Rice Without Rain:

Rice Without Rain Minfong Ho, 2008 Minfong Ho's Rice Without Rain Susan Elkin, 1997? Let's Hear It for the Girls Erica Bauermeister, Holly Smith, 1997-03-01 Bravo They've given adults and young girls a much needed treasure map of heroines and she roes It blazes an important path in the forest of children's literature Jim Trelease Waking Sleeping Beauty Roberta S. Trites, 1997-06-01 The Sleeping Beauty in Roberta Seelinger Trites intriguing text is no silent snoozer passively waiting for Prince Charming to energize her life Instead she wakes up all by herself and sets out to redefine the meaning of happily ever after Trites investigates the many ways that Sleeping Beauty's newfound voice has joined other strong female voices in feminist children's novels to generate equal potentials for all children Waking Sleeping Beauty explores issues of voice in a wide range of children's novels including books by Virginia Hamilton Patricia MacLachlan and Cynthia Voigt as well as many multicultural and international books Far from being a limiting genre that praises females at the expense of males the feminist children's novel seeks to communicate an inclusive vision of politics gender age race and class By revising former stereotypes of children's literature and replacing them with more complete images of females in children's books Trites encourages those involved with children's literature teachers students writers publishers critics librarian booksellers and parents to be aware of the myriad possibilities of feminist expression Roberta Trites focuses on the positive aspects of feminism on the ways females interact through family and community relationships on the ways females have revised patriarchal images and on the ways female writers use fictional constructs to transmit their ideologies to readers She thus provides a framework that allows everyone who enters a classroom with a children's book in hand to recognize and communicate with an optimistic reality based sense of happily ever after the politics and the potential of that book

Beyond the Lens of Conservation Eva Keller, 2015-02-01 The global agenda of Nature conservation has led to the creation of the Masoala National Park in Madagascar and to an exhibit in its support at a Swiss zoo the centerpiece of which is a mini rainforest replica Does such a cooperation also trigger a connection between ordinary people in these two far flung places The study investigates how the Malagasy farmers living at the edge of the park perceive the conservation enterprise and what people in Switzerland see when looking towards Madagascar through the lens of the zoo exhibit It crystallizes that the stories told in either place have almost nothing in common one focuses on power and history the other on morality and progress Thus instead of building a bridge Nature conservation widens the gap between people in the North and the South
