The background of the entire image is a photograph of a woman in silhouette, sitting on the floor and looking out a window. The scene is dramatically lit from behind, creating a strong backlight effect with visible light rays (crepuscular rays) streaming through the window. The overall color palette is warm, dominated by deep reds, oranges, and yellows, which also serves as the background for the text.

Missing Bodies Monica Casper, Lisa Jean Moore, 2009-07 We know more about the physical body how it begins how it responds to illness even how it decomposes than ever before Yet not all bodies are created equal some bodies clearly count more than others and some bodies are not recognized at all In Missing Bodies Monica J Casper and Lisa Jean Moore explore the surveillance manipulations erasures and visibility of the body in the twenty first century The authors examine bodies both actual and symbolic in a variety of arenas pornography fashion sports medicine photography cinema sex work labor migration medical tourism and war This new politics of visibility can lead to the overexposure of some bodies Lance Armstrong Jessica Lynch and to the near invisibility of others dead Iraqi civilians illegal immigrants the victims of HIV AIDS and natural disasters Missing Bodies presents a call for a new engaged way of seeing and recovering bodies in a world that routinely often strategically obscures or erases them It poses difficult even startling questions Why did it take so long for the United States media to begin telling stories about the falling bodies of 9 11 Why has the United States government refused to allow photographs or filming of flag draped coffins carrying the bodies of soldiers who are dying in Iraq Why are the bodies of girls and women so relentlessly sexualized By examining the cultural politics at work in such disappearances and inclusions of the physical body the authors show how the social medical and economic consequences of visibility can reward or undermine privilege in society
