Resituating Identities The Politics Of Race Ethnicity And Culture:

Re-Situating Identities Vered Amit, Caroline Knowles, 1996-03 These essays seek to re energize race and ethnic studies by moving away from the extremes of statistical reductionism and textual preoccupation that have marked the field and focusing instead on systematic and empirically grounded investigations of the production of identities in power relationships

Beyond Racial Divides Lena Dominelli, Walter Lorenz, 2017-03-02 Written by leading authorities in the field this challenging book addresses complex issues of ethnicity and racial discrimination in ways that encourage further debate and analysis Its main theme is that social work has been and remains deeply implicated in racist policies and practices that have been locality specific but that racism is also recognizable across borders as a phenomenon that appears everywhere At the same time the book focuses on innovative theories and practice which seek to promote an emancipatory social work which sets itself the goal of eradicating social injustice particularly that applying to race The contributors come from a wide range of countries and describe their experiences in tackling racism in social work at the levels of both theory and practice This provides an impressive range of perspectives which cover models of social work created by people who have had to live with racism and find ways of overcoming it as well as those who have struggled to become able to express their own ethnicity without oppressing others The concluding message of the book is a positive one people can create a world that goes beyond racial divides by accepting validating and celebrating diversity while at the same time recognizing that people share many commonalities with others which can be used to establish egalitarian relationships realize social justice and communicate effectively with each other

Strange Encounters Sara Ahmed, 2013-02-01 Examining the relationship between strangers embodiment and community Strange Encounters challenges the assumptions that the stranger is simply anybody we do not recognize and instead proposes that he or she is socially constructed as somebody we already know Using feminist and postcolonial theory this book examines the impact of multiculturalism and globalization on embodiment and community whilst considering the ethical and political implication of its critique for post colonial feminism A diverse range of texts are analyzed which produce the figure of the stranger showing that it has alternatively been expelled as the origin of danger such as in neighbourhood watch or celebrated as the origin of difference as in multiculturalism The author argues that both of these standpoints are problematic as they involve stranger fetishism they assume that the stranger has a life of its own

Critical Multiculturalism Stephen May, 2005-08-18 This book aims to bring together two movements multiculturalism and anti racism which though having aims in common have been at arms length in the past Differences of emphasis have meant that classroom practice has been the natural realm of multiculturalism while anti racism has been dissatisfied with an approach that accentuates life style at the expense of challenging or changing the racism that minority students experience In these debates there has been a concentration on culturally specific topics and this book goes beyond national boundaries to find how international concerns and contexts might provide answers to problems faced in single countries Leading figures in the USA Canada South Africa the UK and Australasia write on the issues The Courage to Connect Sandra L. Faiman-Silva, 2004 An examination of the transformation of a town from a Portuguese ethnic community into a predominantly homosexual tourist enclave Focuses on Provincetown RI Based on over six years of fieldwork Sandra L Faiman Silva's The Courage to Connect traces the transformation of the well known Cape Cod community of Provincetown from its nineteenth century origins a Portuguese fishing town to its present status as a welcoming sexually diverse tourist enclave The book critically examines the history of the Portuguese ethnic community and the local economy as well as the nature of intersections between gay and straight culture in areas such as public education local government and the police Using queer and critical culture theory to deconstruct day to day local encounters it lays bare the roots of social conflicts and how they can be resolved Capturing the pathos and joy of a community that has struggled to accommodate radical social changes The Courage to Connect serves as a model for understanding how communities can construct themselves to overcome their differences Whiteness Fractured Cynthia Levine-Rasky, 2016-02-11 Whiteness Fractured examines the many ways in which whiteness is conceptualized today and how it is understood to operate and to effect social relationships Exploring the intersections between whiteness social class ethnicity and psychosocial phenomena this book is framed by the question of how whiteness works and what it does With attention to central concepts and the history of whiteness it explains the four ways in which whiteness works In its examination of the outward and inward fractures of whiteness the book sheds light on both its connections with social class and ethnicity and with the epistemology of ignorance and the psychoanalytic Representing the long career of whiteness on the one hand and investigating its expansion into new areas on the other Whiteness Fractured reflects the growing maturity of critical whiteness studies It undertakes a critical analysis of approaches to whiteness and proposes new directions for future action and enquiry As such it will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in race and ethnicity intersectionality colonialism and post colonialism and cultural studies

