Lost, yesterday, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. No reward is offered for they are gone forever.

Focus-related Operations at the Right Edge in Spanish Iván Ortega-Santos, 2016-05-11 Syntactic movement is a pervasive phenomenon in natural language and as such has played a key role in syntactic theorizing Nonetheless an understanding of the mechanism that allows a constituent to appear to the right of its base generated position has remained elusive This groundbreaking research monograph aims to address this gap in our knowledge by expanding the inventory of languages and data sets traditionally considered in the literature Specifically Ortega Santos analyzes the interplay between focus word order and ellipsis in Spanish A major finding that emerges from the analysis is that the tension between linearization requirements and rightward movement is diminished by ellipsis Current debates on the syntax of the VOS order and preverbal subjects in Null Subject Languages also figure prominently in the discussion as novel empirical evidence for the existence of null expletives is provided a non trivial issue for our understanding of the Extended Projection Principle and subjecthood across languages
