a largely commercial enterprise into an agent of imperial government during a crucial period of British and Indian political history Born in 1769 Malcolm was one of seventeen children of a tenant farmer in the Scottish Borders Leaving school family and country at thirteen he achieved distinction in India over the next half century A quintessential all rounder he excelled in many fields as a professional soldier he campaigned with Wellington in south India and rose to Major General as an administrator he pacified Central India and later became Governor of Bombay He led three Company missions to Persia in the early stages of diplomatic rivalry between Britain and Russia the Great Game He was fluent in several languages and wrote nine influential books including The History of Persia Based on extensive research in Britain India and Iran this biography brings to life the story of a talented and ambitious man living in a dramatic era of imperial history Robert Adam, Artist and Architect Percy Hetherington Fitzgerald,1904 The Sketch ,1898 Country Life ,1901 Country Life Illustrated ,1901