Downwardly Global Lalaie Ameeriar, 2017-03-10 Lalaie Ameeriar follows the experiences of immigrant Pakistani women in Toronto who despite being skilled white collar workers suffer high levels of unemployment and poverty and who are advised by government sanctioned worker programs to conform to an embodied form of multiculturalism that privileges whiteness and erases difference Cartographies of Violence Mona Oikawa, 2012-09-10 In 1942 the federal government expelled more than 22 000 Japanese Canadians from their homes in British Columbia From 1942 to 1949 they were dispossessed sent to incarceration sites and dispersed across Canada Over 4 000 were deported to Japan Cartographies of Violence analyses the effects of these processes for some Japanese Canadian women Using critical race feminist anti colonial and cultural geographic theory Mona Oikawa deconstructs prevalent images stereotypes and language used to describe the Internment in ways that masks its inherent violence Through interviews with women survivors and their daughters Oikawa analyses recurring themes of racism and resistance as well as the struggle to communicate what happened Disturbing and provocative Cartographies of Violence explores women's memories in order to map the effects of forced displacements, incarcerations and the separations of family, friends and communities

Researching Gender Violence Tina Skinner, Marianne Hester, Ellen Malos, 2013-01-11 This text focuses on research methodology and approaches in the complex and sensitive area of violence against women and provides important insights into and critical approaches to the evidence base for policy and practice

Race and Social Analysis Caroline Knowles, 2003-12-11 This book is well researched and highly accessible. It is both a useful and much needed addition to the literature on race and social research. Ethnic and Racial Studies. The book is well laid out with glossaries of significant new terms and summaries of key points at the end of each chapter, extensive notes and a very useful bibliography. Knowles's book is a welcome contribution to our understanding and its emphasis on social analysis helps to bridge what sometimes appears to be a widening gap between the academic and policy/practitioner communities. She provides some significant insights into the interrelationships between everyday race/ethnicity making and contemporary political and theoretical understandings. Runnymede's Quarterly Bulletin. Knowles writes eloquently about how we can challenge and change racist ideas and ideas about race; this is an important and enjoyable book which would be valuable to academics or students of any discipline. Sociological Research Online. In Race and Social Analysis, Caroline Knowles combines biographical and spatial analysis to provide an up-to-date account of the ways race and ethnicity operate in a global context. The author argues that race and ethnicity is intricately woven into the social landscapes in which we live, encompassing both the mundane interactions of daily life and the ways in which the contemporary world is organized. Through social analysis, the book shows the ways in which we all contribute to race making and the forms of social inequality it produces. Drawing on the work of other authors in the field and extending it to provide some avenues into conceptualizing and researching race, Caroline Knowles examines how race and ethnicity operate in the social world: the making of race and ethnicity by the connections between people, spaces and places; the ways race and ethnicity articulate current analytical themes in social science such as space, movement and global networks; the ways in which broader structures of racial orders are apparent in everyday lives and the stories people tell about them; the ways in which places and spaces are raced and ethnicised; the ways in which race is significant in the operation of globalization and global migration; the making of whiteness. Race and Social Analysis offers a grounded theoretical examination of race/ethnicity that draws upon examples in Britain, the United States, Canada and Australia. It offers a unique take on the available literature by adding a missing British account of whiteness.

Locality and Belonging Nadia Lovell, 2003-12-16 Locality and Belonging provides an international overview of the close relationship between territory and cultural identity. The issue of belonging has long been recognized as crucial to the study of identity within anthropology. Here contributors from Sweden, Norway, the Netherlands, France and the UK present rigorous case studies of belonging from the UK, South Africa, Argentina, Zanzibar, Amazonia, Indonesia and West Africa. Among the themes explored are space, memory and ethnicity; the mnemonic use of objects; mythologies of football and

Diasporic Ruptures, 2007-01-01 Diasporic Ruptures Globality Migrancy and Expressions of Identity lies at the intersections of various processes emerging from globalization border crossings transnationalism identity formations Carefully selected and placed in two volumes the essays here represent works of both well seasoned scholars as well as emerging writers academics and intellectuals The volumes critically examine various manifestations of the trend now commonly known as globalization manifestations that many diasporic communities immigrants and people from all walks of life experience They also illuminate recent political social economic and technological developments that are taking place in a rapidly changing world Volume One offers sophisticated insights into the nature of contemporary formations of diasporic life internationalism and hybrid identities The volume asks bold questions around what it means to live in constantly shifting boundaries of nationality identity and citizenship The type of methodological discursive and experiential awareness promoted by this work helps us understand how millions of people face the challenge of living in a globalizing world it also fosters a consciousness of how globalization itself functions differently in different environments Volume Two see Volume 7 in Transgressions Cultural Studies and Education addresses additional and more nuanced questions around culture race sexuality migration displacement and resistance It also explores certain epistemological and methodological fallacies regarding conventional articulations of nation state nationalism and the local global nexus The volume seeks to answer questions such as What are the meanings and connotations of displacement in a rapidly globalizing world What are some dilemmas and challenges around notions of cultural hybridity linguistic diversity and a sense of belonging What is the meaning of home in diaspora and the meaning of diaspora at home Together the volumes raise many topics that will be of immense interest to scholars across disciplines and general readers While celebrating the increasing acknowledgment of difference and diversity in recent times this work reminds us of the ongoing ramifications of dominant structures of inequality relations of power and issues of inclusion and exclusion This work offers different ways of thinking writing and talking about globalization and the processes that emerge from it

Self, Identity, and Collective Action Francine Tremblay, 2023-08-29 Based on the work of George Herbert Mead Han Joas and Axel Honneth as well as the author's own personal and academic identities and journeys Self Identity and Collective Action argues that the self and action are strictly related Reading these authors provided Francine Tremblay with the theoretical ground to stand on while thinking about identity and how it is linked to civic participation She posits that Mead's work and its link to action must be revisited and given its rightful place in sociology and that sociology must be radical committed and passionate

Labor Movement Harald Bauder, 2006-02-23 In Labor Movement Bauder attacks the conventional view of international migration as a function of spatial economic inequalities and shows that social cultural legal and institutional processes rather than the invisible hand of the market shape migration patterns and labor market outcomes In empirical case studies from North America and Europe Bauder applies his theoretical ideas to a variety of geographical contexts The studies illustrate how different legal social and cultural strategies towards international migrants are deployed and coordinated and how this complex web of regulatory labor market processes relates to international migration Bauder also integrates social cultural and economic forms of capital and includes citizenship as a form of cultural or institutional capital for migrants a welcome and novel contribution to social scientists methods of examining immigration and labor markets Militant and Migrant Radhika Chopra,2012-03-12 This book explores the links between militancy and migration two movements that transformed the socio political landscape of late 20th century Punjab Re analysing existing writings and drawing on fieldwork and local history archives it presents a different framework to analyse the politics and social history of Punjab Constructing the Field Vered Amit,2003-12-16 Ethnographic fieldwork is traditionally seen as what distinguishes social and cultural anthropology from the other social sciences This collection responds to the intensifying scrutiny of fieldwork in recent years It challenges the idea of the necessity for the total immersion of the ethnographer in the field and for the clear separation of professional and personal areas of activity The very existence of the field as an entity separate from everyday life is questioned Fresh perspectives on contemporary fieldwork are provided by diverse case studies from across North America and Europe These contributions give a thorough appraisal of what fieldwork is and should be and an extra dimension is added through fascinating accounts of the personal experiences of anthropologists in the field Race, Ethnicity and Social Theory John Solomos,2022-07-01 Race Ethnicity and Social Theory provides a critical analysis of the main areas of scholarly research and debate about racial and ethnic relations over the past few decades The book covers substantive areas of scholarly debate in this fast changing field including race and social relations identities and the construction of the racial other feminism and race the relationship between race and nationalism antisemitism the evolution of new forms of racism race and political representation and more generally the changing debates about race and ethnicity in our global environment The book argues that there is a need for more dialogue across national and conceptual boundaries about how to develop the theoretical tools needed to understand both the historical roots of contemporary forms of racialised social and political relations and the contemporary forms through which race is made and re made A key argument that runs through the book is the need to develop conceptual frameworks that can help us to make sense of the changing forms of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary societies This means developing more dialogue across national research cultures as well as empirical research that seeks to engage with the key issues raised by contemporary theoretical debates The book will be of interest to both students wanting to develop a deeper understanding of this area of scholarship and to researchers of race ethnicity and migration working in various national and disciplinary environments
